Hi Carol, Hope you are surviving the heat.

I am writing to request your approval to list yourself and Bill Simmons as Primary Faculty Participants in our newly proposed Graduate Certificate in Social Transformation. For your reference, a copy of the proposal is attached. Please send your response to myself and my Academic Success Coordinator, Amanda Smith (amanda.a.smith@asu.edu) so we can include your response in our certificate proposal. This only means that your courses will be listed as electives for the certificates.

Dear Marlene, welcome to ASU.

I am writing to request your approval to list the following individuals as Primary Faculty Participants in our newly proposed Graduate Certificate in Social Transformation. You are only agreeing that their courses can be listed as electives in our new curriculum. There will be a chance to add more people latter but the certificate goes before a committee next week. You only need to respond to this email and say you support the proposal and the listing of the faculty below. Carol sent me a similar response from her division.

For your reference, a copy of the proposal is attached. Please send your response to myself and my Academic Success Coordinator, Amanda Smith (amanda.a.smith@asu.edu) so we can include your response in our certificate proposal.

Mary,

We are supportive of your proposal and the SCRD faculty listed. You may want to include Dr. Ronda Phillips as well. She is teaching a class this semester that will likely be made permanent and seems to be a good addition to your list: NLM 598 Community and Social Innovation. You should be aware that we have approval for a graduate certificate that has quite a bit of overlap with this one on which Rhonda is the primary developer. I do not believe there will be much competition as they are different enough to attract different students.

I only need you to respond to this email saying you support your faculty member's participation. Thank you. Mary Margaret
