GENERAL STUDIES COURSE PROPOSAL COVER FORM

Course information:
Copy and paste current course information from Class Search/Course Catalog.

Academic Unit: Engineering  Department: SEBE

Subject: CON  Number: 457  Title: Leadership Principles  Units: 3

Is this a cross-listed course?  (Choose one)  NO

Is this a shared course?  (Choose one)  If so, list all academic units offering this course  N/A

Requested designation: (Choose One)  LiT

Note: a separate proposal is required for each designation requested

Eligibility:
Permanent numbered courses must have completed the university's review and approval process.
For the rules governing approval of omnibus courses, contact the General Studies Program Office at (480) 965-0739.

Area(s) proposed course will serve:
A single course may be proposed for more than one core or awareness area. A course may satisfy a core area requirement and more than one awareness area requirements concurrently, but may not satisfy requirements in two core areas simultaneously, even if approved for those areas. With departmental consent, an approved General Studies course may be counted toward both the General Studies requirement and the major program of study.

Checklists for general studies designations:
Complete and attach the appropriate checklist
- Literacy and Critical Inquiry core courses (L)
- Mathematics core courses (MA)
- Computer/statistics/quantitative applications core courses (CS)
- Humanities, Fine Arts and Design core courses (HU)
- Social and Behavioral Sciences core courses (SB)
- Natural Sciences core courses (NS/SC)
- Global Awareness courses (G)
- Historical Awareness courses (H)
- Cultural Diversity in the United States courses (C)

A complete proposal should include:
- Signed General Studies Program Course Proposal Cover Form
- Criteria Checklist for the area
- Course Syllabus
- Table of Contents from the textbook, and/or lists of course materials

Arizona State University Criteria Checklist for

LITERACY AND CRITICAL INQUIRY - [L]

Rationale and Objectives

Literacy is here defined broadly as communicative competence in written and oral discourse. Critical inquiry involves the gathering, interpretation, and evaluation of evidence. Any field of university study may require unique critical skills which have little to do with language in the usual sense (words), but the analysis of spoken and written evidence pervades university study and everyday life. Thus, the General Studies requirements assume that all undergraduates should develop the ability to reason critically and communicate using the medium of language.

The requirement in Literacy and Critical Inquiry presumes, first, that training in literacy and critical inquiry must be sustained beyond traditional First Year English in order to create a habitual skill in every student; and, second, that the skills become more expert, as well as more secure, as the student learns challenging subject matter. Thus, the Literacy and Critical Inquiry requirement stipulates two courses beyond First Year English.

Most lower-level [L] courses are devoted primarily to the further development of critical skills in reading, writing, listening, speaking, or analysis of discourse. Upper-division [L] courses generally are courses in a particular discipline into which writing and critical thinking have been fully integrated as means of learning the content and, in most cases, demonstrating that it has been learned.

Students must complete six credit hours from courses designated as [L], at least three credit hours of which must be chosen from approved upper-division courses, preferably in their major. Students must have completed ENG 101, 107, or 105 to take an [L] course.

Notes:

1. ENG 101, 107 or ENG 105 must be prerequisites
2. Honors theses, XXX 493 meet [L] requirements
3. The list of criteria that must be satisfied for designation as a Literacy and Critical Inquiry [L] course is presented on the following page. This list will help you determine whether the current version of your course meets all of these requirements. If you decide to apply, please attach a current syllabus, or handouts, or other documentation that will provide sufficient information for the General Studies Council to make an informed decision regarding the status of your proposal.
Proposer: Please complete the following section and attach appropriate documentation.

ASU - [L] CRITERIA

TO QUALIFY FOR [L] DESIGNATION, THE COURSE DESIGN MUST PLACE A MAJOR EMPHASIS ON COMPLETING CRITICAL DISCOURSE--AS EVIDENCED BY THE FOLLOWING CRITERIA:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>YES</th>
<th>NO</th>
<th>Identify Documentation Submitted</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

CRITERION 1: At least 50 percent of the grade in the course should depend upon writing, including prepared essays, speeches, or in-class essay examinations. Group projects are acceptable only if each student gathers, interprets, and evaluates evidence, and prepares a summary report.

1. Please describe the assignments that are considered in the computation of course grades--and indicate the proportion of the final grade that is determined by each assignment.

