Survey of the history of Western dance in Europe and America. Emphasis is on the history of ballet and modern dance since the Renaissance. However, reference is made to vernacular dance forms and to the contributions of, and relationships to, dance traditions from various other cultures to reveal the richness of the subject (through classes, for instance, that focus on dance in India, and contributions by African-American, Jewish, Hispanic and Asian-American dancers). Connections are also made to the other arts and philosophical trends. Students will learn about various ways of conducting research into dance history, including interviewing, researching using primary resources, and performing scholarship. Dance historiography will also be studied in the course as a means of revealing how the discipline has been constructed by dance scholars.

Arizona State University Criteria Checklist for

HISTORICAL AWARENESS [H]

Rationale and Objectives

The lack of historical awareness on the part of contemporary university graduates has led recent studies of higher education to call for the creation and development of historical consciousness in undergraduates now and in the future. From one perspective historical awareness is a valuable aid in the analysis of present-day problems because historical forces and traditions have created modern life and lie just beneath its surface. From a second perspective, the historical past is an indispensable source of national identity and of values which facilitate social harmony and cooperative effort. Along with this observation, it should be noted that historical study can produce intercultural understanding by tracing cultural differences to their origins in the past. A third perspective on the need for historical awareness is summed up in the aphorism that he who fails to learn from the past is doomed to repeat it. Teachers of today's students know well that those students do not usually approach questions of war and peace with any knowledge of historic concord, aggression, or cruelty, including even events so recent as Nazi and Stalinist terror.

The requirement of a course which is historical in method and content presumes that "history" designates a sequence of past events or a narrative whose intent or effect is to represent such a sequence. The requirement also presumes that these are human events and that history includes all that has been felt, thought, imagined, said, and done by human beings. The opportunities for nurturing historical consciousness are nearly unlimited. History is present in the languages, art, music, literatures, philosophy, religion, and the natural sciences, as well as in the social science traditionally called History.

Guiding Principles and agreed on rules will be established collectively at the beginning of the course. Such elements as: Attendance and Punctuality are expected at classes unless acceptable reasons are provided. Grades will otherwise be deducted for consistent lateness. The student may arrange in advance to hand in work late or to miss a class if an appropriate reason is given. Absences are taken into account in grading and more than two unexplained absences may lead to a failing grade. See School of Dance Attendance Policy below. Attendance is taken the beg. of every class.

A contract of mutually agreed upon course principles/code of conduct will be drawn up at the beginning of the class. These are expected to be followed throughout the course. Students are always free to withdraw from the course as per university guidelines.
SCHOOL OF DANCE ATTENDANCE POLICY

Absences: The number of absences a student is permitted during a semester is based upon the number of times a class meets per week. For example, in a class meeting twice a week, a student has two absences that are excused; if the class meets three times a week, three absences are excused. No penalty to the student’s grade will be incurred for these excused absences. If a student exceeds the number of permissible absences, then the student’s final grade will be lowered for each additional absence 1/3 of a letter grade according to the plus/minus scale. Thus, an A+ would drop to an A and so on.

Tardiness: Students will be penalized if late. The instructor will keep a record of each student’s tardies. Three tardies equate one absence. Therefore, frequent tardies may lead to the lowering of a student’s final grade as directed by the absence policy.

SCHOOL OF DANCE INCOMPLETE POLICY

Incomplete

Incomplete are awarded for the most special circumstances and are not handed out freely. Students who wish to apply for an incomplete must schedule an appointment with the Director through the Administrative Associate during the mid term period (480-965-5029). Each incomplete is considered on a case by case basis to determine the extent to which they are warranted. There is no guarantee that incompletes negotiated after this time will be approved.

The School of Dance does not advocate giving incompletes to students, particularly in non-majors’ classes except for exceptional circumstances. Additionally the student must be in good standing (grade is a C or higher) at the time the incomplete request is made. If you think an incomplete may be necessary for a student, contact the Dance Office to discuss this option with the appropriate personnel before proceeding. The maximum grade students will receive upon completion of incomplete requirements is B+.

