GENERAL STUDIES COURSE PROPOSAL COVER FORM

(ONE COURSE PER FORM)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>1.) DATE:</th>
<th>10/4/13</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>2.) COMMUNITY COLLEGE:</td>
<td>Maricopa Co. Comm. College District</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.) COURSE PROPOSED:</td>
<td>Prefix: SPH  Number: 241  Title: Spanish and Latin American Film in Translation  Credits: 3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>CROSS LISTED WITH: Prefix:  Number: ; Prefix:  Number: ; Prefix:  Number: ; Prefix:  Number:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Prefix:  Number: ; Prefix:  Number: ; Prefix:  Number: ; Prefix:  Number:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.) COMMUNITY COLLEGE INITIATOR:</td>
<td>ANTONIO CARDENAS  PHONE: 480-461-7039</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>FAX: 480-461-7458</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

ELIGIBILITY: Courses must have a current Course Equivalency Guide (CEG) evaluation. Courses evaluated as NT (non-transferable) are not eligible for the General Studies Program.

MANDATORY REVIEW:

☐ The above specified course is undergoing Mandatory Review for the following Core or Awareness Area (only one area is permitted; if a course meets more than one Core or Awareness Area, please submit a separate Mandatory Review Cover Form for each Area).

POLICY: The General Studies Council (GSC-T) Policies and Procedures requires the review of previously approved community college courses every five years, to verify that they continue to meet the requirements of Core or Awareness Areas already assigned to these courses. This review is also necessary as the General Studies program evolves.

AREA(S) PROPOSED COURSE WILL SERVE: A course may be proposed for more than one core or awareness area. Although a course may satisfy a core area requirement and an awareness area requirement concurrently, a course may not be used to satisfy requirements in two core or awareness areas simultaneously, even if approved for those areas. With departmental consent, an approved General Studies course may be counted toward both the General Studies requirements and the major program of study.

5.) PLEASE SELECT EITHER A CORE AREA OR AN AWARENESS AREA:

Core Areas: Humanities and Fine Arts (HU)  Awareness Areas: Select awareness area...

6.) On a separate sheet, please provide a description of how the course meets the specific criteria in the area for which the course is being proposed.

7.) DOCUMENTATION REQUIRED

☒ Course Description
☒ Course Syllabus
☒ Criteria Checklist for the area
☒ Table of Contents from the textbook required and/or list or required readings/books
☒ Description of how course meets criteria as stated in item 6.

8.) THIS COURSE CURRENTLY TRANSFERS TO ASU AS:

☒ DECTCL, FMS prefix
☐ Elective

Current General Studies designation(s): Global Awareness

Effective date: 2014 Fall  Course Equivalency Guide

Is this a multi-section course? ☒ yes  ☐ no

Is it governed by a common syllabus? ☒ yes  ☐ no

Chair/Director: STEVE BUDGE  Chair/Director Signature: Submitted to J. Holston

AGSC Action: Date action taken: ☐ Approved  ☐ Disapproved

Effective Date:
ASU - [HU] CRITERIA

HUMANITIES, FINE ARTS AND DESIGN [HU] courses must meet either 1, 2, or 3 and at least one of the criteria under 4 in such a way as to make the satisfaction of these criteria A CENTRAL AND SUBSTANTIAL PORTION of the course content.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>YES</th>
<th>NO</th>
<th>Identify Documentation Submitted</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>☐</td>
<td>☐</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>☑</td>
<td>☐</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>☐</td>
<td>☐</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

1. Emphasize the study of values, of the development of philosophies, religions, ethics or belief systems, and/or aesthetic experience.

2. Concerns the comprehension and interpretation/analysis of written, aural, or visual texts, and/or the historical development of textual traditions.

3. Concerns the comprehension and interpretation/analysis of material objects, images and spaces, and/or their historical development.

4. In addition, to qualify for the Humanities, Fine Arts and Design designation a course must meet one or more of the following requirements:
   a. Concerns the development of human thought, including emphasis on the analysis of philosophical and/or religious systems of thought.
   b. Concerns aesthetic systems and values, literary and visual arts.
   c. Emphasizes aesthetic experience in the visual and performing arts, including music, dance, theater, and in the applied arts, including architecture and design.
   d. Deepen awareness of the analysis of literature and the development of literary traditions.

THE FOLLOWING ARE NOT ACCEPTABLE:
- Courses devoted primarily to developing a skill in the creative or performing arts, including courses that are primarily studio classes in the Herberger College of the Arts and in the College of Design.
ASU - [HU] CRITERIA

- Courses devoted primarily to developing skill in the use of a language – However, language courses that emphasize cultural study and the study of literature can be allowed.
- Courses which emphasize the acquisition of quantitative or experimental methods.
- Courses devoted primarily to teaching skills.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Prefix</th>
<th>Number</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Designation</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SPH</td>
<td>241</td>
<td>Spanish and Latin American Film in Translation</td>
<td>HU</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Explain in detail which student activities correspond to the specific designation criteria. Please use the following organizer to explain how the criteria are being met.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Criteria (from checksheet)</th>
<th>How course meets spirit (contextualize specific examples in next column)</th>
<th>Please provide detailed evidence of how course meets criteria (i.e., where in syllabus)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>3. Concerns the comprehension and interpretation/analysis of material objects, images and spaces, and/or their historical development.</td>
<td>As the course competencies indicate, this course focuses on the critique of Spanish and Spanish-American films. Themes, sounds, spaces, characters, cinematographic movements, and representations, as well as historical and social reflections are included in the analysis, using the conventional aesthetic criteria.</td>
<td>Course syllabus: The course requirements (oral presentations, participation activities, written exams and term paper) were designed to ensure that students learn how to critique and analyze film structures. The oral presentation, and the term paper are graded using a rubric. Course competencies and outline: The outcomes of all six competencies are to ensure that students learn how to critique and analyze a film within a historical context. Table of contents: The required textbook, &quot;Seeing Films Politically&quot;, will help the student to comprehend and expand the content of any film applying conventional aesthetic criteria. It will help students better understand the difference between entertainment cinema and critical cinema.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4b. Concerns aesthetic systems and values, literary and visual arts.</td>
<td>As stated in the course competencies, the student will learn to analyze and critique films as visual art, applying the conventional aesthetic criteria.</td>
<td>Course Syllabus: The course requirements (oral presentations, written exams, participation activities and term paper) were designed to ensure that students critique and analyze films, applying the aesthetic criteria. Course Competencies: All six competencies will help the student to understand his/her perception of cinematographic as a form of art in the Spanish-</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
speaking world, and to help the student critically reflect on the films as a form of art.
As the course competencies indicate, this course focuses on the critique of Spanish and Spanish-American films. The student will learn how to analyze and critique film structures as visual art within a historical context. Themes, sounds, spaces, characters, cinematographic movements, and representations, as well as historical and social reflections are included in the analysis. The course requirements (oral presentations, written exams, participation activities and essay) were designed to ensure that students critique and analyze films, applying the aesthetic criteria. The required textbook, Seeing Films Politically, will help the student to comprehend and expand the content of any film applying conventional aesthetic criteria. It will help students better understand the difference between entertainment cinema and critical cinema.
NEW-Course Proposal
Maricopa Community College District
SPH 241 Spanish and Latin American Film in Translation

Originator: Jan Rohloff  Status: In Process
Department: Mesa Community College
Date Created: 01/22/2013  Submitted: 02/15/2013
Completed:
Faculty Initiator: Antonio Cardenas
DCC Online Agenda Date: March 25-28, 2013
MCCCD Governing Board Approval Date: April 23, 2013
Vice President of Academic Affairs Approval: Jim Mabry
Instructional Council(s) Receiving Proposal:
Instructional Council Recommendation(s): Approved

Need Statement: Creation of this course would open this important area of study to students whose command of Spanish is insufficient to do all of the coursework in Spanish. Spanish language film is an integral component of US and global culture, and making its study accessible to Maricopa students is an essential part of internationalizing the curriculum.

Course Subject: SPH
Course Number/Suffix: 241
Cross-Referenced Course(s):

100 Character Title: Spanish and Latin American Film in Translation
30 Character Title: Span/Latin-Film in Translation
Effective Term: Summer I
Effective Year: 2013
Course Type: Academic
Load Formula: S- Standard
Activity Type: Lecture
Credits: 3
Periods: 3
Load: 3

Activity Type (2):
Credits (2):
Periods (2):
Load (2):
Allow Repeat for Credit: No

Number of Repeats Allowed:
Total Repeat Credits Allowed:

Description: A survey of Spanish and Spanish-American film as art form and as social commentary. Includes documentary, biography, and films based on works of literature. Coursework, class participation, and oral and written reports conducted in English.