2. Also:

   Please circle, underline, or otherwise mark the information presented in the most recent course syllabus (or other material you have submitted) that verifies this description of the grading process--and label this information "C-1".

CRITERION 2: The composition tasks involve the gathering, interpretation, and evaluation of evidence

1. Please describe the way(s) in which this criterion is addressed in the course design.

2. Also:

   Please circle, underline, or otherwise mark the information presented in the most recent course syllabus (or other material you have submitted) that verifies this description of the grading process--and label this information "C-2".

CRITERION 3: The syllabus should include a minimum of two substantial writing or speaking tasks, other than or in addition to in-class essay exams

1. Please provide relatively detailed descriptions of two or more substantial writing or speaking tasks that are included in the course requirements.

2. Also:

   Please circle, underline, or otherwise mark the information presented in the most recent course syllabus (or other material you have submitted) that verifies this description of the grading process--and label this information "C-3".

INSTRUCTOR BIO:

Dr. Wiezel (pronounced like an Easel with a V in front - VEasel) joined the Del E. Webb School of Construction in 1995. He served as Director of Graduate Studies between 2006 and 2012 and as Chairman of the Del E. Webb School of Construction in 2010-2012. Under his leadership, the DEWSC started a complete online offering of the MS in construction degree and a PhD in construction (in-class). He also served as the President of the Educational Activities Committee of the American Society of Civil Engineers (ASCE) and the President of the Fulton School of Engineering Faculty Senate.

Prior to becoming a professor, Dr. Wiezel held several managerial positions with construction and engineering firms in Europe and the Middle East, culminating with the position of Senior VP for planning, scheduling and control in a 5,000 employee EPC company. His activities resulted in continuous productivity improvements averaging 15% per year for the units in which he was in charge.

Dr. Wiezel taught in four languages on three continents (Asia, Europe, and America) to students of all levels, ranging from bricklayer apprentices to doctoral students and senior executives of large construction companies. He constantly ranks among the top 5% of best teachers in the Ira A. Fulton School of Engineering at ASU and is the recipient of the Outstanding Faculty Member Award. His research centers on modeling the human skill, with particular focus on learning, construction processes, and project leadership.

   Senior Standing
4. CATALOG DESCRIPTION
This course is designed to educate the students about individual, organizational, and process/structure leadership. It covers a four step leadership transformational model:

1. Introduction
   a. Definitions of Leadership
   b. Models of Leadership

2. Leading Self
   a. Knowing yourself (Inward looking)
   b. Interactions with others (peers and bosses)

3. Leading Others
   a. Leadership Tools
   b. Application of leadership tools

4. Leading Leaders
   a. Models of organizational leadership
   b. Application of Corporate Level Leadership

The unofficial description: Intelligence (as measured by IQ or by academic scores), correlates with the success of individuals at a rate of only 25%. Some people interpreted this fact as meaning that 75% of the people with lower IQ than yours will outperform you! We know that the key to success is having other people help you be successful. How do you achieve that? Through leadership!

5. COURSE OBJECTIVES
No one becomes a leader simply by taking one course, it takes knowledge and years of practice. What I do expect is that you complete this course with a basic understanding of the fundamentals of leadership. At the conclusion of this course the student is expected to:

- Understand Self
- Know leadership skills, traits, and theories
- Understand how to implement leadership
- Appreciate how to develop others
- Develop a personalized leadership and management philosophy

Areas of Focus:
- Principles of leadership as distinctive from management.
- Understanding of individual/professional personality and its application to leadership.
- Team Building and organizational dynamics as related to construction operations.
- Development of a “personal leadership style” for application upon graduation.
- Development of communication skills with oral presentations and writing projects.
- Role of professionalism and ethics in relation to construction leadership.

