Arizona State University Criteria Checklist for

HUMANITIES, FINE ARTS AND DESIGN [HU]

Rationale and Objectives

The humanities disciplines are concerned with questions of human existence and meaning, the nature of thinking and knowing, with moral and aesthetic experience. The humanities develop values of all kinds by making the human mind more supple, critical, and expansive. They are concerned with the study of the textual and artistic traditions of diverse cultures, including traditions in literature, philosophy, religion, ethics, history, and aesthetics. In sum, these disciplines explore the range of human thought and its application to the past and present human environment. They deepen awareness of the diversity of the human heritage and its traditions and histories and they may also promote the application of this knowledge to contemporary societies.

The study of the arts and design, like the humanities, deepens the student’s awareness of the diversity of human societies and cultures. The fine arts have as their primary purpose the creation and study of objects, installations, performances and other means of expressing or conveying aesthetic concepts and ideas. Design study concerns itself with material objects, images and spaces, their historical development, and their significance in society and culture. Disciplines in the fine arts and design employ modes of thought and communication that are often nonverbal, which means that courses in these areas tend to focus on objects, images, and structures and/or on the practical techniques and historical development of artistic and design traditions. The past and present accomplishments of artists and designers help form the student’s ability to perceive aesthetic qualities of art work and design.

The Humanities, Fine Arts and Design are an important part of the General Studies Program, for they provide an opportunity for students to study intellectual and imaginative traditions and to observe and/or learn the production of art work and design. The knowledge acquired in courses fulfilling the Humanities, Fine Arts and Design requirement may encourage students to investigate their own personal philosophies or beliefs and to understand better their own social experience. In sum, the Humanities, Fine Arts and Design core area enables students to broaden and deepen their consideration of the variety of human experience.

Catalog Description
The focus of this class is selecting and using children’s literature and related non-print media to support the elementary school curriculum. During our time together, you will become familiar with the elements, genres and applications of children’s literature as well as the resources available for elementary classroom teachers. Together we will construct criteria for the selection of trade books for educational and personal use.

Course Format
This class will be conducted in an interactive and varied format whereby class members are required to 1) read, enjoy, ponder, analyze and discuss a wide variety of children’s books. The course format will be a combination of lecture, small and whole-group class discussions of assigned readings, student presentations, out of class learning experiences (LEXPs) and reflective writings. This course requires the use of digital and print sources to access course content. Participants should be prepared to 1) discuss the topic and readings for each week, 2) consider the focusing question for each week, and 3) work collaboratively with other class members. Please plan for 5-6 hours of weekly reading and studying outside of our class meeting times.

Required Course Texts, Materials, and Resources:
- Professional Readings available on Blackboard
- Assigned Picturebooks and Novels from libraries or bookstores (See Booklist)

Students will be expected to deepen their awareness of the role that children’s literature plays in the social and cultural context in America society.

Course/Instructor Evaluation
The course/instructor evaluation for this course will be conducted online 7-10 days before the last official day of classes of each semester or summer session. Response(s) to the course/instructor are anonymous and will not be returned to your instructor until after grades have been submitted. The use of a course/instructor evaluation is an important process that allows our college to (1) help faculty improve their instruction, (2) help administrators evaluate instructional quality, (3) ensure high standards of teaching, and (4) ultimately improve instruction and student learning over time. Completion of the evaluation is not required for you to pass this class and will not affect your grade, but your cooperation and participation in this process is critical. About two weeks before the class finishes, watch for an e-mail with "ASU Course/Instructor Evaluation" in the subject heading. The email will be sent to your official ASU e-mail address, so make sure ASU has your current email address on file. You can check this online at the following URL: http://www.asu.edu/epoupdate/.

Professionalism & Participation
Class attendance is mandatory. Attending class on time, participating, and completing all of the course-required readings are expected of each student. Arriving late and leaving early is disruptive to the learning of others. Given the nature of this class, learning by borrowing a colleague’s notes will be virtually impossible and ineffective. While participation styles vary, preparation and active participation are essential to the learning process. Full participation will require a careful reading of the text(s) for group discussions, completing the assigned reflections or learning experiences, and participating in the discussions or class activities.

10 Points will be deducted from final grade for any unexcused absences beyond student’s first absence.

Late and Missing Assignments
All written assignments must be submitted on the due date indicated. If you submit an assignment via email, do not assume I have received it unless you receive a reply. All assignments need to be typed using a 12 point font (Times New Roman or Helvetica). Papers should be spaced appropriately and carefully edited for spelling and grammar.

In-Class Assignments cannot be made up. You can’t make up for a discussion that you missed in class.

