Is this a shared course? No

If so, list all academic units offering this course

Requested designation: (Choose One)
Note: a separate proposal is required for each designation requested

Eligibility:
Permanent numbered courses must have completed the university's review and approval process. For the rules governing approval of omnibus courses, contact the General Studies Program Office at (480) 965-0739.

Submission deadlines dates are as follow:
For Fall 2014 Effective Date: October 10, 2013
For Spring 2015 Effective Date: March 13, 2014

Area(s) proposed course will serve:
A single course may be proposed for more than one core or awareness area. A course may satisfy a core area requirement and more than one awareness area requirements concurrently, but may not satisfy requirements in two core areas simultaneously, even if approved for those areas. With departmental consent, an approved General Studies course may be counted toward both the General Studies requirement and the major program of study.

Arizona State University Criteria Checklist for

CULTURAL DIVERSITY IN THE UNITED STATES [C]

Rationale and Objectives

The contemporary "culture" of the United States involves the complex interplay of many different cultures that exist side by side in various states of harmony and conflict. The history of the United States involves the experiences not only of different groups of European immigrants and their descendants but also of diverse groups of American Indians, Hispanic Americans, African Americans, and Asian Americans—all of whom played significant roles in the development of contemporary culture and together shape the future of the United States. At the same time, the recognition that gender, class, and religious differences cut across all distinctions of race and ethnicity offers an even richer variety of perspectives from which to view ourselves. Awareness of our cultural diversity and its multiple sources can illuminate our collective past, present, and future and can help us to achieve greater mutual understanding and respect.

The objective of the Cultural Diversity requirement is to promote awareness and appreciation of cultural diversity within the contemporary United States through the study of the cultural, social, or scientific contributions of women and minority groups, examination of their experiences in the U.S., or exploration of successful or unsuccessful interactions between and among cultural groups.

Catalog Description
Tracks the conceptualizations of justice that have been and are currently conveyed in film, including but not limited to the relationship between crime and various notions of justice. Other depictions include social issues such as gender, race, or economics.

Course Overview
Like all media, cinema both reflects and comments upon the people, ideas, culture, society and other events of the time and place in which it was created. As such, it can be seen as one venue where images of social life are communicated. These images may address, for example, appropriate gender behavior, what is heroic or deviant or, most importantly, what constitutes justice in the mediated world.
In this course, we will focus on various conceptualizations of justice (or injustice) as portrayed in film, especially in films that were voted "Best Picture" by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences. Drawing from this arena, we will investigate how these conceptualizations reinforce or challenge the dominant views of justice in society. Thus, we will analyze films from various genres which touch upon issues of social justice through the images of war, heartache, triumph, redemption and relationships. Throughout the semester, we consider how these lenses frame such social issues as race, gender, class, sexuality and (dis)ability. The course will address issues of film theory and history of cinema, drawing heavily from social science theory and research.

Learning Outcomes

At the completion of this course, students will be able to:

- illustrate the historical significance of early cinema and the rise of Hollywood as both a business and an important culture machine.
- identify the elements of the "nostalgic Hollywood blockbuster" and explain how they reflect the dominant ideology in American Films.
- explain why independent film making has been more or less popular at certain historical movements.
- illustrate your understanding of race/ethnicity, class, sexuality, gender and ability as discussed in the text and represented throughout American filmmaking.
- demonstrate increased media literacy and identification of social justice issues in Hollywood films.

Course Topics, Schedule, & Grading

Activities used for instruction and assessment of learning include: discussion board activities; textbook and supplemental readings viewing of feature films; individual activities/assignments; and weekly tests.

Please note that many of the required films for this course are rated "R". If this creates any type of personal conflict for you, please consider withdrawing from the course immediately, as it is not possible to design alternate assignments. Thus, if you remain in the course you are thereby consenting to watch/review and examine the films listed below.

All Written Assignments (including DBs and Final Paper) must be formatted in the following manner and contain the following elements:

- Must be double spaced (as long as DBs can be read clearly, double-spacing may not be necessary)
- Times New Roman or Arial font (only),
- Pages numbered (not including cover page - thus page #1 is the first page of text) - not necessary for DBs,
- Must be in APA format - see http://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/560/01/.

Work in a different font, size or not double-spaced will be subject to lost points. Remember - spelling, grammar, punctuation and appropriate academic writing are all required in each assignment. Please refrain from using contractions "can't, won't, don't" in academic writing. This is an advanced, senior level course and thus all written assignments (including DBs) will be graded with this in mind.

Points in the course:

- Weekly Discussion Boards (20pts each x 7) = 140pts
- Weekly Tests (50pts each x 7) = 350pts
- Final Review Activity Paper (50 pts) = 50pts

Total points = 540 pts

Assignment of letter grades is based on a percentage of points earned. The letter grade will correspond with the following percentages achieved. All course requirements must be completed before a grade is assigned.

