Application for Professional Development Funds

Policies for Professional Development funding:

1. Funds are available to:
   a. CAA Leadership (past or current) for the time, service, and dedication to the ASU Advising community
   b. Academic advisors who have proposals accepted by NACADA for regional and/or national conferences
   c. Academic advisors who want to attend a professional development opportunity, such as i. NACADA regional or national conference
      ii. NASPA regional or national conference
      iii. Webinars or workshops related to advising for the CAA community
      iv. Other organizations/conferences with professional development opportunities related to academic advising

2. If an advisor’s unit supports the full cost of the opportunity, CAA PD funds are not available to them

3. Advisor must submit an application for funding

4. If funding is approved, advisor will work with the CAA VP of Finance to dispersal

5. A small committee (3-4 individuals) comprised of CAA Steering Committee members will evaluate applications

6. Advisor receiving funds will be recognized in CAA communications and is invited to share what they learned in CAA activities, such as their campus monthly CAA meeting, to be coordinated with CAA leadership

7. If a member of CAA leadership is selected, it is expected that they will network with other professionals during the conference and promote the CAA organization

8. Funds must be used by June 15th of the award year

9. Award winners must wait two years before they can receive funding again
Arizona State University’s Council of Academic Advisors is pleased to offer to the academic advising community funding opportunities up to $250 to attend professional development events. Recipients will receive recognition from CAA and will be invited to share their professional development experience with the ASU advising community.