Requisites: Prerequisites: None.

Course Notes:
Common Competency No
Course:
Proposed Equivalency:
Proposed NAU Equivalency:
Proposed U of A Equivalency:
Articulation Information:

Justification-Do Not Articulate:
Modularization - Parent/Child Relationship:
Add Parent Course:

Competencies: 1. Critique Spanish film within the era of art control and censorship from 1936 to 1975. (I)
2. Critique Spanish film within the era of liberation and license from 1975 to the present. (I)
3. Identify important Spanish directors, and analyze their major contributions. (I)
4. Critique film from South America, the Caribbean, Central America or Mexico. (II, III, IV)
5. Identify important film directors from the various Spanish speaking countries, and analyze their major contributions to the art of filmmaking, including their social impact. (I, II, III, IV)
6. Analyze and critique Spanish and/or Spanish-American film by applying conventional aesthetic criteria. (I, II, III, IV)

Outline:  I. Spanish Cinema
   A. Cultural Context
   B. History of Filmmaking
   C. Influential Filmmakers
II. South American Cinema
   A. Cultural Context
   B. History of Filmmaking
   C. Influential Filmmakers
III. Caribbean and Central American Cinema
   A. Cultural Context
   B. History of Filmmaking
   C. Influential Filmmakers
IV. Mexican Cinema
   A. Cultural Context
   B. History of Filmmaking
   C. Influential Filmmakers
Syllabus
SPH 241 Fall 2014
Spanish and Latin American Film in Translation

1 Dr. Antonio Cárdenas.
Mesa Community College.
World Languages Department. Building 41, office 109
(480) 461-7039 direct line.
antonio.cardenas@mesacc.edu

Course description and overview: A survey of Spanish and Spanish-American film as art form and as social commentary. Includes documentary, biography, and films based on works of literature. Coursework, class participation, and oral and written reports conducted in English. Prerequisites: none.

Office hours: Daily 11:00 AM-11:50 P.M. Friday by appointment only. If you leave a message please speak slow and clearly. Repeat your area and phone number twice. However; e-mails are received and answered faster.

SPH 241 library link: MCC Home Page + Research Guides + SPH 241

See free films at:
http://www.divxonline.info/películas-estreno/1.html
www.tomapelículas.com < http://www.tomapelículas.com/>
www.cinegratis.net/index.php
www.dospuntocerovision.com < http://www.dospuntocerovision.co >
www.veocine.es < http://www.veocine.es/>

See films commentaries on imdb.com and/or amazon.com
Recommended readings. Sixteen of the forty three films in the course film bank are based on books published by famous authors; two of the films have newspaper articles. The film theories of Masud Zavarzadeh is the textbook class; and, Ensayos claves sobre cine latino is an extra recommended reading for the native Spanish speaker student.

1 Ensayos claves sobre cine latino by Antonio Cárdenas
2 Seeing Films Politically by Masud Zavarzadeh
3 The Secret in their Eyes by Eduardo Sacheri
4 A boca de noche by Ángel García Roldán
5 Short Stories by Grimm Brothers
6 Naufragios by Álvar Nuñez Cabeza de Vaca
   A Land so Strange: The Epic Journey of Cabeza de Vaca by Andre Resendez
   The Journey of Alvar Nunez Cabeza de Vaca: And his Companions from Florida to the Pacific by Alvar Nunez Cabeza de Vaca

7 Diario de viaje/The Motorcycle Diaries by Ernesto Che Guevara y Alberto Granados
8 As Water for Chocolate/Como agua para chocolate by Laura Esquivel
9 The Crime of Padre Amaro/El crimen del padre Amaro by Eca de Queiros
10 Celda 211 by Francisco Pérez Gandul
11 Canoa (newspaper articles)
12 La tregua by Mario Benedetti
13 The sea inside/Mar adentro (newspaper articles)
14 Viento negro by Mario Martini
15 Arráncame la vida by Angela Mastreta
16 Macario by Bruno Traven
17 Captain Pantajo and the Special Services/Pantaleón y las visitadoras by Mario Vargas Llosa
18 Love in the Time of Cholera/El amor en los tiempos del cólera by Gabriel García Márquez
19 La Rosa Blanca by Bruno Traven
20 El hombre, el bosque y el hombre nuevo by Senel Paz

All films are located at the MCC Library Circulation Desk! The student has three hours to view the film in the library! Please bring your own headphones!
3 Film archive for SPH 241. Please bring your own headphones!

1 The Secret of their Eyes – El secreto de tus ojos
2 Carol’s Journey – El viaje de Carol
3 Pan’s Labyrinth – El laberinto del Fauno
4 Babel – Babel
5 Under the Same Moon – Bajo la misma luna
6 To the Other Side – Al otro lado
7 Amor en silencio – A Silent Love
8 A Better Life – Una mejor vida
9 Cabeza de Vaca
10 The Motorcycle Diaries – Diarios de motocicleta
11 All About my Mother – Todo sobre mi madre
12 Like Water for Chocolate – Como agua para chocolate
13 Innocent Voices – Voces inocentes
14 El Bola
15 The Crime of Padre Amaro – El crimen del padre Amaro
16 Celda 211 – Cell Two Eleven
17 Canoa
18 The Orphanage – El orfanato
19 La tregua – The Truce
20 Solas
21 The Sea Inside – Mar adentro
22 Viento Negro
23 Santitos
24 Arrancame la vida – Tear this Heart Out
25 El cometa – The Comet
26 Wondering Lives – Vidas errantes
27 Hombre mirando al sudeste
28 La guerra santa
29 Matador – Matador
30 Eva Perón
31 Macario
32 Enamorada
33 Captain Pantoja and the Special Services – Pantaleón y las visitadoras
34 El principio – The Beginning
35 Love in the Time of Cholera – El amor en los tiempos del cólera
36 Talk to her – Hable con ella
37 En el hoyo
38 Rosa Blanca
39 Which Way Home –
40 Strawberry and Chocolate – Fresa y chocolate
41 Sin dejar huella – Without a Trace
42 El castillo de la pureza – The Castle of Purity
43 Los Cafínes

All films are at the MCC Library Circulation Desk. Films must be seeing in a three hour period.
4 Grades:
Class participation 10% Please see Appendix a) below
Oral semester presentation 15% Please see your film study guide! A-10
Term paper 15% Please see your film study guide! B-11
Three written exams 45% Please see your film study guide! C-12
Final written exam 15% Please see your film study guide! C-12

90%-100% = A
80%-89% = B
70%-79% = C
60%-69% = D
59% or less = F

Access your final semester grades at: my.maricopa.edu

a) Class participation includes: viewing class films, and oral participation on discussing the following 13 topics. 10% / 14 classes = 1.4% max per class!

1) Discuss what cultural aspects you learned after seeing each film.
2) In what matter you changed your perspective of the culture presented after seeing this film.
3) Topic and subtopics such as war, abuse, politics, religion, women, disease, adventure, colonization, economy, social issues. Explain what is dominant in the film, which are the victims or receptors of hegemonic characters.
4) Relationship between actions, and sound and color.
5) How you compare this film with others you have seen before and your own culture.
6) How this film is related to contemporary reality and history.
7) The director’s importance in world cinema. What is his/her legacy?
8) Discuss if this film is based on a book, or articles of a true human event.
9) Characters: adults, women, children, disable, militaries, professionals, good, bad, honest, social norms and values of the specific culture; which characters are dominant.
10) Film techniques such as: forward and retrospective flashes.
11) The historic time of the film; or specific era.
12) The film space (Where the filming takes place).
13) Discuss cinematographic movements such as: Romanticism, Realism, Magic Realism, Naturalism, Modernism; or cinema of Homoerotic Identities 10%

In order to better support your interpretation and analysis of your oral participation it is very important to make references to the assigned readings.
b) For your 10-15 minutes semester final oral presentation select one of these recommended topics from the film archive for SPH 241 available to the library.

1) Analysis of three films of your choice seeing out of class!
2) How your perspective on Spanish and/or Latin American cinema changed this semester from beginning to end.
3) How your view of the world changed after taking this class.
4) What films do you view of historical cinema, what is the importance in Spanish and/or Latin American cultures.
5) Explain what films and why you would recommend.
6) Discuss cinematographic movements present on the films such as: Romanticism, Realism, Magic Realism, Naturalism, and Modernism.
7) Discuss one of the films from the SPH 241 archive based on a book; or articles; establish similarities and differences between book and film.

