HST 351: Renaissance Europe

Course Description
HST 351 is a historical survey of the European Renaissance, the movement of cultural rediscovery and geographic expansion that stretched between 1350 and 1550. Using a combination of primary sources (Machiavelli, Cellini, Castiglione) and secondary historiography (Ferraro's Marriage Wars in Late Renaissance Venice, Lunenfeld's 1492: Discovery, Invasion, and Encounter, plus supplementary readers online), the course addresses such themes as the rise of the Italian city-states and their political and artistic culture; the persecution of witches; the beginnings of the scientific revolution, and female participation in it; and the start of European overseas expansion.

Meeting Historical Awareness Criteria
HST 351 meets the criteria for the General Studies “Historical Awareness” designation by (1) introducing students to a significant epoch and movement in European history, the Renaissance; (2) by studying the Renaissance in terms of institutions – Churches, city-states, aristocratic courts, monarchical states, scientific academies – as they changed over time; and (3) by placing Renaissance ideas and art in their broader historical, political, social, and economic contexts.
Proposer: Please complete the following section and attach appropriate documentation.

Course Description: The European Renaissance was a time of great change and diversity. It was an era of discovery, exploration, and expansion, not only in geography but also in politics, economics, religion, art and science. Throughout the semester, students will examine both primary and secondary sources in order to gain access to the world of both the great minds of the era and the common man/woman alike. Each week, we will unravel one aspect of this complex and dynamic period that transpired in the years between 1350 and 1550. Major themes of the course will include sexuality and marriage, state building and war craft, developments in artistic expression, courtly behavior, deviance and witchcraft, and the cultural ramifications of the exploration of the New World.

Attendance is mandatory and will be taken each session. Class time will be divided into lecture, primary source analysis and discussion, and occasional film clips. Please come prepared to discuss the assigned readings.

Like all works in progress, this syllabus is subject to change. I will communicate with you well in advance of any alterations.
Important Notes:
- Please do not arrive late to class; if you are regularly late, I will ask you to leave. If you must be late, choose a seat that will not disrupt the rest of the class.
- Turn off and put out of sight all electronic devices before coming to class (cell phones, i-pods, etc.). No text messaging in class.
- If you choose to use a computer, it must only be for taking notes. If it comes to my attention that you are using your computer for other purposes, the entire class will be prohibited from bringing computers to class.
- Please be courteous of those around you and refrain from conversation with your neighbors. If you disrupt the class, I will ask you to leave. If you nap in class, I will ask you to leave.
- If you choose to contact me through email, for questions or concerns about the course, I do ask that you use a courteous tone. I also ask that you understand that I check my email once a day (usually in the morning) during the week, and sporadically during the weekend. Therefore you must plan accordingly and understand if my response is not immediate.

All assignments must be completed on the designated due date. No exceptions are made. I do not accept late papers, and do not offer “make up” exams. You must complete ALL assignments to pass the course; failure to fulfill an assignment results in an immediate “E.” I will not grant any incompletes for this course. Plagiarism and cheating will be taken very seriously. If I have discovered that you have been dishonest in any way you will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of university policy.

If you have any problems complying with these expectations it is imperative that you come visit me in office hours and discuss your options – or drop the class. You must let me know of any complications (personal or otherwise) that would impede your success in this course so that we may find a solution. Otherwise, you should note that ALL GRADES ARE FINAL AND NON-NEGOTIABLE.
