Arizona State University Criteria Checklist for SOCIAL-BEHAVIORAL SCIENCES [SB]

Rationale and Objectives

Social-behavioral sciences use distinctive scientific methods of inquiry and generate empirical knowledge about human behavior, within society and across cultural groups. Courses in this area address the challenge of understanding the diverse natures of individuals and cultural groups who live together in a complex and evolving world.

In both private and public sectors, people rely on social scientific findings to consider and assess the social consequences of both large-scale and group economic, technological, scientific, political, ecological and cultural change. Social scientists' observations about human interactions with the broader society and their unique perspectives on human events make an important contribution to civic dialogue.

Courses proposed for a General Studies designation in the Social-Behavioral Sciences area must demonstrate emphases on: (1) social scientific theories, perspectives and principles, (2) the use of social-behavioral methods to acquire knowledge about cultural or social events and processes, and (3) the impact of social scientific understanding on the world.

Revised April 2014

Course Description:

In this class you will learn what archaeologists do and how they do it. The archaeological record is the main source of information about our history. The first goal of this class is to introduce you to the ways archaeological methods and theories are applied to recover this information.

The second goal of this class is to give you an overview of human prehistory. Why did Neanderthals disappear from Europe shortly after the arrival of our species? Why, after more than two million years as hunters and gatherers, did humans begin farming and settle down in permanent villages around 10,000 years ago? When did societies become socially and economically stratified and why? Were complex civilizations such as the Sumerian city-states of the ancient Near East or the Maya civilization inevitable outcomes of a long process of human social and cultural evolution? In this class we examine these and many other questions in a survey of the human past.

Note: This class will show photographs and videos that include human remains

Learning outcomes:

By the end of this course, if you assume the responsibility of coming to class and reading the course literature, you should:

- Understand the big social, political and environmental trends that shaped the human past.
- Develop a sense of the past as the dynamic lives of people, rather than as a static catalogue of material remains.
- Develop an appreciation for the systematic, rigorous and creative endeavor that is the science of archaeology.
- Develop the tools to critically assess claims about the human past

Pre-requisites:

There are no prerequisites for ASB 222.

Required Course Texts/ Readings:

Deetz, James, In Small Things Forgotten: An Archaeology of Early American Life, Revised and Expanded Edition, Anchor.

Course Format:

This is a large lecture class graded on three midterm exams and one final exam.

Final Grades:

- Your final grade is based on your three highest scores of the four exams
- The three scores included in your final grade are weighted equally.

- The exams are not cumulative, including the final exam.
- Each exam consists of multiple choice questions and true/false questions.
- All exams are administered online on Blackboard and not in class.
- You are strongly advised to take the four exams. If you do well in the first three, and are satisfied with your total, you do not need to take the final exam.
- If you miss an exam due to serious and unexpected circumstances (illness, death in the family etc.), this will be the exam score we drop from your final grade. There are NO MAKE-UP exams available

Documentary films

Four documentary films are scheduled in this class (see schedule above). You are responsible for streaming these films online, as they will not be shown in class. To stream them, go to ASU's library website, and search for the title of the film (filtering the content type to "video recording only" to help you find the film). Once you found the film, click on the blue button that says "View online (access limited to those affiliated with ASU)".

There is no class on the day a film is scheduled

Film #1	Sep 9	Two films: 1— In Search of Fort St. Joseph: Lessons in History, Culture, and Scientific Methodology (31 min) 2— In Search of Fort St. Joseph: Service and Learning in the Community (17 min)

Each exam will contain a few questions based on one of the documentary films. On the day a film is scheduled, I will post on Blackboard a guide with questions about the film. Use these questions, and your answers to them, as a study guide for the exams.

Book In Small Things Forgotten

Each exam will contain a few questions based chapters of the book (see Exam Dates table above). I will post on Blackboard a guide with questions about the chapters assigned for each exam. Use these questions, and your answers to them, as a study guide for the exams.

Incompletes

A mark of "I" (incomplete) is given by the instructor when you have completed most of the course and are otherwise doing acceptable work but are unable to complete the course because of illness or other conditions beyond your control. You are required to arrange with the instructor for the completion of the course requirements. The arrangement must be recorded on the Request for Grade of Incomplete form (<http://students.asu.edu/forms/incomplete-grade-request>).

E-mail Policy:

Your instructor and TAs may be contacted in person or by e-mail. Because not all of us have an office telephone, telephone contact generally is problematic and strongly discouraged. All e-mails to the instructor or the teaching assistants must:

- Begin with 'Dear Dr. Perreault,' 'Dear Ms. Alonzi,' 'Dear Ms. Hoff,' 'Dear Ms. Swantek,' or 'Dear Ms. Wissler'.
- End with 'Sincerely (or other appropriate, professional closing), and your full name
- We shall not respond to e-mails lacking either or both of the above points.