It is expected that the student demonstrates critical thinking, understanding of the film, and better and/or new perception of the world. The student is welcome to use power point for this presentation. 15%

It is very important to include oral citations and references from the readings assigned for a deeper analysis and better interpretation during this oral presentation. Please see your Film Study Guide A-10

Term paper:
c) Four page paper on a film from the film archive for the SPH 241 class at the MCC Library. Typed, letter size 12, double spaced, completed on a topic of your choice. The student must demonstrate critical thinking, comprehension of the film and better understanding of the culture presented in the Spanish world outside the US. Can’t be a film previously viewed in class or viewed for the oral presentation. Citations-bibliography must be MLA format. 15%

Requirements of your Study Film Guide: B-11 are expected for this Semester term paper! The overall performance; thus is, quality of the oral presentation and written errors on the term paper, The demonstration of cultural awareness of Spanish and Spanish American cultures will be observed; and the written authority/resources (Bibliography) are basic requirements for the assignment.

It is very important to include oral citations and references from the readings assigned for a deeper analysis and better interpretation of your semester term paper.

5) There are no late make up exams or class assignments. There are no exceptions! All class work should be done on schedule!
6) Class participation: Learning cinema is an ongoing process that requires continual viewing and discussion. It is in the student’s best interest to arrive to class having read and/or seeing the film and completed the assigned homework. Mistakes are part of the learning process and students should expect to be corrected. Active participation is required to learn and students will be given points based on participation. Students should be ready to work individually or in groups during the class sessions. If you miss a class your instructor will not reduce or penalize your grade, but be aware that absences may affect the participation grade. The following considerations are included in class participation: absences, tardies, leaving the classroom during class time, answering cell phones, interrupting the teaching-learning process, providing wrong oral answers, lack of academic enthusiasm, and working on unrelated items during class time etc.

7) Attendance: The instructor may initiate an official withdrawal of any student after missing one class. Tardiness or leaving early will be counted as absences. Absences will be considered as ‘excused’ if written verification is received before the next class session. Written verifications include: doctor’s note, police officer, funeral home, or court of law. Verifications must include the reason of the missed class, dates the student was unable to attend, must be signed and dated. A medical prescription will not be accepted, but a doctor may write a note on a blank prescription requesting me to excuse you from not attending class due to a medical treatment etc. There are no exceptions!

NOTE: For MCCCD policy on attendance see MCC Catalog. The instructor is following these guidelines. No exceptions! Calling or e-mailing the instructor will NOT excuse the student for being absent! Class policy on attendance will be followed!

8) Academic dishonesty and behavior: All forms of academic dishonesty are subject to disciplinary action. Any form of dishonesty, cheating (or the appearance of it), fabrication, or plagiarism may make you subject to disciplinary action. If any student disrupts the study learning process, that student will be recommended to be dropped. Please turn off all cell phones and beepers during class. There are no exceptions!

9) Students with disabilities must have an equally effective and equivalent educational opportunity as those students without disabilities. Students experiencing difficulty accessing course materials because of a disability are expected to contact the course instructor so that a solution can be found that provides all students equal access to course materials and technology. Information for Students with Disabilities:

If you have a documented disability, including a learning disability, and would like to discuss possible accommodations, please contact the MCC Disabilities Resources and Services Office at (480) 461-7447 or email drsfrontdesk@mesacc.edu
10) SPH 241 class semester schedule:

R January 16  Syllabus, Film Study Guides, Exams, Schedule, MLA.
R January 23  Film: Pan's Labyrinth or Viento Negro
R January 30  Discussion: Pan's Labyrinth or Viento Negro.
                                                            Seeing Films Politically: Chapters I and II
R February 6  Film: The Motorcycle Diaries or Under the Same Moon
R February 13 Discussion: The Motorcycle Diaries or Under the Same Moon
       Exam I  15% See Film Study Guide C-12
R February 20  Film: All about my mother or Sin devolución
R March 20   Discussion: All about my mother or Sin devolución.
       Seeing Films Politically: Chapters III and IV
R March 27   Film: Babel or Cabeza de Vaca
R April 3    Discussion: Babel or Cabeza de Vaca
       Exam II  15% See Film Study Guide C-12
R April 10   Film: Captain Pantoja and the Special Services
R April 17   Discussion: Captain Pantoja and the Special Services
       Seeing Films Politically: Chapters V and VI
R April 24   Film: Eva Perón or Talk to her
       Seeing Films Politically: Chapters VII and VIII
R May 1      Discussion: Eva Perón or Talk to her
       Exam III  15% See Film Study Guide C-12
       Oral presentation 15%: See Film Study Guide A-10
R May 8      Final written exam 15% See Film Study Guide C-12
       Semester Term Paper 15%: See Film Study Guide B-11

All four exams will require interpretation and analysis related to the films previously viewed, and all readings assigned during the semester.

This syllabus is intended as a guide only. The instructor has the right to change assignments, dates and oral reports as needed. Students who have a concern or questions about the syllabus, readings, class materials and study guides should see the instructor during the first couple days of the semester.
Term Paper: Change, History, Nostalgia, Ideology, Desire, Gender, and Exploitation of Reality, are some of the concepts, that Mas'ud Zavarzarde applies to film analysis. Select as many terms as possible to analyze your film selected and/or assigned.

Term Paper Requirements SPH 241:

Four page paper on a film from the film class archive for the SPH 241 class at the MCC Library. Typed, letter size 12, double spaced, a narration or a topic of your choice. The student must demonstrate critical thinking, comprehension of the film and better understanding of the culture presented in the Spanish world outside the US. Can't be a film previously viewed in class or viewed for the oral presentation. The student must include no less than four-six relevant citations from the class textbook to support the pertinent analysis. All citations and bibliography must be MLA format.

Remember; it is very important to include oral film citations and references from the readings assigned: Seeing Films Politically by Mas'ud Zavarzardeh for a deeper analysis and better interpretation of your semester term paper.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Lead/Introduction.</td>
<td>Fabulous opening sentence that attracts listener interest and establishes the tone of the review.</td>
<td>Adequate opening sentence that gives the receptor some indication of your opinion.</td>
<td>Poor opening sentence- the audience is left wondering how you feel about the film.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Performers.</td>
<td>Mentions key performers and roles they play.</td>
<td>Mentions key performers or their roles.</td>
<td>Fails to mention significant actors or characters by name.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Plot Summary.</td>
<td>Provides a succinct plot synopsis without divulging too much about the film.</td>
<td>Provides an overly detailed plot synopsis or a synopsis that does not quite give the listener enough information.</td>
<td>Provides so much information about the plot that the film is ruined for the viewer, or gives almost no information about the film.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Uses examples from</td>
<td>Provides relevant examples/illustrations from the film to support the reviewer's opinion about the film’s effectiveness applying the theories introduced in the class textbook: Seeing Films Politically.</td>
<td>Provides some examples of action/dialogue from the film that supports the opinion about the film’s effectiveness applying the theories introduced in the class textbook: Seeing Films Politically.</td>
<td>Includes no examples of action or dialogue from the film that supports the reviewer’s opinion.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The opinion.</td>
<td>Makes a provable case for the film’s merit and analyzes what worked and did not work in the film applying the theories introduced in the textbook.</td>
<td>Voices an opinion but does not explain in depth why things in the film worked or didn’t applying the theories introduced in the textbook.</td>
<td>Has virtually no opinion about the film or has an opinion that is not supported by any examples from the film.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Spoke clearly and understandable.</td>
<td>Makes virtually no spoken errors.</td>
<td>Makes 2-3 spoken errors. Spoke to low, difficult to hear.</td>
<td>Multiple spoken errors, ideas not clear, confused statements, or not related to the film under analysis.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Inspired pitch choice/ speaking with fluency.</td>
<td>Chooses interesting appropriate words and well-constructed oral sentences.</td>
<td>Uses appropriate word choice but may have a few poorly constructed sentences.</td>
<td>Inappropriate word choices, poorly constructed sentences.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Total points possible = 100

Comments:
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>SPH 241 Film Scoring Rubric B-11 for the 15% Semester Term Paper.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Exemplary - 6 pts.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lead/Introduction.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Performers.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Plot Summary.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Uses examples from the film.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The opinion.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Spelling/grammar.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Inspired word choice/ writing fluency.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Total points possible = 100

Comments:
Before taking written exams please review and expands the following concepts, ideas, definitions and/or questions:

1 Relate all film titles, director names, country of production and film argument.

2 Be aware of other production of film directors under analysis.

3 Be able to describe the cinematographic spaces of each individual film.

4 Make the difference between contemporary and historic cinematographic space.

5 Is the film reproducing a current issue?

6 Be able to describe the Cinematographic Genre of each film.

7 Understand all Film Movements.

8 Describe the Cinematographic Style of each film.

9 Be able to analyze a film from the structural point of view.

10 Learn the functioning of Cinematographic Techniques.

11 What is the importance of the films you viewed in this class in World Cinematographic Art?

12 How you can possible change the ending of the films viewed?

13 Be able to describe the protagonist, deuterogamist and the antagonist of each film.

14 Be able to describe how you can possible continue this film.

15 Did you learn something in a way that impacted your view of the world after seeing these films?
16 Have you seen similar films before taking this course?

