Arizona State University Criteria Checklist for

GLOBAL AWARENESS [G]

Rationale and Objectives

Human organizations and relationships have evolved from being family and village centered to modern global interdependence. The greatest challenge in the nuclear age is developing and maintaining a global perspective which fosters international cooperation. While the modern world is comprised of politically independent states, people must transcend nationalism and recognize the significant interdependence among peoples of the world. The exposure of students to different cultural systems provides the background of thought necessary to developing a global perspective.

Cultural learning is present in many disciplines. Exposure to perspectives on art, business, engineering, music, and the natural and social sciences that lead to an understanding of the contemporary world supports the view that intercultural interaction has become a daily necessity. The complexity of American society forces people to balance regional and national goals with global concerns. Many of the most serious problems are world issues and require solutions which exhibit mutuality and reciprocity. No longer are hunger, ecology, health care delivery, language planning, information exchanges, economic and social developments, law, technology transfer, philosophy, and the arts solely national concerns; they affect all the people of the world. Survival may be dependent on the ability to generate global solutions to some of the most pressing problems.

The word university, from universitas, implies that knowledge comes from many sources and is not restricted to local, regional, or national perspectives. The Global Awareness Area recognizes the need for an understanding of the values, elements, and social processes of cultures other than the culture of the United States. Learning which recognizes the nature of others cultures and the relationship of America’s cultural system to generic human goals and welfare will help create the multicultural and global perspective necessary for effective interaction in the human community.

Courses which meet the requirement in global awareness are of one or more of the following types: (1) in-depth area studies which are concerned with an examination of culture-specific elements of a region of the world, country, or culture group, (2) the study of contemporary non-English language courses that have a significant cultural component, (3) comparative cultural studies with an emphasis on non-U.S. areas, and (4) in-depth studies of non-U.S. centered cultural interrelationships of global scope such as the global interdependence produced by problems of world ecology, multinational corporations, migration, and the threat of nuclear war.

Description and Objectives

This course is the third of the Spanish as a Heritage Language Program: SPAN 203, 204, 315 and 316. This course takes as a foundation the linguistic abilities and cultural connections that you already possess, and seeks to expand them in a dynamic cultural context. You will critically reflect on the culture, history, and literature of Hispanics in the United States. Additionally, this course will offer you practice with oral and written academic Spanish, all while developing critical thinking skills. The principal objective of this class is that you develop and value your bilingualism in order to use Spanish with confidence not only at home, but also in professional and academic settings. Our specific goals are:

1. Expand the academic and professional Spanish register
2. Develop writing skills in different genres and the capacity of self editing and correction
3. Perfect spelling and orthography (including the use of the accent marks)
4. Develop the oral expression in different contexts
5. Comprehend how the language structure functions
6. Broaden vocabulary
7. Comprehend and analyze literary texts
8. Come to know and appreciate different aspects of bilingualism
9. Comprehend the sociopolitical situation that surrounds the use and prestige of certain languages in society
10. Explore the history, literature, and culture of Hispanics in the United States and Latin America

As part of the philosophy of this course, there will be an appreciation of the diversity in Hispanic cultures and their corresponding dialect. There will be a conscientization of the dialectical differences of Spanish and the political, social, and economic backgrounds of the use of each variety or register. Our goal is that you develop the dialectical flexibility so that you may manage the varieties and/or registers of the language according to the context and your own election.

Grades: The +/- system will be used, according to the following scale:

A+  97-100    A  93-96    A-  90-92
There are no grades such as C-, D+ or D-.

A. PARTICIPATION (10%):
It is expected of the student active participation in the process of their learning. Their participation grade will be based on, among other factors, in 1) preparation for class, 2) the use of Spanish, 3) the cooperation of group work in class, 4) punctuality and 5) assistance to class.

Class assistance is required because it influences the academic progress of the student. Only two absences without excuse are permitted. Two tardies will be considered an absence. After the two permitted absences, any other unexcused absence will affect adversely the progress of the student in the class and their participation grade. One percentage point (1%) will be taken away for each additional unexcused absence after the two permitted absences.

The student’s participation in the oral and writing activities in class is of fundamental importance. This grade will be calculated based on the willingness to participate, as well as the frequency and quality of the participation of the student.

The addressing of sexual, religious, political, and violent topics in the compositions and presentations should always be of academic nature, and never propaganda, autobiographic or sarcastic. During this course, there will be many opportunities to express opinions about controversial topics, and it is requested that there be an respectful and tolerant attitude toward the opinions of your fellow students.

If you have any questions regarding the participation in class (or any other grade), it should be directed to your instructor during his/her office hours. Do not hesitate to ask for help from your instructor when you need it.

If you are absent from class, it is your responsibility to find out what was covered that day and what is the homework for the next class. It is important to exchange telephone and email information with two or three fellow students to be able to inquire about these things. Those days you will receive a 0 for your participation grade, but you may speak with your instructor about the possible ways to receive credit.