The Fine Print
- The instructor will respond to student assignments in most cases by the time the class meets again. Any assignments submitted via email need to be acknowledged by the instructor in return email. I try to respond to all emails in 24 hours.
- This is a comprehensive, hands-on course that requires considerable outside preparation and commitment of behalf of the learner. If you find yourself unable to complete the course requirements on time, you are highly encouraged to review the withdrawal policy with subsequent dates in the ASU course catalog and schedule.
- Incomplete grades are rarely given in this course and only in cases of extreme circumstances. Becoming “overloaded” or “overwhelmed” does not constitute an emergency. You will need to keep me informed if you are experiencing difficulty in meeting the given deadlines.

Cell Phone Policy Please turn cell phones off upon entering the classroom and leave them off until the class is completed. Using a cell phone or text messaging during class is the ultimate demonstration of disrespect for your instructor and fellow classmates.

Lap Top Use Policy Laptops may be useful for certain assignments or for note-taking during various aspects of the course. They can also be a distraction for students and the instructor. If the use of one’s laptop ventures past the focus of the class, students will be directed to shut them down.

Course Assignments

1. Picturebook Readings & Analysis (8 @ 5 pts = 40 Pts)
The purpose of this assignment is for students to demonstrate their comprehension and interpretation/analysis of pieces of children’s literature using the criteria of analysis provided in class and in the readings. You will self-select 45 books over the course of the semester to read and analyze. Sign up for a Goodreads Account the first night of class. Each week you will write a short analysis about each of the (3) self-selected picturebooks you have read from the booklists provided. An example of an acceptable analysis will be provided. Each week reviews and analyses focusing on the 3 picturebooks need to be posted before class by: Tuesday at 7:00 AM.

2. Literature Study Groups (5 @ 10 Points = 50 Points)
The purpose of the literature study groups is for students to deepen their understanding of literature through collaborative analysis of pieces of children’s literature. Students will participate in five (5) in class literature study groups. Students will need to read the selected books BEFORE the scheduled class. These books may be purchased or checked out from a library. Be prepared to extensively discuss these books during the scheduled class. For each book, follow the response guidelines listed below. Full credit will be given if the book has been read and the response strategy has been completed before the start of class.

Lit Study #1 – Tuck Everlasting – Babbitt: Post-Its: While reading the assigned novel, use post-its to mark (code) important passages that you want to share with your literature study discussion group. On each post-it, write a word or two that describes why you marked that particular passage. DO NOT REMOVE POST-ITS BEFORE CLASS MEETS – these will be checked in class and used for an activity.

Lit Study #2: The Book Thief – Zusak: Double Entry Journal: Students will keep a double entry journal – listing direct quotes from the text on the left side of the page and reflections / comments about those quotes on the right side. A minimum of 20 entries in the journal are required before class.

Lit Study #3: Starters – Price: Goodreads.com Discussion Board – Participate in an on-line discussion on the Goodreads.com website. A group discussion board will be setup for the class. A minimum of 5 entries must be posted before the assigned class. The on-line discussion boards will be organized by page numbers, this way students won’t be able to give away anything for other readers.

Lit Study #4: The Invention of Hugo Cabret – Selznick: Interview – Website – Reviews: After reading the assigned novel, conduct an extensive analysis of the author’s website and at least one interview with Selznick. In addition, read at least two (2) professional reviews of the book. How does this information shed light on the creation or intentions of the story? What insights can be learned from studying the life of the author? Bring notes to class for discussion.

Lit Study #5: Self-Selected Novel – group decides on the response strategy

3. Genre Analysis and Presentation: (20 Points)
In this project, you will be analyze literary pieces in terms of their relationship to a larger structure - their genre. In doing so, you will be applying a structuralist’s approach to children’s literature. This approach examines pieces of literature for common connections, structures, patterns, or motifs. In an educational setting, studying genres of literature has many benefits. In his article, “The Role of Literary Genres,” Carl Smith mentions two: the utilization of students’ schema and the enhancement of writing skills.

Students will sign up in groups of two or three to gather information on a particular genre, analyze the genre for its defining characteristics, lead a class discussion, create a two page handout about the genre (see below), and create a Multimodal Presentation (powerpoint, prezi etc) to share information about your genre. An example will be provided in class.

The group will be responsible for creating a two-page handout for each class member that contains:

1. a detailed definition of the genre being presented.
2. a criteria for selecting books to include – why did you choose what you did?
3. a list of 40 books minimum that are examples of the genre, with bibliographical info (author, title, publisher, date).
4. a minimum of 10 authors / illustrators that are well published in that genre – explain why these are selected.
5. Three (3) web-based resources that connect to the genre being presented.