17 Is there anything special you particularly liked of this class or any film viewed? Anything you disliked? Please describe!

18 Describe if any of these films resembles a real life story you, or a person you know experienced.

19 Could you see a pedagogic intention on these films?

20 How and what citations from the class textbook: Seeing Films Politically helped you to better understand the theme, structure, techniques, characters and argument in each film?

21 According with Zavarzardeh are there differences between Hollywood film production and films produced in other parts of the world?

22 Be able to analyze the cinematographic importance of homoerotic identities, the handicapped, children, women, the old, the hegemonic powers, and those actors representing the Institutions and Systems of diverse Hispanic nations.

23 Is there any particular citation, ideas or examples from the class textbook that helped your analysis of each film?

24 What do you think is the best of this class, the films and the assigned readings?
MAS'UD ZAVARZADEH
SEEING FILMS POLITICALLY
CONTENTS

Preface  ix

1. Tales of Intelligibility  1

2. Pleasure, Resistance, and the Ludic Postmodern  31

3. The Politics of Reality  91

4. The Cultural Politics of Intimacy  113

5. Change, History, Nostalgia  153

6. The Center and the Margin  169

7. Ideology, Desire, and Gender  203

8. The Political Economy of Art: Ingmar Bergman's  _Fanny and Alexander_  229

Bibliography  247

Index  257
SEEING FILMS POLITICALLY
MAS'UD ZAVARZADEH

"In a big league along with Brecht and Barthes."
—ERNEST CALLENBACH, Editor, Film Quarterly

In this bold political rethinking of contemporary film theory, Zavazadeh overturns the dominant concepts that fetishize film as a work of art or simple entertainment. He demonstrates how aesthetic notions obscure the ideological effects produced by viewing films, particularly the production of the spectator as the subject of social class. Seeing films, he argues, is part of the political struggle over cultural intelligibilities, subjectivities, and representations. One of the book's analytical innovations is its concept of renarrating: a reading strategy that displays the logic of the film, showing that it is not so much a unique aesthetic articulation as it is the common logic of the dominant ideology. In a series of brilliant readings of recent films, the book constructs a critical space for the reader to not only see the culturally visible tale of the film—the one that legitimates the existing reality, the status quo—but also to see the other, suppressed tale that (de)narrates the social contradictions arising from exploitation and class rule.

"An eye-opening book that bridges the gap between the abstractions of radical theoretical perspectives and the concrete details of contemporary culture."
—ROGER S. GOTTLEIB, Editor, Western Marxism

"Zavarzadeh's stance is quite original and distinct. He has made me see the films with fresh eyes, and the approach is applicable to works of popular culture in general."
—ROBIN WOOD, Author, Hollywood from Vietnam to Reagan

Mas'ud Zavazadeh was educated in Middle Eastern, European, and American universities and teaches critical theory at Syracuse University. He has written on postmodern critical theory and is the author of Mythopoeic Reality and coeditor of Theory, Pedagogy, Politics.

A volume in the SUNY series in
Radical Social and Political Theory
Roger S. Gottlieb, editor

STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK PRESS

ISBN 0-7914-0527-3

$18.95
Customer Reviews
Pan's Labyrinth

994 Reviews
Average Customer Review
(994 customer reviews)

4 star: (664)
4 stars: (150)
4 star: (70)
2 star: (43)
1 star: (67)

The most helpful favorable review
762 of 843 people found the following review helpful

Astounding.
This is the way fairy tales used to be -- before they got bleached, pressed, and de-listed by half-wits trying to protect tender ears. Before they got Disney-fied. Sure, there's violence here, some of it shocking, but none of it gratuitous. Could it give a kid nightmares? Maybe. But given today's 'publum stories, maybe it's about time.

Pan's Labyrinth takes us...
Read the full review
Published on January 27, 2007 by Maine Writer

> See more 5 star, 4 star reviews

The most helpful critical review
23 of 33 people found the following review helpful

One of the best films I didn't like
Critics loved "Pan's Labyrinth"--if you look it up on RottenTomatoes.com their favority critics averaged 100% in loving it--and that's rare. It's well acted, beautifully directed, perfectly cast, evocative, deep...and I didn't like it.

For one thing, it includes graphic scenes of torture and harm to children. You could say the same thing about Saving Private...
Read the full review
Published on January 6, 2008 by Dzhu

> See more 3 star, 2 star, 1 star reviews

Most Helpful First | Newest First

762 of 843 people found the following review helpful

Astounding., January 27, 2007

By Maine Writer "David" (Maine, USA) - See all my reviews

Amazon Verified Purchase (What's this?)
This is the way fairy tales used to be -- before they got bleached, pressed, and de-listed by half-wits trying to protect tender ears. Before they got Disney-fied. Sure, there's violence here, some of it shocking, but none of it gratuitous. Could it give a kid nightmares? Maybe. But given today's 'publum stories, maybe it's about time.

Pan's Labyrinth takes us directly into the subconscious, and into the storyforms that infuse all of the great myths, fairy tales, and religions. It's a rich and satisfying stew of symbolism, mystery, and redemption. Multilayered and inspiring, it's a film you'll want to see again. It's hard not to gush, but it's been so long since a movie this good has made it into the quasi-mainstream.

What makes Pan's Labyrinth most effective is it's juxtaposition of harsh "reality" and the mysterious world that lives side by side with it. The heroine, a young girl who may carry a magical seed of immortality (the soul of god's only child who once ventured into the world of men, suffered, and died long ago), is contacted by shapeshifting fairies who lead her to a faun (much like the mythological Pan) who says she may reclaim her throne and escape the mortal world by performing three tasks. The faun in Pan's Labyrinth is every bit as complex as the mythological Pan, a creature perhaps older than the gods themselves. There's something airy, and perhaps even sexual about this elegant and almost alien faun, as he represents the forces at play inside this sensitive young girl. In fact, like every good fairy tale, all of the strange, wondrous, and chilling creatures represent facets of the subconscious, including baby-eating ghouls, flitting fairies, and glutinous toads.

Pan's Labyrinth is a commentary on the resiliency and power of the human imagination, and takes us to the place where dreams are spun and the great heroic tale of overcoming (of the self and the world) takes root. That spark of the divine in all of us -- or at least the hope of it -- powers the great story of our lives, and we need tales like this to remind us of the magic and transformative power of story telling. In the flickering light of the theater, like some great hearth around which we've gathered, Pan's Labyrinth took me back to my childhood, and made me think of... so many of the great stories I'd read over the years -- of derronic dogs with saucer-sized eyes, of child-stealing trolls, and evil stepbrothers. And, finally, of the champions who venture down into these great cracks in the Earth, where the roots of mythic trees twist and wind and the greatest treasure of all can be found: the noble, heroic, and undying spirit that lies within us.

Help other customers find the most helpful reviews | Report abuse | Permalink
Was this review helpful to you? | Comments (87)

123 of 136 people found the following review helpful

A Haunting and Beautifully Crafted Film, May 2, 2007
By mothermaven "webjay dove" (San Rafael, CA USA) - See all my reviews

This review is from: Pan's Labyrinth (Two-Disc Gold Series) (DVD)
First of all, this film is not suitable for children. It is intended to be an adult fairytale with a young girl as its protagonist. Everyone I know who have viewed this film has loved it, including my 75 year old father, who is not really into foreign films or art films.