Students taking this class to fulfill an incomplete from a previous semester must meet with the instructor the first day of class to discuss the conditions for fulfilling the incomplete assignments. Students that do not inform the instructor at that time may not receive credit toward the completion of work performed in the class. The maximum grade students will receive upon completion of incomplete requirements is B+.

ACADEMIC DISHONESTY

All necessary and appropriate sanctions will be issued to all parties involved with plagiarizing any and all course work. Plagiarism and any other form of academic dishonesty that is in violation with the Student Code of Conduct will not be tolerated. For more information, please see the ASU Student Academic Integrity Policy:

http://www.asu.edu/studentaffairs/studentlife/judicial/academic_integrity.htm

SPECIAL ACCOMMODATIONS

Any student needing a special course-related accommodation due to a physical and/or learning impairment must bring this to the attention of the instructor with appropriate documentation within the first 2 weeks of class so that learning needs can be addressed effectively. Students must contact the ASU Disability Resource Center (http://www.asu.edu/studentaffairs/ed/drc/
Recommended Contract of Class Principles and Rules of Conduct

Absences
For this class, only two absences are excused. No penalty to the student’s grade will be incurred for these excused absences. If a student exceeds the number of permissible absences, then the student’s final grade will be lowered for each additional absence 1/3 of a letter grade according to the plus/minus scale. Thus, an A+ would drop to an A and so on.

Acceptable reasons for absences, however, will include the following:
- Family Responsibilities / Emergency
- Medical Reason
- Car Accident
- Emergency
- University-Sanctioned Activities

Inform Dr. Jackson within 48 hours before or after absence via email.

Any absence from class or examinations due to the above reason does not relieve students from responsibility for any part of the course work required during the period of the absence.

Tardiness
This class tardy policy considers seven minutes late to be tardy. Students will be penalized if late. Three tardies equate one absence. Therefore, frequent tardies may lead to the lowering of a student’s final grade as directed by the absence policy.

Showing Respect and Diversity Opinion
Together as a class, we will cultivate a safe environment for one’s voice through showing respect and acknowledging the diversity opinion in class.

Use of Cell phone
Unless expecting an emergency call, please no use of cell phone in class
(Please step outside of classroom to answer the call).

Use of Laptop
Allowed only for class purposes.

Talking in class
Allowed only when it is class related (for example, during a discussion).

Sleeping
No sleeping is allowed in class.

Eating
Eating is allowed as long as it is not disturbing to the class.
Engagement with Readings and Class Discussions: 5 PART PROCESS

Please use the following as a guide for all readings and class discussions. You will be handing these to a partner for quick commentary after classes and periodically to the instructor:

1) Outline the main content points regarding the topic – these may consist of “facts” or stated arguments. Do you notice any contradictions or places of tension or alignment?

2) Choose one (or more) ‘facts’ or arguments to further research outside of class to see how another sources addresses it/them. Follow up on this for the next class and report back on it to your partner/class.

3) Make note of how the discussion relates to your own previous information, methodology. Make at least 1 connection to something else you are aware of/have been thinking about. Note how there is either confluence or dissonance between ideas presented, or some other kind of relationship to your own thoughts/feelings.

4) Reflect on how the reading/discussion may influence a way that you approach either making a dance, or dancing or art making or working in your particular discipline. Demonstrate through a sketch in some medium (dance, music, writing, etc.) that reflects the influence.

5) Document question(s) raised by the reading/discussion that may lead to further creative or scholarly research and reflection.

You will be analyzing a copy of Dance Magazine published before 1970 and summarizing and commenting on the contents. The purpose of this exercise it is to see how much dance occurs at any one time, and to see perspectives of a particular time period. You are encouraged to comment on everything including the design of the magazine, the featured articles, the advertisements, the companies who performed during the month, etc. You will have to do extra research on the writers of the articles, as well as companies you are not familiar with, and the editor at the time of the magazine.
