Course description:
Is this a cross-listed course? No
Is this a shared course? No
If yes, please identify course(s):
If so, list all academic units offering this course:

Note: For courses that are crosslisted and/or shared, a letter of support from the chair/director of each department that offers the course is required for each designation requested. By submitting this letter of support, the chair/director agrees to ensure that all faculty teaching the course are aware of the General Studies designation(s) and will teach the course in a manner that meets the criteria for each approved designation.

Is this a permanent-numbered course with topics? Yes

If yes, all topics under this permanent-numbered course must be taught in a manner that meets the criteria for the approved designation(s). It is the responsibility of the chair/director to ensure that all faculty teaching the course are aware of the General Studies designation(s) and adhere to the above guidelines.

Requested designation: Social-Behavioral Sciences–SB
Mandatory Review: (Choose one)

Note- a separate proposal is required for each designation.

Eligibility: Permanent numbered courses must have completed the university’s review and approval process. For the rules governing approval of omnibus courses, contact Phyllis.Lucie@asu.edu.

Submission deadlines dates are as follow:
For Fall 2018 Effective Date: October 1, 2017
For Spring 2019 Effective Date: March 10, 2018

Area(s) proposed course will serve:
A single course may be proposed for more than one core or awareness area. A course may satisfy a core area requirement and more than one awareness area requirements concurrently, but may not satisfy requirements in two core areas simultaneously, even if approved for those areas. With departmental consent, an approved General Studies course may be counted toward both the General Studies requirement and the major program of study.

Arizona State University Criteria Checklist for

SOCIAL-BEHAVIORAL SCIENCES [SB]

Rationale and Objectives

Social-behavioral sciences use distinctive scientific methods of inquiry and generate empirical knowledge about human behavior, within society and across cultural groups. Courses in this area address the challenge of understanding the diverse natures of individuals and cultural groups who live together in a complex and evolving world.

In both private and public sectors, people rely on social scientific findings to consider and assess the social consequences of both large-scale and group economic, technological, scientific, political, ecological and cultural change. Social scientists' observations about human interactions with the broader society and their unique perspectives on human events make an important contribution to civic dialogue.

Courses proposed for a General Studies designation in the Social-Behavioral Sciences area must demonstrate emphases on: (1) social scientific theories, perspectives and principles, (2) the use of social-behavioral methods to acquire knowledge about cultural or social events and processes, and (3) the impact of social scientific understanding on the world.

FSH 204 - Social Aspects of Fashion

Course Description
Introduces ways of examining clothing and fashion in context. How do we read images and representations of clothing and how do they manipulate the meaning of the garment and its wearer? In what ways is this visual language used to select and produce fashion? What influences how we dress on a daily basis and over time? These are just some of the questions about appearance, clothing and culture that are used to embark on a participatory research project and as a point of departure for class discussions and related readings.

Syllabus

Fashion is not in dresses only. Fashion is in the sky, in the street, fashion has to do with ideas, the way we live what is happening.
Coco Chanel

Course Description: This course examines US society and global cultures in relation to identity, dress and fashion. This course compares culture specific elements and the role that dress plays in these cultural experiences. Diverse cultural perspectives and values including social, economic, political and psychological dimensions between and among different groups play a significant role in the way that people dress and value clothing. Cultural diversity and social behaviors among gender, racial, ethnic groups influence what dress is worn in different regions and among different groups. This course uses theories and critical analysis to generate empirical knowledge about human behavior and its relation to dress. Understanding the diverse nature of individuals and groups and their cultural and social values helps students gain valuable perspectives on cultural behaviors and their impact on dress.

Enrollment Requirements
Students must have completed their Freshman Composition requirements and ARS 101: Art-Prehistory thru Middle Age or ARS 102: Art from Renaissance to Present or ARS 201: Art of Asia or ARS: 202 Art of Africa Oceania and the Americas.