The film is not suitable for children for a few scenes of torture and violence. While difficult to watch, it serves to create a sense of real peril, ugliness, cruelty, and evil that propels our protagonist to seek comfort in another world of grotesque beauty. She is a young girl in the midst of a brutal civil war where both sides reside under her roof, and the only reason she is safe is because her mother is pregnant by a fascist general. There is a sense that this safety is precarious and could evaporate quickly due to circumstances beyond her control.

The protagonists other world is sparked by a discovery of an old labyrinth by the old house where the general holds his position and has a doctor see to the pregnant mother's ailing health.

This other world that is created is amazingly done and is beautiful in its grotesquely Gothic way. The original scene is perfect for the film with its haunting hummimg lullaby. The young girl is perfect young heroine that is flawed but lovable. You want her to fulfill her destiny and escape to her throne in a magical place. The rest of the cast are amazing showing the full range of humanity in a time of war from immense cruelty to amazing courage and compassion. The film itself has a great sense of pacing, almost poetic writing, and is able to keep up the feeling of suspense.

The movie is sad, beautiful, cruel, agonizing, and has kept haunting me. The film made me cry and at times took my breath away. It made me feel great to see such a well-made movie in the era of over hyped corporate films. This had the craftsmanship of an expert watchmaker.

The lullaby still lingers in my mind.

Help other customers find the most helpful reviews | Report abuse | Permalink
Was this review helpful to you? | Comments (5)

82 of 91 people found the following review helpful

Into the labyrinth, October 12, 2007
By F. A Solinas "ea_solinasa" (MD USA) - See all my reviews

Amazon Verified Purchase (What's this?)
This review is from: Pan's Labyrinth (2-Disc Special Edition) (DVD)
If anyone wants to know where the dark, creepy fairy tales of old went, here's a hint: Guillermo del Toro is doing a pretty good job with the fairy tales for adults.

"Pan’s Labyrinth" ("El Laberinto del Fauno") is a sequel of sorts to "The Devil's Backbone," a magical realism film about the Spanish Civil War. But this movie takes us deeper into a world that is half real, half ominous fairy tale, with a unique and imaginative story and some really excellent acting -- in short, a triumph.

Time and place: 1944, Spain. Ofella (Ivana Baquero) and her very pregnant mother travel to meet her new eyepather, the brutal and murderous Captain Vidal (Sergi López). Ofella loathes her new stepfather, but is transfixed by the eerie forests around them -- and one night she is visited by a fairy, and encounters a giant faun who tells her that she is Princess Moanna of the netherworld, and must return there.

To do so, he tells her that she must do three things, and gives her a strange book. Ofella manages first task, but is frightened out of her wits by the second task, which involves a hideous monster with eyes in its hands. Even worse, her mother's pregnancy is getting more dangerous. As the guerillas and the fascists clash, Ofella faces a choice torn outside the netherworld forever... and being offered a terrible choice if she wants to get in.

Fairy tales have become cleaned-up and cutesy over time, so that children can read
Customer Reviews
Cabeza De Vaca

27 Reviews  Average Customer Review
5 star: (12)  (27 customer reviews)
4 star: (4)
3 star: (3)
2 star: (1)
1 star: (7)

The most helpful favorable review
65 of 70 people found the following review helpful
Captures the Essence of the Account
I don't normally address other reviewers in my reviews, but in this instance I believe the reviewer from Arizona who gave this movie a one star rating to be totally off base. That, and the fact that he posted two one-star reviews to bring the totals down for an international award winning film. I've read de Vaca's account, and it is indeed a great tale, which is why I was...
Read the full review
Published on May 19, 2003 by Bruce Kendall

This product
Cabeza De Vaca by
Nicolas Echevarria (Dvd - 2001)
Used & New from:
$348.49

The most helpful critical review
10 of 11 people found the following review helpful
Why I give a low score to a great movie?
I agree with all the good reviews, is not a good movie, is one of the best movies I have ever seen, great in any aspect, but, Yes here comes the problems! The DVD is just a bad copy, whit the subtitles built in, no menus and the worst, Huum! This just make me sick! No 16:9 How can that be possible? Is a great movie, So why is not realised like a movie? I just hope this...
Read the full review
Published on October 27, 2003 by Luis R. Gutierrez

Send us feedback
How can we make Amazon Customer Reviews better for you? Let us know here.

Customers who viewed this item also viewed
The Other Conquest (La Otra Conquista) by
Elpidia Carrillo (Dvd - 2007)

The Narrative of Cabeza de Vaca by
Alvar Nuñez Cabeza de Vaca (Paperback - May 1, 2003)

1942: Conquest of Paradise by Geral
depardieu (Dvd)

www.amazon.com/Cabeza-De-Vaca-Juan-Diegoproduct-reviews/B00005JXYF/ref=dp_top_cm_cr_acr_b4?ie=UTF8&showViewpoints=1
Wonder filled movie, February 23, 2003

By GHT - See all my reviews
Amazon Verified Purchase (What's this?)
This review is from: Cabeza De Vaca (DVC)
Cabeza de Vaca, Spanish noblemen looking for riches and adventure, ends up with much more adventure than he planned for. A journey for gold turns into a harrowing spiritual journey, a twisting torture of his soul and beliefs.
Face to face with barbarians, de Vaca must face his own nature and ultimately the barbaric nature of the Spanish Conquest.
A beautifully shot movie - the melange of tribal cultures that de Vaca encountered on his wanderings is well portrayed, and as de Vaca goes from slave to shaman to the next idol back to holy man, etc., this viewer was caught up in de Vaca's spiritual journey - how survival and spirituality spring from the same place for many of us.
Juan Diego masterfully portrays de Vaca's spiritual trials and tribulations - a man adapting to what he had to adapt to to survive, almost losing himself in the process, renorn almost unrecognizable to himself.
This movie reminds us that culture clashes are really clashes of souls, an always timely message.

Help other customers find the most helpful reviews | Report abuse | Permalink
Was this review helpful to you?  Comment

19 of 21 people found the following review helpful

The Most Under-rated Movie Ever, May 2, 2003

By Walter W. Lyford (Miami, FL United States) - See all my reviews
This review is from: Cabeza De Vaca (DVC)
I saw this movie in Miami, FL when it was newly released. It electrified me but I was disappointed that it did not create a huge sensation. It should encourage people to read the original writings of Cabeza de Vaca on his prodigious wanderings. He is one of the greatest explorers ever!
But this movie goes much deeper into his and our collective unconscious. It is not merely a factual description of his trip across the North American continent but a journey into our mental and spiritual make up.
Shipwrecked, captured and sold to the tribal Shamen, the mighty European Conquistador is reduced to the fetal position on the shores of the New World.
But it is his deep and sincere Christian belief that makes him a potent Shamam himself as he is trained by the master and the two powers merge.
There is plenty of indictment against the narrow confines of the Church and the brutality of the conquest. The Native Americans are depicted as mostly noble, perhaps primitive yet organized and in harmony with nature. There is a scene in the desert SouthWest where they appear like Buddhist monks as they inter the first to fall to the bullet on this continent.
I have seen the movie once or twice since 1992 and can't wait to get the DVD to further study the film and get any extras it may provide.

Help other customers find the most helpful reviews | Report abuse | Permalink
Was this review helpful to you?  Comment

11 of 11 people found the following review helpful

See the New World through the eyes of ancient explorers, June 27, 2005

By No Stone Left Unturned "Soundingstone" (Michigan, USA) - See all my reviews
This review is from: Cabeza De Vaca (DVC)
This movie is so surreal! It places you inside the eyes of early Spaniards landing in the Americas- how they see the land and People, having only their life in a European context to relate. The viewer is drawn in by their fears and superstitions, the mystery of these unexplored places, and the clashes of cultures and difficulties of understanding. I saw a subtle message comparing the indigenous societies and shamans who were in sync with their surroundings, to the Catholicism of the time which seemed to be about fear, demons, and not part of the natural world (and did not save their lives either). Some scenes reminded me of Hieronymous Bosch paintings- as though the Spaniards thought they had descended into a Hell.
This is not at all like a Hollywood Native American movie.
Customer Reviews
All About My Mother

122 Reviews  Average Customer Review  (122 customer reviews)

5 star:  (81)
4 star:  (23)
3 star:  (7)
2 star:  (9)
1 star:  (2)

Share your thoughts with other customers

The most helpful favorable review
75 of 79 people found the following review helpful

Visual, Moving Masterpiece
"Todo Sobre Mi Madre," or "All About My Mother," revolves around the life of an organ transplant coordinator, Manuela, who was briefly shown in one of Almodovar's most recent movie "The Flower of My Secret". After the death of her only child, Manuela sets off from Madrid to Barcelona to find both his father and the traveling troupe who... Read the full review:
Published on July 15, 2000 by Luis Hernandez

> See more 5 star, 4 star reviews

The most helpful critical review
14 of 19 people found the following review helpful

The Struggle Between Heartbreak and Hope
Pedro Almodovar's All About My Mother contains more pure emotion than anything Hollywood puts out these days. The film follows the turbulent life of Manuela (Cecilia Roth) who tragically loses her teenage son Esteban (Eloy Azorin) after they both attend a performance of A Streetcar Named Desire. Esteban is killed when he is hit by a car while chasing after actress Huma. Read the full review:
Published on January 18, 2003 by Steven Y.

