

1. Overview

A. Provide a brief description of the new certificate.
 The certificate is designed to prepare students for careers in public policy in global and domestic environments whether they be in governance organizations, non governmental organizations, non profit agencies, or private enterprises engaged in policy making, implementation, and critical assessment. The requirements include applied practice in these settings and opportunities for students with global interests as well as national, state, and local ones through a variety of internships. Coursework in the social sciences, humanities, and business will prepare students to be participants in those policy processes as an avenue of civic engagement.

- B. This proposed certificate (check one):
- Is cross disciplinary; or
 - Is certified by a professional or accredited organization/governmental agency; or,
 - Clearly leads to advanced specialization in a field; or,
 - Is granted to a program that does not currently have a major.

C. Why should this be a certificate rather than a concentration or a minor?
 The proposed certificate is cross disciplinary, not restricted to Political Science or Global Studies courses as are most minors or concentrations.

D. Affiliation
 If the certificate program is affiliated with a degree program, include a brief statement of how it will complement the program. If it is not affiliated with a degree program, incorporate a statement as to how it will provide an opportunity for a student to gain knowledge or skills not already available at ASU.
 The certificate is a natural extension of the mission of the School of Politics and Global Studies which is "...to generate and diffuse knowledge that contributes to society's understanding of politics and governance, at local, national, and global levels... emphasizing research that links theory with real world issues and action through policy."

E. Demand
 Explain the need for the new certificate (e.g., market demand, interdisciplinary considerations).
 The proposed certificate contributes to Entrepreneurship at ASU, whose mission and vision states, "ASU students of all majors use entrepreneurship as a means to solve local and global challenges. ASU faculty and students identify local and global needs, articulate how to meet them and move forward with implementing entrepreneurial solutions, regardless of whether they are pursuing, for instance, business, social work, or the arts."

The certificate includes many courses across campus that complement students' interest in entrepreneurship and politics from various perspectives. The certificate would complement the studies of students in majors in such disciplines, as well as provide them with additional options for hands-on experiences related to their majors.

The proposed certificate, through the internship experiences, provides resources and avenues for some of the stated goals of Changemaker Central @ ASU to "Empower[s] students to apply their education, expertise and passion for positive social progress and life-long civic engagement. Cultivates a culture that tackles local and global challenges through collaboration, innovation and diverse approaches to problem-solving."

Career Services professionals recommend students complete a minimum of one internship, and if possible, two or three internship experiences during their academic career in order to be competitive in the job market upon graduation. The completion of this certificate should contribute to encouraging students in attaining this goal.

F. Projected enrollment
 What are enrollment projections for the first three years?

	1st Year	2nd Year (Yr. 1 continuing + new entering)	3rd Year (Yr. 1 & 2 continuing + new entering)
--	----------------------------	---	---

Number of Students (Headcount)	20	50	75
-----------------------------------	----	----	----

2. Support and Impact

A. Faculty governance

Provide a supporting letter from the chair of the academic unit verifying that the proposed certificate has received faculty approval through appropriate governance procedures in the unit and that the unit has the resources to support the certificate as presented in the proposal, without impacting core program resources.

Attached

B. Other related programs

Identify other related ASU programs and outline how the new certificate will complement these existing ASU programs. (If applicable, statements of support from potentially-affected academic unit administrators need to be included with this proposal submission.)

Because courses from the units in Part 3 C. are included in the certificate requirements, those existing programs will be complemented by the students completing the certificate. Students seeking the certificate will either be completing these courses in order to prepare themselves for an internship experience or, having completed an internship experience, they will have returned to ASU and are then completing those courses. In the first instance, students will be motivated to complete the coursework to enhance their preparation for participation in internship programs. In the latter instance, students return from internship experiences with enhanced skills and competencies that carry over into the classroom, such as advanced communication skills, experience in project/teamwork exercises, and greater awareness of the links between their classroom instruction and applied settings.

In the case of the College of Public Programs, the School of Politics and Global Studies already maintains a strong partnership; with those students regularly participating in Washington, DC-based internship programs (The ASU-McCain Institute for International Leadership Design Studio and Internship Program and the ASU Capital Scholars Summer Washington, DC Internship Program) coordinated through SPGS.

C. Letter(s) of support

Provide a supporting letter from each college/school dean from which individual courses are taken.

3. Academic Curriculum and Requirements

A. Knowledge, competencies, and skills

List the knowledge, competencies, and skills (learning outcomes) students should have when they complete this proposed certificate. Examples of program learning outcomes can be found at (<http://www.asu.edu/oue/assessment.html>).

Knowledge:

Students with a certificate in Political Entrepreneurship through Internships: Local to Global will be able to discuss local, national, and global political, economic and/or social issues.

Students with the certificate will learn and have experience networking in a local, national or global environment.

Students with the certificate will learn and have experience in public speaking.

Students with the certificate will understand and be able to analyze historical and contemporary political, economic, and social institutions at the local, national, and global levels.

Competencies:

Students with the certificate will be able to identify the links between classroom instruction and real world applications of that knowledge.

Students with the certificate will be able to identify areas in which classroom instruction prepares them for work in the private and public sectors.

Students with the certificate will be able to identify local and global political, economic, and/or social needs.

Skills:

Students with the certificate will be able to demonstrate critical thinking skills in a work environment at the local, national, or global levels.

Students with the certificate will be able to demonstrate analytical skills in a work environment at the local, national, or global levels.

Students with the certificate will be able to demonstrate communication skills in a work environment at the local, national, or global levels.

Students with the certificate will be able to work in teams to accomplish project tasks.

Students with the certificate will be able to participate in environments where networking skills are practiced.

B. Admissions criteria

List the admissions criteria for the proposed certificate. If they are identical to the admission criteria for the existing major and degree program under which this certificate will be established, please note that here.

Any student admitted to study at ASU may complete the certificate.

C. Curricular structure

Provide the curricular structure for this certificate. Be specific in listing required courses and specify the total minimum number of hours required for the certificate.

Hi Rick, the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences believes the proposed certificate submitted by the School of Politics and Global Studies titled, Political Entrepreneurship: Local to Global, is an important and interesting option for students interested in exploring a range of interdisciplinary areas. A number of schools in the social sciences have been exploring ways to engage the entrepreneurial mission of the University. This is a nice step forward.

I support the proposal.

Thanks, Pat

Hi Rick,

Thanks for forwarding this. It is helpful to see. The fact that there are many choices for any requirement in the certificate suggests that no one course would become overloaded as a result. A formal statement of support is below.

The School of Social and Behavioral Sciences welcomes the addition of the Political Entrepreneurship through Internships: Local to Global Certificate. It does not seem that it will create any undo burden on our courses and/or detract enrollment from our existing programs. Thus, we endorse the program.

On another note, one of our new faculty members (Natasha Behl) will be contacting you in the coming weeks for a statement of support for bringing over to West/SBS the course POS 358 Southeast Asia as that is here areas of expertise. We apparently do not have the course available at the moment in our course bank
