Briefly describe the rationale for disestablishment:

The Counseling Psychology faculty moved to the School of Letters and Sciences as part of the July 2010 reorganization disestablishing the Mary Lou Fulton Institute and Graduate School of Education. This degree was primarily a Masters in Passing for the Counselor Psychology PhD which also moved to SLS.

Impact on other existing programs: Could include availability of course content for students in other majors who may need it; other.
No impact on students in Teachers College. Faculty in Counselor Education are planning to establish an MA in their new college, which we support.

Impact on current students: Estimate number of students still enrolled; anticipated date of last graduates; arrangements for continuing students and students in articulated transfer pathways (ex. MAPP, TAG).
There is only one student in the program.

Additional information: Provide any relevant information not required above that will assist in evaluating the proposal.