> See more 3 star, 2 star, 1 star reviews

< Previous | 1 | 2 | 3 | 41 | Next >

75 of 79 people found the following review helpful

Visual, Moving Masterpiece, July 19, 2000
By Luis Hernandez (New York, New York, USA) - See all my reviews

This review is from: All About My Mother (DVD)
"Todo Sobre Mi Madre," or "All About My Mother," revolves around the life of an organ transplant coordinator, Manuela, who was briefly shown in one of Almodovar's most recent movie "The Flower of My Secret". After the death of her only child, Manuela sets off from Madrid to Barcelona to find both his father and the traveling troupe who performs "A Streetcar Named Desire," throughout Spain.

Argentinian actress Cecilia Roth is both excellent and convincing as Manuela. Her performance for an actress not from Spain is original, since most of Almodovar's leading starlets are Spaniards. Manuela Paredes as Huma, a fading starlet, reminded me of her performance in "High Heels," when she played a similar character. However the two emerging standouts in this film are Antonio San Juan as Manuela's drag-queen friend (fact: although she looks like a man, San Juan is actually a woman) and the beautiful Penelope Cruz, who plays a HIV-positive pregnant nun (only Almodovar can bring us such characters). Cruz, who radiates natural beauty and style has become Spain hottest export to Hollywood since Antonio Banderas. Keep an eye out for her in the near future.

The visual arrangement of colors, patterns, and clothes brings the film so much beauty it is unbearable not to watch and adore it. Almodovar's camera illusions, especially watching a grieving Manuela run to her injured son, Esteban, after he is struck by a car (the camera looks like if the victim is watching his mother run in the rain) and the trick of watching Esteban write in his journal (we see his pencil move through a glass that is supposed to be his pad) is amazing. Only the pure genius that Almodovar is could have thought of this.

This happens to be Almodovar's best film in the past 10 years. Truly, if you are an artist, an admirer of Spanish culture, or just love art films, then this film will fascinate you. A true gem in the evolution of Spanish cinema.

Help other customers find the most helpful reviews  Report abuse  Permalink

www.amazon.com/All-About-My-Mother/product-reviews/B0050Q5448?ref=dp_toc_cm_cr_acr_bw_cm_cr_acr_bw?ie=UTF8&showViewpoints=1
Customer Reviews
Captain Pantoja and the Special Service: A Novel

6 Reviews
Average Customer Review
(4.5 customer reviews)

5 star: (4)
4 star: (1)
3 star: (1)
2 star: (0)
1 star: (0)

The most helpful favorable review
12 of 14 people found the following review helpful
The best satire of discipline and technocracy
Sometimes, the most serious and deep messages are hidden in the form of light and funny literature (one book that jumps to mind is 'Gulliver's Travels'). In this simply genial novel, the Peruvian military has a problem: the garrisons of the Amazonic regions are very short of women and feeling extremely sexual, so rapes are mounting. This, of course, is bad PR...
Read the full review
Published on February 15, 2001 by Guillermo Maynez

The most helpful critical review
2 of 5 people found the following review helpful
Long Form Morality Play
One of Mario Vargas Llosa's weaker efforts, Captain Pantoja is a heavy-handed satire about corruption and fanaticism. Intertwined stories deal respectively with Captain Pantoja's efficient command of a military prostitution unit and an outlaw religious sect with a crucifixion fetish.
Read the full review
Published on March 3, 2006 by hb

Most Helpful First | Newest First

12 of 14 people found the following review helpful
The best satire of discipline and technocracy, February 15, 2001
By Guillermo Maynez (Mexico, Distrito Federal, Mexico) - See all my reviews

This review is from: Captain Pantoja and the Special Service: A Novel (Paperback)

Sometimes, the most serious and deep messages are hidden in the form of light and funny literature (one book that jumps to mind is 'Gulliver's Travels'). In this simply genial novel, the Peruvian military has a problem: the garrisons of the Amazonic regions are very short of women and feeling extremely sexual, so rapes are mounting. This, of course, is bad PR...

The learning process proves problematic for his marriage: since Pantoja knows nothing about the night life, he has to learn it by visiting sodas brothels and buying drinks to informants. Of course, when he starts arriving home in the morning, extremely drunk, his wife gets very disappointed. But he convinces her of the importance and required sacrifices of his new mission.

Eventually, the Special Service becomes the most efficient branch of the military, and it gets famous. The very funniest parts of the book are the official reports where Pantoja informs his superiors of the successes and problems he has in his job. The official language describing absurd and outrageous situations is just great. Of course, things get out of control, with dramatic but funny consequences.

The plot is rapidly developed, with the surfacing of a sect of fanatics as its counterpoint. These sect crucifies people and animals, and the story includes a harsh criticism of the Church as parallel to the Army. The reader wonders: why is it that Vargas Llosa decided to intertwine a satire of military discipline with another one of religious fanaticism? And the conclusion is that it is an extremely smart and witty novel, hilarious and troubling at the same time. The characters are really, really great, including Panta, his wife, her mother-in-law, some of the prostitutes, and some of the officers. Great book by a great contemporary author.
Customer Reviews

Eva Peron

17 Reviews

Average Customer Review

(17 customer reviews)

5 star: (11)
4 star: (2)
3 star: (2)
2 star: (2)
1 star: (0)

Share your thoughts with other customers

The most helpful favorable review

28 of 29 people found the following review helpful

Powerful portrayal of Latin America’s most powerful woman
Eva Peron was born in rural Argentina in 1919. At the age of 15 she made her way to the capital, Buenos Aires, to pursue her dream of cinema stardom. By 26 she was the first lady of the nation, becoming the liaison between the people of Argentina and her husband, Juan Peron. She presided over the creation of the Eva Peron Foundation, the first real welfare system the nation had ever seen (for the first time in Argentine history there was no inequality in health care), created entire cities where thousands of homes were given to the impoverished, pushed for legislation that benefited women (including granting women the right to vote), and challenged just about every notion Latin America had about women’s roles, defying even her husband’s requests that she slow down.

Eva Peron was born in rural Argentina in 1919. At the age of 15 she made her way to the capital, Buenos Aires, to pursue her dream of cinema stardom. By 26 she was the first lady of the nation, becoming the liaison between the people of Argentina and her husband, Juan Peron. She presided over the creation of the Eva Peron Foundation, the first real welfare system the nation had ever seen (for the first time in Argentine history there was no inequality in health care), created entire cities where thousands of homes were given to the impoverished, pushed for legislation that benefited women (including granting women the right to vote), and challenged just about every notion Latin America had about women’s roles, defying even her husband’s requests that she slow down.

Argentina director Juan Carlos Desanzo has decided to focus on the years 1951-52 in Evita's life. She has decided that she would like to become the first female vice president in her country's history, the first in world history. But she has two adversaries: the oligarchy, who would be horrified to see a woman of her "common" background officially recognized; and the military, who would stand for nothing other than the expressed purpose of a female commander in the event of their president's death. Can Evita, with the wild enthusiasm of the people for her candidacy, defeat them? Will her husband support her bid? The majority of EVA PERON is devoted to posing and answering these questions.

Is this the definitive version of Evita? There is no way to know for sure. But I can assure you that the producers succeeded in their attempt to offer a counter-point to the Madonna version, to put more substance to the story. In fact, it's hard to believe the respective movies concern the same figure. Argentine actress Esther Gorts brings Eva Peron to life, amazingly making human a women who has become superhuman, an archetype, a legend, and a myth.