Students will be evaluated based on their part in the presentation, the quality of the handouts and the quality of their understanding of the genre, authors and books presented.

4. Picturebook Analysis: (20 points)
Using the guide provided in the syllabus, students will select an award winning picturebook (any award) and conduct an in-depth analysis of the text, images and design features of the selected picturebook. The purpose of this assignment is for you to gain an aesthetic appreciation for the artistic quality of picturebooks and to see how text and pictures work together to create meaning. A two-page analysis will be used for class discussion and submitted on the scheduled class night.

5. Learning Experiences – LEXPs (2 @ 20 Points = 40 Points)
On selected weeks, teacher candidates will participate in a learning experience (LEXP) before coming to class. These experiences are designed to enhance our classroom experiences and provide opportunities to discuss our literate lives and deepen our understanding of how children make meaning from text. A written reflection is required for each LEXP.

1. Shoebox Literacy Autobiography: Find a shoebox or similar sized container and fill it up with items that represent who you are as a literate human being. Select items symbolic of things you like, things you do, things you have done. These literacy autobiographies will be shared in class. Be sure to include ONE favorite children’s book.
A two-page reflection will be turned in describing your experience gathering the items for the shoebox and the class discussions.

2. Technology Resource Review: Students will select a digital resource, website or software program that focuses on children’s literature and analyze the features and resources available. Students will create a two-page handout and make copies to share with classmates on the scheduled class night.

6. Author / Illustrator Study (30 Points)
The purpose of this assignment is for students to critically examine the work of a particular children’s or young adult author / illustrator. This will be an in-depth analysis focusing on the literary and artistic styles of the author / illustrator. Using the analytical techniques we have learned in class, conduct a thorough analysis of the work and be prepared to share your findings with the class. You will need to read as many picturebooks or novels as possible (at least 10 picturebooks) or 3 novels by your author-illustrator. Examples will be provided in class. A 2-3 page handout will be made for each member of the class.

Author Study MUST include the following sections:
1. Biographical Information – Notes from an Interview
2. Bibliography
3. Analysis of the Author-Illustrator’s body of work
4. Digital resources for the author-illustrator

Students who feel they may need a disability accommodation(s) in class must provide documentation from the Disability Resource Center (DRC; UCB 130) to the class instructor verifying the need for an accommodation and the type of accommodation that is appropriate. Students who wish accommodations for a disability should contact DRC as early as possible (i.e. before the beginning of the semester) to assure appropriate accommodations can be provided. It is the student’s responsibility to make the first contact with the DRC.

Religious Accommodations for Students
Students who need to be absent from class due to the observance of a religious holiday or participate in required religious functions must notify the faculty member in writing as far in advance of the holiday/obligation as possible. Grade Appeals
The professional responsibility for assigning grades is vested in the instructor of the course, and requires the careful application of professional judgment. A student wishing to appeal a grade must first meet with the instructor who assigned the grade to try to resolve the dispute. The process for grade appeals is set forth in the undergraduate and graduate catalogs, which are available at http://www.asu.edu/catalog.

Electronic Communication
Acceptable use of university computers, internet and electronic communications can be found in the Student Code of Conduct (http://www.asu.edu/aad/manuals/usi/us104-01.html) and in the University’s Computer, Internet, and Electronic Communications Policy (http://www.asu.edu/aad/manuals/acd/acd125.html).

Technological Services and Support
The College of Teacher Education and Leadership encourages students to make use of technological services available through ASU to make their learning experience more efficient. Students with personal laptop computers or netbooks can connect wirelessly to the Internet and to printing services on all four campuses and some PDS sites. The following support services are available to support student computing needs.

- Student Purchases:
  Dislothed pricing for students purchasing laptop or desktop computers is available at through the ASU bookstore or online (http://gomobile.asu.edu/)

- ASU Campus Classroom Connectivity:
  In-class use of laptops is encouraged by CTEL.
  In cases where students need to make presentations during class, most classrooms have the capability of allowing laptops to connect to classroom projectors. Mac laptops may require an adaptor. For collaborative work, social networking tools are provided to ASU students through a Google partnership, including Google docs, spreadsheets, presentations, forms, and sites (https://docs.google.com/a/asu.edu/#all)

- Hardware and Software Support:
  ASU 1:1 Technology Studios provide support to students on all four campuses for hardware, software and operating systems, security, networking, etc. (http://help.asu.edu/ASU_1to1_Technology_Studio)
  Virus scan software downloads are available free for students. (https://webapp3.asu.edu/myapps/)
• MyApps provides free software tools, online applications, and information about discounted software for purchase. (https://webapp3.asu.edu/myapps/)

