Note: For courses that are crosslisted and/or shared, a letter of support from the chair/director of each department that offers the course is required for each designation requested. By submitting this letter of support, the chair/director agrees to ensure that all faculty teaching the course are aware of the General Studies designation(s) and will teach the course in a manner that meets the criteria for each approved designation.

- Is this a permanent numbered course with topics? No
- Chair/Director Initials (Required)

Course description: Focuses on urban development of Paris and Florence from 1100-1500 through interdisciplinary analysis of literature, art, monuments, and socio-political phenomena

Requested designation: Mandatory Review: Yes

- Humanities, Arts and Design-HU

Note: A separate proposal is required for each designation.

Eligibility:

Permanent numbered courses must have completed the university’s review and approval process.

For the rules governing approval of omnibus courses, contact Phyllis.Lucie@asu.edu.

Submission deadlines dates are as follow:

- For Fall 2016 Effective Date: October 1, 2015
- For Spring 2017 Effective Date: March 10, 2016

Area(s) proposed course will serve:

A single course may be proposed for more than one core or awareness area. A course may satisfy a core area requirement and more than one awareness area requirements concurrently, but may not satisfy requirements in two core areas simultaneously, even if approved for those areas. With departmental consent, an approved General Studies course may be counted toward both the General Studies requirement and the major program of study.

Checklists for general studies designations:

Complete and attach the appropriate checklist:

- Literacy and Critical Inquiry Core Courses (L)
- Mathematics Core Courses (MA)
- Computer/Statistics/Quantitative Applications Core Courses (CS)
- Humanities, Arts and Design Core Courses (HU)
- Social-Behavioral Sciences Core Courses (SB)
- Natural Sciences Core Courses (NS/SG)
- Cultural Diversity in the United States Courses (C)
- Global Awareness Courses (G)
- Historical Awareness Courses (H)

A complete proposal should include:

- Signed course proposal cover form
- Criteria checklist for General Studies designation(s) being requested
- Course catalog description
- Sample syllabus for the course
- Copy of table of contents from the textbook and list of required readings/books

It is respectfully requested that proposals are submitted electronically with all files compiled into one PDF.

Rationale and Objectives

The humanities disciplines are concerned with questions of human existence and meaning, the nature of thinking and knowing, with moral and aesthetic experience. The humanities develop values of all kinds by making the human mind more supple, critical, and expansive. They are concerned with the study of the textual and artistic traditions of diverse cultures, including traditions in literature, philosophy, religion, ethics, history, and aesthetics. In sum, these disciplines explore the range of human thought and its application to the past and present human environment. They deepen awareness of the diversity of the human heritage and its traditions and histories and they may also promote the application of this knowledge to contemporary societies.

The study of the arts and design, like the humanities, deepens the student’s awareness of the diversity of human societies and cultures. The arts have as their primary purpose the creation and study of objects, installations, performances and other means of expressing or conveying aesthetic concepts and ideas. Design study concerns itself with material objects, images and spaces, their historical development, and their significance in society and culture. Disciplines in the arts and design employ modes of thought and communication that are often nonverbal, which means that courses in these areas tend to focus on objects, images, and structures and/or on the practical techniques and historical development of artistic and design traditions. The past and present accomplishments of artists and designers help form the student’s ability to perceive aesthetic qualities of art work and design.

The Humanities, Arts and Design are an important part of the General Studies Program, for they provide an opportunity for students to study intellectual and imaginative traditions and to observe and/or learn the production of art work and design. The knowledge acquired in courses fulfilling the Humanities, Arts and Design requirement may encourage students to investigate their own personal philosophies or beliefs and to understand better their own social experience. In sum, the Humanities, Arts and Design core area enables students to broaden and deepen their consideration of the variety of human experience.

<td>The goal of this course is to demonstrate the ways in which beliefs and values shaped urban layout, building, literature, politics, education, religion, and commerce in medieval Paris and Florence. Every lesson teaches students to interpret texts, artworks, and monuments in light of these cities' rich histories. Each class meeting involves analysis of literary texts and analysis of works of art and monuments. This analysis occurs in the lectures, and in group activities undertaken by students (see &quot;Description,&quot; p. 1, and &quot;Schedule,&quot; pp. 3-4). For example, in the first lecture on religion in medieval Paris (&quot;Schedule,&quot; Week 5, p. 3), students read Suger's account of the reconstruction of Saint-Denis and also analyze images of this church's sculpture, stained glass, and ground plan. Weekly quizzes, the mid-term, and the final also require analysis of texts, works of art, and monuments (see &quot;Assignments and Grading,&quot; p. 2).</td>

<td>As the &quot;Texts&quot; (p. 1) and &quot;Schedule&quot; (pp. 3-4) sections show, the majority of the readings are primary texts from the twelfth to fifteenth centuries, and include some of the most significant works of Western literature: John of Salisbury's Poliaticus, Dante's Inferno, Villani's Chronicle, and Christine de Pizan's Book of the City of Ladies, among others. In quizzes, in-class activities, and the mid-term and final exams, students are required to analyze these works in relation to the themes of the class (politics, education, religion, commerce). For example, the literary tradition of the chronicle recurs throughout the semester, from Caesar, to Suger's account of the reconstruction of Saint-Denis, to Villani. Students are asked throughout the semester to compare and contrast the ways in which different historiographers write about Paris and Florence, and thus learn about the relationship between chronicle writing and</td>