Andrew Parodi

< Previous | 1 | 2 | Next >

Most Helpful First | Newest First

28 of 29 people found the following review helpful

Powerful portrayal of Latin America's most powerful woman,
December 9, 2003

By Andrew Parodi (Oregon, United States) - See all my reviews

This review is from: Eva Peron (DVD)
Customer Reviews
Under the Same Moon (Spanish with English Subtitles)

102 Reviews  Average Customer Review
5 star: (76)  (102 customer reviews)
4 star: (19)  Share your thoughts with others
3 star: (5)  customers
2 star: (6)
1 star: (2)

The most helpful favorable review
56 of 59 people found the following review helpful

A Timely Topic, An Uplifting Film
Sensitive director Patricia Riggen has, in LA MISMA LUNA (UNDER THE SAME MOON), succeeded in creating a story about the travails of the illegal immigrants from Mexico that serves as a reminder to all of us that one of the reasons for the obsession to take the risks of crossing the border is an attempt to find a better life. While this story concept is by no means a novel, it is a well-told story that will leave you thinking about the issues it raises.

Published on June 23, 2008 by Grady Harp

See more 5 star, 4 star reviews

The most helpful critical review
0 of 1 people found the following review helpful

Decent
The movie is predictable with stereotypical characters, such as the gruff man who discovers he has a heart and the boy who captivates everyone with his cute looks and charm. I still liked the film as I was entertained and emotionally invested in the characters. America Ferrera is in this movie for about ten minutes. The ending is perfect.

Published 23 months ago by Angela S.

See more 3 star, 2 star, 1 star reviews

Send us feedback
How can we make Amazon Customer Reviews better for you? Let us know here.
The performance by Adrian Alonso that remains in the mind long after the credits are shown. Some viewers may find this film a bit too 'novella-like', but the magic that Patricia Riggen pulls from her large cast and verismo directing style will touch the hearts of most everyone. A fine little reminder of the other aspects of the immigration topic! Grady Harp, June 08

15 of 15 people found the following review helpful

great educational movie, December 16, 2008

By Nina B. "Nina B." (Southampton, PA) - See all my reviews

This review is from: Under the Same Moon (DVD)

This movie was an excellent addition to my high school Spanish class. It was a good lesson from many perspectives: family values, legal/illegal immigration, culture and class. What was also very good was that the movie did not have any scenes that I needed to "beep out" for my students! It held their attention and they were able to see a current topic from a new perspective.

I highly recommend this movie!

14 of 14 people found the following review helpful

Addresses issues in a way that allows a good film to materialize...,

June 19, 2008

By Steve Kuehl "SLV Video" (Boulder Creek, CA) - See all my reviews

This review is from: Under the Same Moon (DVD)

The numerous discussions here and at other forums over the feelings/issues covered in the film almost make one want to steer away from watching this - "another" immigration film. I hope instead that any movie watcher will see this film anyway and be rewarded with a life-affirming family love story.

The performances, graceful music, relevant locales and (sometimes rushed but believable) scenarios fill the story line with the necessary themes to make this an inspirational film. The Superman song is hilarious as I had never heard it before - great lyrics. The most interesting thing about this experience was my 6-year-old daughter (who speaks only a few words of Spanish) was completely intrigued by the entire piece. The boy actor is obviously ahead of his years, and his expressions and delivery made my girl realize what was happening without even knowing the full dialogue.

The DVD has a decent transfer, and both focus on the disc are worth watching. Docu #1 is over 30 minutes long covering the creation, inspiration and logistics of making the film. Only after watching it did I realize the power of the mother/son relationship showed in the film, even though they shared no scenes together. Docu #2 reveals the artwork/murals created for the film and in respect to the film throughout the Boyle Heights and neighboring areas. For those that revel in the appreciation of mural artwork and the artists behind them - the DVD would be a must-see just for this.

Putting aside all the political and personal issues being written here and elsewhere, I believe the whole family can sit down and watch this film. No work of fiction/reality can capture all of the complexities brushed upon by this movie, but the heart of the message shines through and will make you feel satisfied in the end.

7 of 7 people found the following review helpful

Get the tissues out, May 29, 2008

By Antonio Avila (Orem, UT United States) - See all my reviews

This review is from: Under the Same Moon (DVD)

Excellent movie with strong actors. A moving tale of the Mexican struggle for providing a better life for the rising generation. Despite great sacrifices made from the parents, in this case, single parent.

The experiences Carlos encounters as he crosses the border to be with his mother are not far from the truth, unfortunately.

I wish something could be done to have hard working, honest Hispanics respected with citizenship and/or at least treated more humanely and given the same opportunity as other people with "papers". This movie is a step in the right direction.
Customer Reviews

Viento Negro [NTSC- Region 1 & 4- Import Latin America] David Reynoso

2 Reviews

Average Customer Review
(2 customer reviews)

5 star: (2)
4 star: (0)
3 star: (0)
2 star: (0)
1 star: (0)

Share your thoughts with other customers

2 of 2 people found the following review helpful

A tight well written screenplay and exceptional cinematography.,
June 14, 2010
By R. F. Mungo "Eclectic Listener" (South Pasadena, CA USA) - See all my reviews

Amazon Verified Purchase (What's this?)
This review is from: Viento Negro [NTSC- Region 1 & 4- Import Latin America] David Reynoso (DVD)

Viento Negro offers a tight well written screenplay and engrossing cinematography that is exceptional in the narrative's development.

The story tracks the emotional conflicts that Manuel engages involving his values as un hombre macho in dealings as jefe de cuadril and in establishing a bond with his only son, who seeks his respect.

For the most part the acting and character development is convincing.

It is a film that leaves a lasting impression.

Help other customers find the most helpful reviews
Was this review helpful to you?

Report abuse | Permalink
Comment

I loved it!, November 23, 2011
By pera90 - See all my reviews

This review is from: Viento Negro [NTSC- Region 1 & 4- Import Latin America] David Reynoso (DVD)

It is such a great movie. It had really great actors. Great natural backgrounds to put the movie in since they were natural.

Help other customers find the most helpful reviews
Was this review helpful to you?

Report abuse | Permalink
Comment

Most Helpful First | Newest First

Your Recently Viewed Items and Featured Recommendations

Continue Shopping: Customers Who Bought Items in Your Recent History Also Bought
Customer Reviews
The Motorcycle Diaries (English Subtitled)

311 Reviews
Average Customer Review
(311 customer reviews)

5 star: (144)
4 star: (80)
3 star: (47)
2 star: (12)
1 star: (18)

Share your thoughts with other customers

The most helpful favorable review
263 of 287 people found the following review helpful

"On the Road" with Che Guevara
As most potential viewers know, this film is based on diaries and letters to home written by Ernesto "Che" Guevara during a motorcycle and foot tour of a significant portion of South America during the early 1950s, years before Guevara achieved international renown as a Communist and Latino revolutionary. Thus, the film functions as an attempt to get at the heart of the...

Read the full review
Published on October 3, 2004 by Robert Moore

See more 5 star, 4 star reviews

The most helpful critical review
51 of 62 people found the following review helpful

A Myopic Look at an Iconic Figure
This is a tough review to write because of the subject matter we're dealing with: a militant revolutionary who became Castro's right-hand man during the 1959 Cuban revolt. But here IN THE MOTORCYCLE DIARIES film, we don't see this man; we see instead the formation of the person whom this man (Ernesto "Che" Guevara played by the talented Gael Garcia Bernal) would...

Read the full review
Published on November 27, 2005 by B. Merritt

See more 3 star, 2 star, 1 star reviews

E-mail to a friend

Search Customer Reviews

Only search this product's reviews

Send us feedback

How can we make Amazon Customer Reviews better for you? Let us know here.

Most Helpful First | Newest First

263 of 287 people found the following review helpful

"On the Road" with Che Guevara, October 3, 2004
By Robert Moore (Chicago, IL USA) - See all my reviews

As most potential viewers know, this film is based on diaries and letters to home written by Ernesto "Che" Guevara during a motorcycle and foot tour of a significant portion of South America during the early 1950s, years before Guevara achieved international renown as a Communist and Latino revolutionary. Thus, the film functions as an attempt to get at the heart of the person who preceded the myth. The film is therefore difficult to judge as pure cinema. Is this, on its own merits, a great film? Or is it a great film about Che Guevara? Interestingly, the person I saw this film with knew absolutely nothing about the subject of the film before it started, and did not connect Ernesto Guevara with Che Guevara until very late in the film. Her reaction was interesting. Until she realized that it was about Che, she says that she considered it a decent but only slightly above average "road" picture, but it gained considerably in her estimation once she realized who the film was about. I think she was correct, and I would agree with those who feel that what merits the film has depends to some degree on whom the film is about. If Ernesto hadn't become Che, it would be a good film but of considerably less interest than it is.