6. CALENDAR
Important dates – Fall 2012

01/08 (Tue)  First day of the Leadership Class – Recorded Lecture
03/12 (Tue)  Spring Break - No class
03/14 (Thu)  Spring Break - No class

CON 495/598 – Leadership Principles
04/25 and 04/30 Classes are rescheduled to form a 3 hours block for the SEMAC exercise.
05/02 (Th)  Culminating Experience (in lieu of Final Exam) 2:30 - 4:20 PM

7. TEXTBOOKS AND REFERENCES
   a. Emotional Intelligence 2.0 by Travis Bradberry and Jean Greaves. Note: Make sure you buy the book new – it contains a unique code for taking the Emotional Intelligence Appraisal. For the Kindle version you will be emailed the code.
   b. StrengthsFinder 2.0 by Tom Rath. Note: Make sure you buy the book new – it contains a unique code for taking the Emotional Intelligence Appraisal. For the Kindle version you will be emailed the code.
   c. Each student will select a different leadership textbook, read and report on it. A hyperlink to the sign-up list is published in the Assignments area on BlackBoard. Written report listing the most significant wisdoms found in your a. leadership book is required. See section 9 Assignments and Course Requirements in this syllabus for further details.
   d. Students are encouraged to purchase “The DNA of Leadership” by William Badger from the ASU bookstore. This will allow the students who miss an assignment or class the opportunity to read the corresponding chapter and prepare a one-page point-paper reviewing the chapter.

8. ELECTRONIC RESOURCES

The results of a number of self-evaluation tests are used in this class. Two of the test (Emotional Intelligence and the Strengthfinder) are only available with the purchase of the appropriate book (see Textbooks). Additional sites for free self-evaluation tests will be pointed out during the semester.

Class Power Point Presentations will be posted on BlackBoard under the Course Information tab.

Course Web Page: https://myasucourses.asu.edu (login with ASURITE ID and password). Please note that your access to the material on blackboard is guaranteed only for the duration of the current semester. While you may have access to the material as long as you are an ASU student, ASU is often updating the versions of BlackBoard and prior versions are usually taken off line.

9. ASSIGNMENTS AND COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Please see exact schedule of assignments and their due dates below.

Homework assignments will be given periodically as supported by the lecture.

- The homework should be submitted at least one minute prior to the start of the lecture on the due day.

- No late homework will be accepted.

- Independent work is expected on all individual assignments, although students are allowed and encouraged to discuss their ideas with other people, once underway, the homework should be original.

Grading will in part be based on the professional standards of the work presented (neatness, completeness, organization, references, etc.) as well as on the content of the submission.
TYPES OF ASSIGNMENTS

- Point papers and/or in-class/homework assignments will be given in class each week this will consist of readings, activities, etc.

- Graduate Student Research Assignment 1 - Development of a leadership implementation tool based on previous research. More details will be given during individual discussions with Dr. Wiezel and members of his research team.

- Leadership book written report
  A hyperlink to the Book List is posted on Black Board under the Assignments tab. Each student will be responsible for selecting a unique book from the list (additional suggestions can be considered), reading it and submitting a five (5) page report on it. The report should be meant for executives and produced at the highest professional level. The report will contain at least one visual representation of the leadership model presented in the book and the ten most significant wisdoms found in the selected leadership book. The list of wisdoms should contain two categories of wisdom: intuitive wisdoms and counterintuitive wisdoms. The sum total of the wisdoms in the two categories will be 10. On the cover page of the report the student will also present the grading of the book (on a scale from 1 to 5) on the following four categories: 1. Book's Intellectual Value, 2. Book's Scientific Rigor, 3. Book's Value for Leadership, 4. Readability (i.e. how easy it is to read).

- Leadership book 5 minutes presentation (starting Apr. 16)
  Each student will be presenting the lessons learned from the selected leadership book. Selected executives will be invited to attend these presentations.

- Final paper on “My Personal Leadership Philosophy” (due date: May. 1)
  This term paper, the most significant part of your final grade, expresses your personal leadership philosophy – it is a paper that you may show your future bosses, as well as your parents. This assignment is a executive level term paper that is formally edited (check your spelling and grammar!), professionally presented, and should be 8 pages long (double-spaced).

- Graduate Student Research Assignment 2 (graduate students only) - This is a professional research paper in an aspect of leadership of your choice. Students are expected to select the topic and meet or communicate regularly with Dr. Wiezel regarding their research.

- Culminating Experience (in lieu of Final Exam) At the end of the semester you will be participating in a panel discussion about how you plan to apply the leadership principles you learned.

EXTRA CREDIT

No extra credit problems will be assigned in this class but extra credit can be earned. Please contact the instructor if you feel you can make a contribution worth of extra credit.

HONORS CREDITS

Honors credit can be earned by completing the class at graduate level.

Graduate students have two additional assignments: development of a research implementation tool and a graduate research paper (see schedule below).

