1. Name changes can only be implemented so as to be effective for a fall semester.
2. All existing and continuing students will be moved to the new name.
3. Students who complete the degree requirements prior to the fall effective date graduate under the old name.

Briefly describe the proposed change and rationale for the change:
The proposed name reflects a broadening of the degree beyond remediation of environmental challenges to include a stronger resource management emphasis. This change better enables the degree to meet market demand for broad-based professionals in the field of resource management and is a better fit with faculty expertise and philosophy. The name change better represents the mission of the Morrison School of Agribusiness and Resource Management, the degree's new home.

Discuss the impact of this change on current students and/or enrollment:
No negative impact on current students. The new name will enable better marketing, is a better fit with the Morrison School and will attract more students to the program.