The film does a good job of rooting Che's eventual concern with the liberation of the oppressed by depicting his broad and constant encounters with everyday people throughout the continent. Camus wrote that it was important to side with the victims and not the executioners, and in his travels Ernesto spends most of his time with the victims. His near-epic exposure to the continent clearly condition his sympathies and inform his vision. At the end of the film it is easy to understand why Che chose a life dedicated to aiding the oppressed in Cuba and elsewhere. The great question left unanswered, and one reason one can find Che's life morally troubling, is why he felt that the causes he espoused demanded a violent, military response. Why follow in the steps of Trotsky and Lenin rather than Gandhi? Apart from a single line which merely hints that Che felt violence might be necessary, the film doesn't come anywhere close to answering this question.

In many ways, the star of the film is the South American continent. I have seen many films over the years set in one corner of the continent or another, but none provided a panoramic view. This film, however, by swinging through Argentina, Chile,
Peru, Columbia, and Venezuela provides a graphic impression of the continent's immense geographical diversity, expanse, and enormous beauty. I don't think it would be possible to see this film without a deep urge to visit the land. The scene shot in Machu Picchu reveals the incredible beauty of the site better than anything else I have ever seen.

Gael Garcia Bernal is a remarkably handsome, talented young actor, formerly best known for one of the two young men in Y TU MAMA TAMBIEN, and is outstanding in portraying the young Che Guevara. One suspects that his days as an actor in primarily Latin productions is close to an end, his next several projects originating in Hollywood. Rodrigo de la Serna does not have the enormous charisma of Bernal, but he more than holds his own in the film. The cast is rounded out by a large roster of professional and amateur performers.

Che Guevara is such a controversial figure that this film could elicit a host of differing responses. How one will respond to this film will be deeply conditioned by how one views him. But I do think that it is a film that virtually every viewer will respond to with great interest, and I defy anyone not to find the remarkable landscapes anything short of stunning.

22 of 24 people found the following review helpful

Contrary to the review below, June 20, 2005

By Jarika (9th circle)  -  See all my reviews

This review is from: The Motorcycle Diaries (Widescreen Edition) (DVD)

"...I want to offer an almost opposite reaction. Yes, I admit I went into the theater not knowing a) much at all about Che Guevara, or b) that the film was even about Che. I was mesmerized all the way through, by the subtle messages about the plight of working-class Latin Americans, by the sweeping landscapes and by the fantastic performances. Once I (finally) figured out that the Ernesto Guevara in this film was indeed "the" Ernesto Guevara, I thought, "How brilliant." It doesn't set out to portray him as a saint (as a previous reviewer said), or as a villain-in-the-making. It's a very rare thing in cinema, or history studies in general: a portrait of a man as a man. What you make of the path Che later chose as a result of these experiences is a different matter entirely, and one frankly not related to this film at all.

Some have cried, "Would you enjoy a movie that portrayed a young Hitler sympathetically?" My answer: a) that's really not an accurate comparison, and b) maybe, if it were this well written and acted and filmed. Imagine the story of the Beer Hall Putsch told in such a way that we really got into the youthful main character's mind to discover its workings and motivations. It wouldn't excuse what he did, but explain it in a more insightful way than the boiled-down mush we are served in our history books. This is what cinema should be used for more often.

51 of 62 people found the following review helpful

A Myopic Look at an Iconic Figure, November 27, 2005

By B. Merritt "filmreviewsstew.com" (WWW.FILMREVIEWSSTEW.COM, Pacific Grove, California United States)  -  See all my reviews

This review is from: The Motorcycle Diaries (Widescreen Edition) (DVD)

"This is a tough read to write because of the subject matter—we're dealing with a militant revolutionary who became Castro's right-hand man during the 1959 Cuban revolt. But here in THE MOTORCYCLE DIARIES film, we don't see this man; we see instead the formation of the person whom this man (Ernesto "Che" Guevara played by the talented Gael Garcia Bernal) would become. He's a young idealist living in South America when he and a friend (Alberto Granado played by up-and-coming actor Rodrigo de la Serna) decide to take a road trip across the continent before bellying down into their chosen careers in medicine.

The film succeeds in giving us a very myopic view of these two men: Guevara for the initial changes he begins to go through as he witnesses injustices to the low and poor; Granado for his love of women and gauding dedication to Guevara. We travel with them on a 1939 Norton 500 motorcycle (my hat's off to the two actors who had to actually learn to ride one of these behemoths) as they argue with each other over money, their deficient form of transportation, and Guevara's unflinching honesty when asked difficult questions (this is brought into focus when they first meet a man who looks very German in a small village and asks Che and Granado to look at a lump on his neck, which Granado diagnoses as a cyst but Che calls a tumor).

The cinematography was done exceptionally well on a small budget. The beauty of
Plot Summary for Babel (2006) More at IMDbPro

4 interlocking stories all connected by a single gun all converge at the end and reveal a complex and tragic story of the lives of humanity around the world and how we truly aren't all that different. In Morocco, a troubled married couple are on vacation trying to work out their differences. Meanwhile, a Moroccan herder buys a rifle for his sons so they can keep the jackals away from his herd. A girl in Japan dealing with rejection, the death of her mother, the emotional distance of her father, her own self-consciousness, and a disability among many other issues, deals with modern life in the enormous metropolis of Tokyo, Japan. Then, on the opposite side of the world the married couple's Mexican nanny takes the couple's 2 children with her to her son's wedding in Mexico, only to come into trouble on the return trip. Combined, it provides a powerful story and an equally powerful looking glass into the lives of seemingly random people around the world and it shows just how connected we really are. Written by libc

In Morocco, a shepherd buys a powerful rifle for his sons to protect his herd of goats against jackal attack. The younger decides to test the weapon's range of 3 km and shots an American woman in bus. Her husband is trying the reconciliation of their lives through vacation in Morocco. Due to the incident, in San Diego their Mexican maid travels to Mexico with their children for the marriage of her son. Meanwhile in Tokyo, the police tries to contact the former owner of the rifle, and his daughter that is feeling rejected misunderstand the reason of the investigation. Written by Claudio Carvalho, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil

"In Gen. 11:9, the name of Babel is etymologized by association with the Hebrew verb balal, 'to confuse or confound'" (www.wikipedia.org/wiki/Babel)... "Babel", through a series of misunderstandings, interweaves the unfortunate circumstances of a Moroccan, an American, a Mexican and a Japanese family. A Moroccan family acquires a rifle to protect their goats. An American woman, on a bus tour with her husband, is accidentally shot, which is in turn grossly exaggerated by the press who are quick to label the incident as a "terrorist attack". The same couple's children accompany their long-time caretaker to Mexico to attend her son's wedding, where upon re-entering the United States face problems. A Japanese widower confronts difficulties in communicating with his deceased son's girlfriend whom simply cares human contact. Written by Kidol

Hazel

Richard and Susan are a couple from San Diego, California who are vacationing in Morocco while their two children are at home with their Mexican housesitter, Amelia. A rifle finds its way into the hands of a local herdsmen's young sons, who recklessly take a shot at a tour bus and kill Susan in the shoulder, causing her severe injury. The distraught Richard calls home to tell Amelia of the situation, who shortly departs for Mexico to attend her son's wedding, with Richard and Susan's children in tow. Disaster thus multiplies, with the situation in Morocco subdued to terrorists in the media, while Amelia meets with trouble at the Mexican border when she attempts to return to San Diego with Richard and Susan's children. Meanwhile, in Tokyo, a widower tied to the rifle in question, a complex shift of ownership to which the audience is privy, attempts to deal with the memories of his recently deceased wife and his strained relationship with his deceased teenage daughter. Written by allie

Other Info

Box office receipts Release dates Filming locations Technical specs Literature listings NewsDesk

Promotional

Tags Trailers and videos Posters

External Links

Showtimes Official sites Miscellaneous photographs Sound clips

Did You Know?

Trivia

Related Links

Plot keywords User reviews FAQs Parents Guide

User reviews Quotes External reviews Main details

External reviews

Search plots section

FAQ

You may report errors and omissions on this page to the IMDb database managers. They will be examined and if approved will be included in a future update. Clicking the 'Edit page' button will take you through a step-by-step process.

9/27/13 11:31 AM