Writing Goodreads Reviews
Dr. Frank Serafini

Parts of a Review
Basic overall impressions
Initial impact – what caught your eye
Discuss design elements: shape, orientation, borders, fonts, etc.
Discuss artistic styles and movements
Compositional elements that add to overall coherence
Interplay among text, design and illustrations

*Outline
I like to write a brief summary of the book no longer than 2 paragraphs. Usually my summary is a build up to the main event and kind of leaves off before any spoilers are given. It generally consists of a paragraph for each main character, then a paragraph for the overall book and then depending on how strong the supporting characters I may have a paragraph for the support. Then I give a rating.

* Never be mean in a review.
Remember that the author put their heart and soul into this piece of work and a lot of time. If you did not like something in the book be constructive. Do not just say you hated it; say what you did not like in a constructive manner. I also try not to compare authors against each other unless it is relevant. I will draw parallels. Like if two authors had similar concepts I might reference the other author. If I have to write unflattering review I also try to include something I did like.

*Feelings
It is my review, so of course I put in my feelings on the book. I also like to inject humor into the review where I can, especially if the book was funny. I think the feelings can be too much or too little when you gush and gush about the book and say how much you LOVED or HATED it but do not say why. Why do you hate it, why do you love it?

*Everything:
Do not discuss everything. I like to do a high-level overview. What is the point of reading the book if the review you just read described everything for the author? Touch on the basics but leave the details to the author.

LEXP #2: Picture Book Analysis Guide

Part 1: Overall Design

- Pick up the picturebook, attending to the size, format (horizontal or vertical), materials used in construction of book (papers, graphics).
- Consider the author of the text and the artist. What media is used in the illustrations? What fonts are selected? Where is the text located on the page? Borders etc.
- Look at the cover, title and illustrations. What expectations are set up for you as you approach the picture book? What does the cover, title and illustrations suggest?
- What is included in the peritext? The dedication, title page, author’s note, summary statement etc..
- Skim through the book, reading quickly to see where the story goes. What is the overall structure of the book? Home-Away-Home? Repetitive structures or language? Cumulative? The Hero Cycle? Circular, chronological, or other?

Read through the picture book more deliberately, coding / marking important aspects you want to consider. After your second reading, consider the following questions:

- What is the overall structure of the text?
- How does the opening of the story compare with the closing of the story?
How do the illustrations relate to the text?
Words propel the reader forward and images slow us down. How did this tension between reading and viewing affect your experience?
What kind of gaps does the author / illustrator leave for the reader to fill in? Are details purposefully left out to create tension?
How does the story flow from page to page? Are there borders that separate things or does it cross over in language and image from page to page?
Whose background knowledge is privileged in reading this text?
Is there a relationship between form and content? Does the design of the book add to the content being presented? How?
What themes were constructed as you read?
How does the design of the book enhance the story, theme or mood?

• Begin by considering the format of the images and their placement in the picturebook
• Where is the text located? Within the image? Separated by borders or white space, Why might this be designed this way?
• Are the illustrations double page spreads, single page images, collages, overlapping images, or portraits?
• Consider the series of images in the picturebook. Do the images change over the course of the book? Do they get bigger, smaller, change?

• Select a particular an image to consider. Ask the following:
  o What is fore-grounded and in the background?
  o Consider the “path” your eyes follow as you approach the image. What catches your eye first? Why is that element salient?
  o What colors dominate the image? What effect does this have on you as reader?
  o Consider the use of white (negative) space. Are the illustrations framed or full bleed? How does this position you as a viewer?
  o What is the “reality value” or level of abstraction? Are the images life-like or stick figures?
  o Are there any recurring patterns in the images?
  o Are there any anomalous elements? Things that stick out, or seem out of place? Are these important to consider?
  o What is the artist trying to get you to look at through leading lines, colors, contrast, gestures, lighting?
o Are there any recurring symbols or motifs in the images?
o Consider the style or artistic choices? Are the appropriate, and how do they add to the meanings of the picturebook?
o How are the images framed? Are there thick borders or faded edges?
o Consider the setting of the story. How is this realized in the images? Realistically? Metaphorically?
o Consider size and scale. What is large? Why are certain elements larger than others? Does this add to meanings of power, control?
o Consider the viewers point of view. Do characters directly gaze or address the viewer? Are the characters close up or distanced? How does point of view add to relationships with the characters?