OBLIGATIONS OF THE STUDENT
- Read the assigned material, and do all the homework before class.
- Actively participate in the conversation of the class.
- Actively collaborate and contribute information voluntarily.

Important:
  a) Cellphone use is not permitted in class.
  b) Do not arrive late to class.
  c) Late assignments, compositions and homework will not be accepted late. No exceptions.
  d) Arrive to class prepared (with books, notebooks, pencils, pens, homework ready and prepared to participated). Read the assigned material as homework to arrive prepared for class.

B. PRESENTATIONS (10%):
One of the most common communicative situations in our society is public speaking. Because of this, there are two presentations. Presentation I will be about your Hispanic roots: your family origins, native cities, and the history of your family customs and traditions. It will be approximately 3 minutes and you should include a visual component. For the Final Presentation, there are two options: 1) an individual oral presentation or 2) a theatrical group presentation. The individual presentation should be 7 minutes, and following a 3 minute discussion. It will take place the end of the course and will be about one of the written assignments (compositions), or another cultural topic related to the course. Such presentation will implicate a deeper investigation of the topic, with the use of reliable authentic sources: television, radio, Internet, and newspapers in Spanish. It is recommended that the student utilize audio-visual aids during his/her presentation, as well as share an outline with classmates about the presentation. The students that choose to do a theatrical presentation as a group cannot have more than 3 persons in the group, and the play should be approximately 15-20 minutes long. There should also be equal amount of participation by all students in the group. Students should write a script, utilize props: these should all be approved by the instructor beforehand. Preparation, organization, cooperation, and the use of Spanish will be evaluated.

Please see the Evaluation of Oral Presentation sheets for more details.

C. HOMEWORK AND COMMUNITY PROJECTS (20%)
The homework will be collected when the instructor deems convenient. Every homework is worth 10 points. The instructor will give 5 points for the completion of the homework, and 5 points for the content and structural and grammatical elements. An average of these grades will be given. There will be 3 types of homework:
  1) Exercises to practice the topics seen in class
  2) Homework to prepare for the activities of class (searches on the internet, reading, etc.)
  3) Homework to apply and examine the topics seen in class or in your community

There will be three community projects, whose objectives are to connect students to the Hispanic community, applying what they have learned in class. The topics will be: 1) the linguistic varieies; 2) the transmission of Spanish in Hispanic families in southern Arizona; y 3) service learning.
D. QUIZZES (5%)
There will be quizzes or pop quizzes during the course that will measure the preparedness to class and your academic progress in the concepts seen in class.

E. THE PORTFOLIO (35%)

1. The blogs:
(minimum 150 words—maximum 300): You will prepare 8 entries to the blog in “discussions” throughout the semester. The diary is a means to improve your writing and orthography, while reflecting about different topics. You will also leave comments about the entries of your classmates as homework.

2. The composition:
There will be two compositions, one short (10%) and one long (15%). The compositions will have three versions and each one will receive feedback from your instructor and your classmates.

All the compositions should be written in a word processor (MW), with 12 font, double space, 1” margins and stapled. Hand-written compositions will not be accepted. The compositions should contain the following information on the first page:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Student Name:</th>
<th>Turn in date:</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SPA 315 – (time of class)</td>
<td>Composition (no. 1, 2)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Version (no. 1, 2, final)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

| Título: |

See rubric for the composition in Bb for more information.

The format utilized for the compositions will be given to you in class.

2. The reflections:
At the beginning, middle and end of the semester, you will write a 300 to 500 word reflection in which you will examine your challenges, achievements, and goals in Spanish class, your spoken Spanish, and written Spanish in general. For the last reflection you should have in mind the changes that you notice between the first and second diagnostic test.

3. Portfolio presentation:
This is a compilation of all the versions of your compositions, the projects and the reflections that were written throughout the semester. You will turn this in the last week of class.

F. EXAMS (MIDTERM 8% y FINAL 12%)
Throughout the semester there will be two written exams, one in the middle of the semester and another at the end. These exams will evaluate your ability to express yourself in written form, as well as assess the concepts you have learned in the course.

There will not be any make-up exams for either of the two exams. If any student cannot attend class for the exam, he/she should bring to the instructor a legitimate written excuse (such as a note from a physician).

The final exam will take place...

IMPORTANT: IT WILL NOT BE PERMITTED TO TAKE THE EXAM BEFORE THE CORRESPONDING DATE.
Students should know the date of the final exam and the midterm exam before making plans for their trips. The date of the final exam can be found in the following page: http://students.asu.edu/final-exam-schedule#spring. The date of the final exam will not be changed under any circumstances.

SPECIAL NEEDS
If you have a physical or psychiatric impediment, or a specific problem in learning that requires special aid, please communicate this information to your instructor at the beginning of the semester to ensure your needs are met. To guarantee the accommodation you need, you will need to turn in the necessary documentation that is offered by Disability Resources located in Mathews Center.