When you contact us by e-mail keep in mind that there are nearly 450 of you and 4 of us! Please, do not ask us over e-mail questions that require lengthy answers. Use e-mail to arrange a meeting with us to discuss questions you may have.

Also keep in mind that instructors and teaching assistants may not respond after business hours (Monday – Friday; 8am – 5pm). Therefore, emails sent in the evening or over the weekend may not receive a response until the next day or the beginning of the workweek.

Email Communications

All email communication for this class will be done through your ASU email account. You should be in the habit of checking your ASU email regularly as you will not only receive important information about your classes, but other important university updates and information. You are solely responsible for reading and responding if necessary to any information communicated via email. For help with your email go to: http://help.asu.edu/sims/selfhelp/SelfHelpHome.seam?dept_pk=822 and file a help desk ticket by clicking on "My Help Center."

Cell-phone Policy:

Please do NOT use your cell phone in class for any reason! If you are expecting an important call alert your instructor ahead of class and sit towards the edge of the amphitheater, so you can exit the classroom easily and take your call without disturbing the class. Keep your cell phone on silent.

Grade Appeals

ASU has formal and informal channels to appeal a grade. If you wish to appeal any grading decisions, please see <http://catalog.asu.edu/appeal>.

Student Standards

Students are required to read and act in accordance with university and Arizona Board of Regents policies, including:

The ABOR Code of Conduct: Arizona Board of Regents Policies 5-301 through 5-308:
<https://students.asu.edu/srr>

Academic Integrity

All students are responsible for reviewing and following ASU's policies on academic integrity: <http://provost.asu.edu/academicintegrity>. If you fail to meet the standards of academic integrity in any of the criteria listed on the university policy website, sanctions will be imposed by the instructor, school, and/or dean. Academic dishonesty includes borrowing ideas without proper citation, copying others' work (including information posted on the internet), and failing to turn in your own work for group projects. Please be aware that if you follow an argument closely, even if it is not directly quoted, you must provide a citation to the publication, including the author, date and page number. If you directly quote a source, you must use quotation marks and provide the same sort of citation for each quoted sentence or phrase. You may work with other students on assignments, however, all writing that you turn in must be done independently. If you have any doubt about whether the form of cooperation you contemplate is acceptable, ask the TA or the instructor in advance of turning in an assignment. Please be aware that the work of all students submitted electronically can be scanned using SafeAssignment, which compares them against everything posted on the internet, online article/paper databases, newspapers and magazines, and papers submitted by other students.

Student Support and Disability Accommodations

ASU offers support services through Counseling (<http://students.asu.edu/counseling>), Student Success Centers (<http://studentsuccess.asu.edu/frontpage>) and the Disability Resource Center (<http://www.asu.edu/studentaffairs/ed/drc/>). If you are a student in need of special arrangements for we will do all we can to help, based on the recommendations of these services. For the sake of equity for all students, we cannot make any accommodations without formal guidance from these services.

Notes on Letters of Recommendation:

Please be aware that I receive many requests from students to write letters of recommendation and therefore have set down these guidelines. You should only request a letter of recommendation if you meet the following minimum criteria.

- You have taken more than one in-person (upper-division) class with me if it is a lecture, or one intensive smaller class such as a seminar, lab, or practicum class with me (note: I do not write letters for students who take online classes with me)
- Received A or A+ in a 300 or 400 level cours(es) taken with me
- Have spoken with me directly outside of class about career/academic goals

Note that if you meet these minimums it does not mean that I will agree to write you a letter. When asking for a letter of recommendation you MUST allow more than two weeks notice and provide me with the following. Everything listed here must be in one email.

- Unofficial Transcript
- Resume or CV
- Any application materials that are pertinent (e.g. personal statement/statement of purpose; answers to application questions; scholarship/job description; a paragraph stating why you are applying for X if you don't have a personal statement/answers to application questions; etc.).

- The information about to whom and where the letter should be sent (e.g. email address. If the letter needs to be sent via the US Postal Service you must provide me with a stamped and addressed envelope).
- Clearly stated deadline of when the letter is due.

If I agree to write a letter of recommendation I will only be able to summarize your academic performance in my class(es) and will not be able to speak to any factors that have not been accessed in class. Lastly, if I agree to write you a letter, you agree to the following.

- You will let me know the outcome. This is important to me as I will want to know what is happening with you and to keep track of any positive outcomes. Also, this means a lot to me (and anyone else you request letters from).
- You agree to check with me before putting my name down on any subsequent applications (do not assume you can keep putting my name down if I have only agreed to write one letter for you).

For more information about the School of Human Evolution and Social Change, including our degree programs, research opportunities and advising information, please go to:

<http://shesc.asu.edu/undergraduate/undergraduate-studies>. Our advisors are always willing to discuss career and guidance options with you.