Picture Book Analysis Assignment Sheet and Rubric

Analyzing Artistic Elements & Techniques in Picture Books

Directions: Write a 2 to 3 page typed paper analyzing the literary and visual elements and techniques of a self selected picturebook. In completing this assignment, please select a Caldecott Honor or Medal book to analyze. Use material from the powerpoint, websites, and articles in completing your analysis. Your paper should have an introduction, body and conclusion. Your analysis should address the questions listed below and should be based on the principles of visual design discussed in class as well as the reading material. Make sure you refer to specific and multiple examples in the text in support of your analysis.

- How are literary elements (plot, character, setting, theme, and style) reflected in the illustrations?
- How do the physical features (size, shape, cover, endpaper, front matters, and paper) contribute to a meaningful experience of the book?
- Analyze your book’s visual elements (line, color, shape, texture, composition, point of view, distance). Choose several pages to analyze in great detail. How do the visual elements contribute to the overall meaning of the picture book?
- Analyze your book for its artistic style (realistic, impressionistic, expressionistic, abstract, surrealist, folk or naïve, or cartoon). How does the style contribute to the overall meaning of the picture book?
- Analyze your book for its use of artistic media (pen and ink, pastels, graphite pencils, color pencils, wax crayons, collages, woodcuts, photographs, oil paints, gouache, or watercolors). How does the use of media contribute to the overall meaning of the picture book?
- Analyze your picturebook for its use of the following elements of illustration: framing, arrangement, narrative sequence, and page turns. How do they contribute to the overall meaning of the picturebook?
- How does the text and illustrations work together in concert to create meaning?

Genre Study Project

In this project, you will be exploring literary pieces in terms of their relationship to a larger structure - its genre. In doing so, you will be applying a structuralist’s approach to children’s literature. This approach examines pieces of literature for common connections, structures, patterns, or motifs. In an educational setting, studying genres of literature has many benefits. In his article, “The Role of Literary Genres,” Carl Smith mentions two: the utilization of students’ schema and the enhancement of writing skills.

For this assignment, you will design a powerpoint on a genre of children’s literature. Genre to choose from include: traditional literature, modern fantasy, contemporary realistic fiction, historical fiction, biography, informational books, and poetry.

You need to use academic sources from the library (such as scholarly journals) in creating your powerpoint. Your goal is to learn more about the children’s books that are part of the genre under study and to understand the characteristics of the genre as well.

Your powerpoint should contain the following:

1. a detailed definition of the genre being presented.
2. a description of the characteristics of the genre.
3. a detailed description of types or sub-genres of the genre.
4. a listing of 25 books that reflect the genre and a criteria for selecting books to include – why did you choose what you did?
5. three (3) web-sites that connect to the genre being presented. These would be websites that are focus on the genres for children.

6. an analysis of a literary piece that reflects that genre.

You should use you’re the slides and comment area of the slides for content. Please review the rubric ahead of time for expectations.

Author Study Presentation

Students will conduct an in-depth study of a children's literature author or illustrator of your choice. The purpose of this assignment is for students to explore an author/illustrator in the context of a literary tradition. You will need to read as many picture books as possible (at least 10) and 1 chapter book (if possible) by your author. (You can also select an author of chapter books as well.) A multimodal presentation will be compiled that includes biographical information, a summary of an article or interview about the author accompanied by a link to the interview or article, reviews of books, as complete a bibliography as possible, web-sites, analysis of several pieces of literature and curricular connections for the author’s works.

The following is a description of the criteria for the assignment. You should collect as much information as possible under each of these categories.

Biographical Information
- Picture of author
- Author's background-life & interests both personal and professional
- Interview transcripts or audio of interview – What does one learn about the author from this interview? (Select a snippet to share.)
- How does the author get his/her ideas?
- Is the author working on any new stories?
- What advice does the author have for young writers?

Bibliographical Information
- Number of books written by author / number of books illustrated
- Complete listing of authors work (along with picture of books for an excelling rating) arranged according to a pattern (chronologically, by genre, by series, etc.)
- Genres of his book
- Targeted audience
Selected book reviews
Public’s reception of books, popularity, etc.

Analysis of Author’s Craft
Contributions to children’s literature
Themes of author’s work / books as supported by specific examples

Curriculum Connections
Websites including author’s, games, ipad apps, spin-off movies/tv shows, etc. that provide extension opportunities about the author and his/her work
Reader response activities to do with specific book selections

Presentation
Multimedia presentation that contains relevant graphics pertaining to life and work of author that enhance the quality and meaning of the presentation
Includes sound, pictures, and video
