| A director's beliefs about the factors important for positive aesthetic experiences are shaped by historical and contemporary movements. Thus, the course emphasizes aesthetic experience by examining major artistic and philosophical influences on Hitchcock's work (e.g., German Expressionism and Soviet editing principles). In addition, the aesthetic experiences of viewers depend importantly on the manner in which the director uses current technology to express and reveal his or her creative vision. Hitchcock used the rapidly evolving technology of filmmaking in highly innovative ways; and these techniques continue to have a major impact on modern filmmakers. Hitchcock's initial move to the U.S. was primarily motivated by the technical innovations in Hollywood that studios in England did not possess. He was particularly fascinated with American lighting techniques for developing depth and space within the shots. Hitchcock's Expressionistic leanings reflect his formative years during this particular art movement's major period. His use of chiaroscuro lighting mirrors the use of that technique by early German filmmakers and of course to the painting techniques used by artists of the Renaissance and Baroque. Hitchcock was also one of the innovators in using color film and adapting new lighting schemes to | adapt to this new media. He was also an innovator in the use of sound and music in his films. Most famous are the strings-only composition by his frequent collaborator, Bernard Herrmann, in Psycho, and his use of electronically produced sounds and music in The Birds. Perhaps most remarkable was the set design of surrealist artist Salvador Dali’s dream sequence in Spellbound, a noteworthy instance of two artists of different mediums collaborating on a single project.

COURSE DESCRIPTION
This course will focus on the career, films, and cinematic and cultural influence of director Alfred Hitchcock.

COURSE OBJECTIVES
Students will recognize Alfred Hitchcock as one of the most influential filmmakers of all time. Only he and Walt Disney have their name associated with a specific genre of film. Hitchcock created innovative techniques in storytelling, fluid camera work, and suspense. The student will analyze in depth several of the director’s most important films technically, thematically, and for the impact on world cinema. Students will also examine the director’s life and its influences on his films and filmmaking techniques. Students will be able to deconstruct and analyze Hitchcock’s films orally and in formal writing assignments in addition to exams.

REQUIREMENTS
1. One 2-3 page critique analyzing the stylistic and technical elements of a Hitchcock film viewed outside of class. Typed, double-spaced, stapled, one inch margins all around. The assignment is attached.
2. Midterm and Final exams. Students MUST provide a Scantron Answer Form No. 19641 for EACH exam, a No. 2 pencil, and a Blue Book. These can be purchased at the campus bookstore. You CANNOT take an exam without these!
3. Class participation. The class is centered on the viewing and discussing of films. Students are expected to give their full attention to the films and to actively participate in discussions.

To get the extra credit, you must have the facilitator of the film you attend sign your program from that film. The signed program (with your name on it) is due the class after you see the film.

• It is the student’s responsibility to ask the instructor for any handouts that may have been missed because of late arrival or absences, and to keep abreast of schedule changes.

• There will be no formal reviews given before the exams. Therefore, it is the student’s responsibility to take detailed notes, watch all of the assigned films, and fully comprehend the reading assignments. Students are encouraged to ask questions and to see the instructor for help outside of class.

• Students caught cheating on exams or assignments will receive a zero on that assignment and be immediately withdrawn from the class, and will be referred to the college administration for possible further disciplinary action.

• Plagiarism will not be tolerated, and students caught plagiarizing will be subject to the actions in the above paragraph. The PVCC Student Handbook states, “Plagiarism includes, but is not limited to, the use of paraphrase or direct quotation of the published or unpublished work of another person without full and clear acknowledgment. It also includes the unacknowledged use of materials prepared by another person or agency engaged in the selling of term papers or other academic materials. Information gathered from the Internet and not properly identified is also considered plagiarism.”

• There are NO EXCEPTIONS to these policies. Read these policies carefully and follow them EXACTLY!!!

ATTENDANCE AND EXAMS

• Attendance and punctuality are vital. If a student is absent from class more than three times, the instructor reserves the right to withdraw the student from the course. Arriving late and leaving early from class are considered absences. Extenuating circumstances will always be considered, although documentation from the student may be necessary. Students may lose Participation points due to absences, tardies, or leaving class early.

• Missed exams may ONLY be made up due to official absences as defined by PVCC. The college defines official absences to include ONLY the following: Official activity of the college, jury duty, subpoenas, death of an immediate family member, and religious holidays.
HUM 216: The Films and Career of Alfred Hitchcock

• With the exception of death of an immediate family member, exams missed due to an official absence must be taken BEFORE the scheduled exam date. It is the student’s responsibility to make arrangements with the instructor at least two weeks in advance. In the case of the death of an immediate family member, the student will arrange with the instructor to take the exam upon their return to class.