10. ASSIGNMENT CHANGES
The instructor reserves the right to change the listed assignments. Students will be given at least a one week notice and a revised syllabus if the listing of course assignments changes.

13. ETHICS

Each student has an obligation to act with honesty and integrity, and to respect the rights of others in carrying out all academic assignments. You are responsible to learn how the Student Academic Integrity Policy (http://provost.asu.edu/academicintegrity) applies to you personally and to this course in particular. Violations of the University Academic Integrity policy will not be ignored. Penalties include reduced or no credit for submitted work, a failing grade in the class, a note on your official transcript that shows you were punished for cheating, suspension, expulsion and revocation of already awarded degrees. The university requires that should I implement any of these penalties, I must report the matter to the Dean's office. Now, in terms of defining specific examples of cheating, the university policy is very simple. Everything is forbidden until the instructor authorizes it. Cheating is doing something that affects an academic evaluation without the instructor's authorization. We will discuss in class what is authorized and that if you want to do anything else, you need to ask me first.

14. COURSE STANDARDS
1. Prior to the start of class, please turn your cell phones and/ or pagers off, or to silent mode, to avoid unnecessary classroom disruptions. Cell phones usage in class is not allowed out of respect to other students. This includes earpieces or earbuds / headphones.

2. There will be no food or drink consumed. Unless mandated by religious practices, no hats will be worn in classroom.

3. Computer use during the lectures is DIScouraged. The reason behind this standard will become clear during the class.

4. Arizona State University maintains the highest standard for academic honesty and trusts that each student will perform ethically and professionally when preparing required work for this course. Each assignment must represent the student's collective original work, even for work designated as group work. Although ASU encourages collaboration between students, and faculty, in the sharing of ideas and experiences, individual work needs to represent the student's original thought and be distinguishably different from other students work. While discussions between students are encouraged, cheating will not be tolerated. Any student found cheating on an exam, a quiz, or assignment may be given a failing grade for the course and flagrant violations can result in additional consequences. You are cheating if you represent someone else's work as your own or if someone else represents your work as theirs. All graded work (exams, homework assignments, as well as any written exercises or quizzes) in this class must represent your own individual work only. Students may discuss the conceptual aspects of an assignment, but students must turn in their own, independently developed solutions. Grading will include comparing the structure and content of your solution with that of other students. By registration in this class, you are assumed to have read, understand and agreed to this policy, as well as to the procedures conveyed at the web sites below.

   ABOR Student Code of Conduct and Student Disciplinary Procedures
   http://students.asu.edu/srr/code

   ASU Academic Integrity Policy:
   http://provost.asu.edu/academicintegrity

15. CLASS PARTICIPATION

The class is based on lectures, interaction with other students in class, individual homework and one team project for graduate students.

No attendance will be taken, but in-class assignments not submitted by the absent students will be graded with zero. Should it be necessary for the student to miss a class, he/she is fully responsible for the lesson assignment and any supplemental material that may have been issued or graded material assigned that day. The instructor reserves the right to adjust the schedule during the semester and will issue revised schedules as appropriate.

16. ASSIGNMENT POLICY

See assignments and course requirements above. No late submissions will be accepted.
The instructor reserves the right to change the listed assignments. Each student should review the syllabus and discuss with the instructor questions that need to be clarified. It is important that the student's have a clear understanding of the course requirements. Adjustments may be made during the semester. I want the students to continue to develop this course and make it world-class. Notices involving assignments, grades, changes to schedule, etc. will be entered on Blackboard throughout the semester.

17. MAKE-UP POLICY

Prior notice, when possible, will be given to the instructor when a class will be missed. Only under the most extreme circumstances, supported by written documentation, will a make-up assignment be given. The final decision rests with the instructor. When a class is missed, it is the student's responsibility to obtain notes and assignments from fellow classmates. If you miss a class due to university-sanctioned activities please refer to ACD 304–02 at (http://www.asu.edu/aad/manuals/acd/acd304-02.html).

18. ATTENDANCE & QUIZZES

Punctuality, class attendance, participation and preparation are explicit reflections of your interest in the course.

19. ACCOMMODATION

Reasonable accommodations are made on an individualized basis. It is the responsibility of persons with disabilities, however, to seek available assistance and make their needs known. The University has designated the Disability Resource Center as the campus coordinating office for the provision and delivery of services and reasonable accommodations that ensure the University's programs, services, and activities are accessible to students with disabilities. The Disability Resource Center is available to assist any student who has a qualified and documented disability. Please contact the Disability Resource Center at 480-965-1234 (Voice) 480-965-9000 (TTY) for additional information.