Paris and Florence in the Middle Ages (1100-1500)
Spring 2017

Description

This course examines the parallel development of Paris and Florence, two of the most powerful and influential cities in medieval and Renaissance Europe, between the years 1100 and 1500. We will focus on how Paris, a royal seat and later national capital, and Florence, a city-state and mercantile center, offer contrasting examples of urban societies adapting their political, religious, educational, and commercial institutions to new needs and challenges. Topics we will address include these cities’ Roman origins and their impact on later development, secular and spiritual authority, the rise of Gothic architecture, the early history of the university, the growth of vernacular writing and literacy, the influence of classical thought, the development of the monetary economy, urban religious practices, and the creation of hospitals and charitable institutions. We will work mainly with primary documents, including charters, chronicles, memoirs, poems, plays, and sermons, and with maps, works of art, and monuments that will allow us to study how urban space and culture developed together. Our goal is to take students on a walk through these historical cities and to make the ideas that shaped them come alive for contemporary debates about how to foster healthy urban environments.

Learning Outcomes

The goal of this class is to familiarize students with the history of the material and cultural development of Paris and Florence in the Middle Ages. Upon completing this course, students will: 1) Be able to identify, describe, and discuss major monuments, sites, and artworks in Paris and Florence; 2) Be able to identify the styles and periods to which monuments, sites, and artworks belong; 3) Be able to articulate the influence of socio-historical contexts on monuments, sites, and artworks in Paris and Florence; 4) Be able to apply methods of architectural and visual analysis; 5) Be able to discuss major literary works related to the history of Paris and Florence.

Assignments and Grading

1) Weekly Quizzes (40%): Each week there will be a short quiz based on the readings, or on images placed on the BlackBoard site. You may drop one quiz grade, or have one unexcused absence on the day of a quiz, but not both. Please note that make-up quizzes will not be given.

2) Mid-Term Exam (25%): The mid-term exam will consist of A) identifications of terms, objects, monuments, or people; and B) essay questions requiring comparison of different aspects of Paris and Florence. A study sheet will be provided one week before the exam. There is no make-up mid-term exam. If you are unable to attend the exam because of illness or a family emergency, you must contact one of the professors BEFORE the exam. Students must take both exams in order to receive credit for the course.

3) Final Exam (25%): The final exam will consist of A) identifications of terms, objects, monuments, or people; and B) essay questions requiring comparison of different aspects of Paris and Florence. A study sheet will be provided one week before the exam. There is no make-up final exam. If you are unable to attend the exam because of illness or a family emergency, you must contact one of the professors BEFORE the exam. Students must take both exams in order to receive credit for the course.

4) Attendance (10%): You will be expected to come to class on time with the reading materials needed. Two late arrivals will count as one unexcused absence; three unexcused absences will drop your final grade one step (i.e. B → B-). For information on excused absences related to religious observances/practices, see ACD 304–04 “Accommodations for Religious Practices”; for information on excused absences related to university sanctioned events activities, see ACD 304–02 “Missed Classes Due to University-Sanctioned Activities.”

Final grades are calculated as follows: A+=98%-100% ; A=93%-97% ; A-=90%-92% ;
B+=87%-89% ; B=83%-86% ; B-=80%-82% ; C+=75%-79% ; C=70%-74% ; D=65%-69% ;
E=0%-64%.

BlackBoard

There is a BlackBoard site on which we will put the readings, syllabus, assignments, images, and announcements. This site should be consulted before each weekly quiz.
Graduate Credit

Those taking the course for graduate credit will complete a 5- to 7-page research paper related to the topics covered in the course, in addition to the work listed above. Those taking the course for graduate credit in French will write the paper in French.

Cell Phones and Electronic Devices: Before class begins turn off all cell phones, iPods, or other devices that might make noise. Use of computers in class should be limited to note taking and the citing of Paris-Florence online materials (i.e. no web-browsing or email checking). Violation of this policy will adversely affect your grade.

Plagiarism and Academic Integrity: According to the Student Academic Integrity Policy, every assignment that the student completes must be her/his own work and created specifically (only) for this class. Plagiarism may result in a failing grade for the assignment or for the course, or in expulsion from the University. Definitions of plagiarism and ways to avoid it are available at: https://provost.asu.edu/academicintegrity.

Special Needs: If you are in need of special accommodation for assignments or exams, please communicate this to Professor Cruse or Professor Vitullo at the beginning of the semester to assure that your needs are met. In order to guarantee the necessary accommodation, you must present documentation from the Disability Resource Center (DRC). Students who feel they will need disability accommodations in this class but have not registered with the Disability Resource Center should contact DRC immediately. The DRC Tempe office is located on the first floor of the Matthews Center Building. DRC staff can also be reached at: (480) 965-1234 (V) or (480) 965-9000 (TTY). For additional information, visit: www.asu.edu/studentaffairs/ed/drc.

Policy against Threatening Behavior: All incidents and allegations of violent or threatening conduct by an ASU student (whether on or off campus) must be reported to the ASU Police Department (ASU PD) and the Office of the Dean of Students. If either office determines that the behavior poses or has posed a serious threat to personal safety or to the welfare of the campus, the student will not be permitted to return to campus or reside in any ASU residence hall until an appropriate threat assessment has been completed and, if necessary, conditions for return are imposed. ASU PD, the Office of the Dean of Students, and other appropriate offices will coordinate the assessment in light of the relevant circumstances.