• All other absences than those stipulated above are UNOFFICIAL. The college does NOT define as official absences such circumstances as the following: work, illness, personal emergencies, transportation problems, and childcare problems.

WITHDRAWAL FROM CLASS

Although the instructor may withdraw a student who stops attending class, responsibility for official withdrawal rests with the student. The last day for student initiated withdrawal without the instructor’s signature is February 24, 2012. The last day for student initiated withdrawal with the instructor’s signature is April 6, 2012. NO students will be withdrawn after this date. Students withdrawing with a grade of D or F may be given a-Y (withdraw failing).

VIEWING ETIQUETTE

Food and beverages can easily ruin a film for those around you, as well as the carpet, so please do not bring them to class. Also, if you must leave the room during a viewing, please open and close the door quietly. Courtesy is important, so please do not talk during the films. Please turn off your cell phones during class. This includes NO text messaging during class!

Please state which class you are in when sending emails or leaving voice mail. Voice mails and emails left over the weekend will be returned on Monday.

CONTESTING A GRADE

Wait at least twenty-four hours after receiving your grade before making an appointment to meet with the instructor in his office. You are advised to review your class notes and reading assignments. At the meeting, the entire assignment will be open to review, not just the points you are contesting. You have ten working days after the grade is assigned to request a review of the grade. After ten working days, you may still discuss your work with the instructor, but your grade will be final.

SUCCESS IN THIS COURSE

You are responsible for the grade you will earn in this class. It is strongly recommended that you keep track of your grade progress in this class, and if you have questions about it or need help, you will need to contact the instructor. Students need to take notes and completely understand all of the reading assignments. All due dates are firm, and while my expectations of you are high, I am always willing and available to help you throughout the semester. No additional assignments outside of this syllabus will be given to help students wishing to bring up their grades. Also, the films shown in this class are not shown for your personal entertainment, but rather as academic examples of cinema to be analyzed and critiqued in a scholarly manner.

COURSE ADVISEMENT

As this course examines contemporary cinema, some of the films shown contain graphic violence, profanity, nudity, and sexual content. If this presents a concern to the student they will need to reconsider enrollment in this course. No substitute or alternative films or assignments will be given if a student does not want to watch a film presented in class. Please see the instructor with any questions you may have regarding this. Finally, you must be at least 17 years of age to be enrolled in this class. If you’re not you must notify the instructor immediately.

HUM 216: The Films and Career of Alfred Hitchcock
Film Critique

Critique: All critiques MUST by typed, double-spaced, using a 12-point font and no fancy font styles, and 2-3 pages in length. Papers will be graded on content, spelling, grammar, and punctuation. Do not make handwritten corrections. No extra spacing between the title (yes, your critique needs a title) and the body of the paper or between paragraphs. Papers should follow a standard format for a persuasive or argumentative essay. Late papers will NOT be accepted. Please do not put your critique in a folder or use a cover page, but staple it and identify it with the following information in the upper left or right hand corner of your first page:

Your Name
HUM 216, The Films and Career of Alfred Hitchcock
Due Date

Assignment: Choose an Alfred Hitchcock film to watch that we are NOT scheduled to view in class. You will analyze how the film is or is not indicative of the cinematic techniques associated with Hitchcock (i.e. wrong man scenario, MacGuffins, icy blondes, suave leading men, misogyny, violence, mother/son relationships, morality, suspense, voyeurism, etc.) Develop a clear thesis statement based on your viewing and analysis of the film. Support your thesis with specifically described scenes from the film. 100 points possible.

Hint: Include the film’s title and pertinent information in the first paragraph. Film titles are always underlined or italicized. Don’t get carried away with retelling the plot. Remember, a critique is not a review it is an analysis of a particular aspect of a film. In this case, you are analyzing how the film you have selected was or was not made in a typical style by Hitchcock. You are expected to demonstrate in this paper a clear and deep understanding of the techniques, styles, and filmmaking motivations of Alfred Hitchcock. Please make your work original and do NOT rely on your textbook for information (I read it too!) Critiques are due on the date listed on your syllabus.

If you have difficulty with writing, you are strongly encouraged to get assistance at the Learning Support Center in E Building (across from the library). They can help with your writing skills, but you must make an appointment with them in advance and bring your rough draft with you. Their number is 602-787-7180.