20. DETAILED CLASS SCHEDULE

The instructor reserves the right to adjust the schedule during the semester and will issue revised schedules as appropriate. Changes will be announced in due time through the BlackBoard system.

CON 457 - Personal Leadership Philosophy Paper

The Personal Leadership Philosophy Paper is meant to serve as a guideline for you and for your future direct reports. As such, each reference to any action should be in the form of first person active verb. For instance rather than “If you watch a person’s non-verbal cues you can tell how they honestly feel about what you are saying” or “A leader watches a person’s non-verbal cues so she can tell how they honestly feel about what they are saying”, use “I watch a person’s non-verbal cues so I can tell how they honestly feel about what I say.”

All papers MUST be TYPED and e-mailed as an MS Word Document Attachment to leadership@asu.edu. The subject of the email shall be: “<Your Alias Here>’s Leadership Philosophy” Replace the <Your Alias Here> with the name you would like me to remember you by.

Grading Rubric

Format (10 points)
1. 1 inch page margins
2. 12 point standard Times New Roman font
3. Double-Spaced
4. 4 to 5 pages
5. Personal letterhead
6. Professional looking

Structure (10 points)
1. Title (My leadership Philosophy)
2. Author (you)
3. Date (Your philosophy may change in the future – good to have the date on it).
4. Personal motto (A few words that describe you as a leader. If it is a quote from somebody else note the author. Dr. Wiezel’s motto: “Only do what only you can do” is a chiasmus. Your motto doesn’t have to be a chiasmus, but it should reflect your aspirational behavior.)
5. Abstract (100 words max) – This is your elevator speech. It takes about 1 minute to recite and it answers the question: what kind of a leader are you? It world normally stat with a list of your fundamental values and continues describing your behavior as a leader.
6. Background - A couple of paragraphs about your history – how did you become who you are. This part would serve as the response to the interview question “tell me about yourself”
7. Definition of leadership – Your definition of leadership with a short explanation.
8. Core Values – present a list of your values and explain why they are ranked the way they are.
9. Leadership style – for each subsection define your position / style and explain how your position is consistent with your core values.

9.1. Behavior
9.2. Humor
9.3. Time Management
9.4. Communication
9.5. Leadership vs. Management
9.6. Motivation (self and others)

10. Conclusion – A motivational paragraph about how you think this philosophy of yours will help you be an effective leader.

11. References – Optional – If you use any quotes provide the reference in this section.

12. Active first person voice. A total of 20 points may be deducted for passive third person tone (see paragraph 1)

Points per section (total 80 points)

Rubric for Book Report

CON 457 Principles of Leadership

Each student will be responsible for selecting a unique book from the list of leadership books (additional suggestions can be considered), reading it and submitting a max. five (5) page report on it. The report should be meant for executives and produced at the highest professional level. The report will contain at least one visual representation of the total leadership model or a mind map of the knowledge presented in the book and developed by the reviewer, and the ten most significant leadership wisdoms found in the selected leadership book. The list of wisdoms should contain two categories of wisdom: intuitive wisdoms and counterintuitive wisdoms. The sum total of the wisdoms in the two categories will be 10. Each of the wisdoms should be cross-referenced with other publications (articles, books). I recommend reading at least one article (or at least blog posing) that criticizes the book.

On the cover page of the report the student will also present the grading of the book (on a scale from 1 to 5) on the following four categories: 1. Book's Intellectual Value, 2. Book's Scientific Rigor, 3. Book's Value for Leadership, 4. Readability (i.e. how easy it is to read). The rankings (from 1 to 5, 5 being the highest) will be entered in the list of books as well.

The report should start with a synopsis and a short review of the credentials of the author. The information flow should be from general to specific.

Keep in mind that this is a highly professional document intended to be read by the CEO of the bst company you want to ever work for. You want to impress!

Note that the requirements change from semester to semester. This semester I added the total leadership model or mind map, as well as the requirement for a synopsis, information flow and references to critical review, so most probably you will not see models in the previous book reports. Browse through the reports so you learn from the thinking of previous generations students of leadership.

Make sure the list is saved after you added your choice.