Grading Procedure

Grades reflect your performance on assignments and adherence to deadlines. Graded assignments will be available within one week of the due date via the Gradebook. I will be available to review tests with you once the test has closed and all students have completed it. This review will occur via an IM chat arranged at a mutually agreed upon day/time.

Communicating With the Instructor

This course uses a discussion board called "Hallway Conversations" for general questions about the course. Prior to posting a question, please check the syllabus, announcements, and existing posts. If you do not find an answer, post your question. You are encouraged to respond to the questions of your classmates. The Hallway Conversations board should be your first line of inquiry, as your peers can most quickly answer questions of a logistical/scheduling nature.

Email questions of a personal nature to your instructor, Dr. Holman (cholman1@asu.edu). You can expect a response within 24-48 hours. If you do not receive a response from me within 48 hours, please double check the email address you have on your email and resend - I likely did not receive it if it has taken longer than 48 hours for a reply.

Online Course

This is an online course. There are no face-to-face meetings.

Email and Internet

ASU email is an official means of communication among students, faculty, and staff. Students are expected to read and act upon email in a timely fashion. Students bear the responsibility of missed messages and should check their ASU-assigned email regularly.

All instructor correspondence will be sent to your ASU email account.

Course Time Commitment

This three-credit course requires approximately 135 hours of work. Please expect to spend around 18 hours each week preparing for and actively participating in this course.

Late or Missed Assignments

Notify the instructor BEFORE an assignment is due if an urgent situation arises and the assignment will not be submitted on time. Published assignment due dates (Arizona Mountain Standard time) are firm. Please follow the appropriate University policies to request an accommodation for religious practices or to accommodate a missed assignment due to University-sanctioned activities.

Submitting Assignments
All assignments, unless otherwise announced, MUST be submitted to the designated area of LearningStudio. Do not submit an assignment via email.

Drop and Add Dates/Withdrawals

This course adheres to a compressed schedule and may be part of a sequenced program, therefore, there is a limited timeline to drop or add the course. Consult with your advisor and notify your instructor to add or drop this course. If you are considering a withdrawal, review the following ASU policies: Withdrawal from Classes, Medical/Compassionate Withdrawal, and a Grade of Incomplete.

Grade Appeals

Grade disputes must first be addressed by discussing the situation with the instructor. If the dispute is not resolved with the instructor, the student may appeal to the department chair per the University Policy for Student Appeal Procedures on Grades.

Student Conduct and Academic Integrity

ASU expects and requires its students to act with honesty, integrity, and respect. Required behavior standards are listed in the Student Code of Conduct and Student Disciplinary Procedures, Computer, Internet, and Electronic Communications policy, ASU Student Academic Integrity Policy, and outlined by the Office of Student Rights & Responsibilities. Anyone in violation of these policies is subject to sanctions.

Students are entitled to receive instruction free from interference by other members of the class. An instructor may withdraw a student from the course when the student's behavior disrupts the educational process per Instructor Withdrawal of a Student for Disruptive Classroom Behavior.

Appropriate online behavior (also known as netiquette) is defined by the instructor and includes keeping course discussion posts focused on the assigned topics. Students must maintain a cordial atmosphere and use tact in expressing differences of opinion. Inappropriate discussion board posts may be deleted by the instructor.

The Office of Student Rights and Responsibilities accepts incident reports from students, faculty, staff, or other persons who believe that a student or a student organization may have violated the Student Code of Conduct.

Prohibition of Commercial Note Taking Services

In accordance with ACD 304-06 Commercial Note Taking Services, written permission must be secured from the official instructor of the class in order to sell the instructor's oral communication in the form of notes. Notes must have the notetaker's name as well as the instructor's name, the course number, and the date.

Course Evaluation

Students are expected to complete the course evaluation. The feedback provides valuable information to the instructor and the college and is used to improve student learning. Students are notified when the online evaluation form is available.

Syllabus Disclaimer

The syllabus is a statement of intent and serves as an implicit agreement between the instructor and the student. Every effort will be made to avoid changing the course schedule but the possibility exists that unforeseen events will make syllabus changes necessary. Please remember to check your ASU email and the course site often.

Accessibility Statement

In compliance with the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, Section 504, and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, professional disability specialists and support staff at the Disability Resource Center (DRC) facilitate a comprehensive range of academic support services and accommodations for qualified students with disabilities.

Qualified students with disabilities may be eligible to receive academic support services and accommodations. Eligibility is based on qualifying disability documentation and assessment of individual need. Students who believe they have a current and essential need for disability accommodations are responsible for requesting accommodations and providing qualifying documentation to the DRC. Every effort is made to provide reasonable accommodations for qualified students with disabilities.

Qualified students who wish to request an accommodation for a disability should contact their campus DRC.