Course Goals: At the conclusion of this course you will be able to identify and discuss a wide range of issues related to culture, clothing and human behavior. The process will prepare you to examine and construct your own critical views based on scholarly research and critical analysis preparing you to be conscious and innovative fashion/image makers.
Learning Outcomes:
Upon completion of this course, students will be able to:

- Use key research methods and concepts in fashion theory, and present critical analyses in written and oral form.
- Demonstrate an awareness of how meaning is constructed in fashion and the ability to apply these concepts to situations across a broad range of cultural concepts.

Required reading:
Additional readings will be provided

Requirements and assessment:
This course is made up of a series of weekly lecture/discussions building on the assigned readings. A final paper is required.

Attendance and in-class participation: 75 points
Presentation—25pts X 2= 50 points
Cultural event Critical Analysis: 125 points
Final paper: 150 points
Total: 400 points

Your semester grade is based on the following scale:

390 or higher = A+
370-389.9 = A
360-369.9 = A-
350-359.9 = B+
330-349.9 = B
320-329.9 = B-
310-319.9 = C+
280-309.9 = C
260-279.9 = D
0-259.9 = E

Class Presentation and Discussion Starter: 25 points each X 2 = 50 total points
Each student will sign up for two class presentations based on chapter readings. A signup sheet will be circulated during the first week of class for you to choose the dates and readings to fulfill this requirement. All presentations take place on Thursdays. On your assigned date you will present to the class a summary of the selected article in your own words accompanied by 5 power point images. Prepare a series of points or questions to start the class discussion on this topic. Every student should read the articles for that week and will be expected to participate in the discussion.
Cultural Event Critical Analysis: 125 points

Due: April 11

Students will attend either a local fashion related cultural event exhibition or fashion related exhibition, lecture, special event, film or the like and write a 1,000 word paper that provides a critical analysis of the exhibition/event. The body of the paper will give a description of the cultural exhibition/event and find correlations between the event and topics covered in the course. Use the course materials to find the correct terms and theories for a detailed discussion and critique of the event in correlation to an idea/s presented in the course. This is a chance for you to demonstrate your understanding of the ideas and information in the course material by applying them to current events. Site sources and use at least two additional articles or readings in addition to the course textbook to support your points. Use the paper format outlined below.

Final paper: 200 points

Due: February 21 Submit outline for final paper
March 25 submit final paper

You will write a 1,500-1,800 word paper that provides an analysis of a cultural aspect that impacts fashion. Choose current fashion topic or image and analyze the cultural factors behind its creation and its meaning in contemporary society. Even though the paper will be short, you will be able to fit a lot of information, write clearly, and use at least 5 library resources to back up your points and theories. Choose a theme, focus or context that is important and is related to something covered in your readings and may be of particular interest to you.

Paper Format.

• Attach a cover sheet with your name and title
• Use Ariel or Calibri 12 point font. Single space.
• Only printed copies will be accepted.
• If you are writing about an article, photo or image please include that as an attachment to the paper.
• Use Chicago manual of style

Assessment and Grading:
All assignments are due on the due date on the syllabus, regardless of your attendance on the day the assignment was given. If the paper is turned in late the grade will be lowered by an entire letter grade for each week. The final paper will not be accepted late. This course covers the General Studies Literacy requirement therefore editing and content will be part of your evaluation. After writing your paper, read it for content, flow and coherence. Correct spelling counts.

Course policies
You are expected to attend all class sessions. Because attendance counts for 100 of the total 400 points for the course, a single absence will lower your point total, reducing your semester grade by as much as half a letter grade.

Absence Due to University Sanctioned Activities or Religious Observances
If you need to miss class due to a religious observance or a university-sanctioned activity, please inform the instructor at the beginning of the semester. In the event of a medical emergency, please email the instructor when able and provide documentation if requested.

Academic Integrity
ASU expects and requires its students to act with honesty, integrity, and respect. Required behavior standards are listed in the Student Code of Conduct and Student Disciplinary Procedures, Computer, Internet, and Electronic Communications policy, ASU Student Academic Integrity Policy, and outlined by the Office of Student Rights & Responsibilities. Anyone in violation of these policies is subject to sanctions.

Violent or Threatening Behavior
All incidents and allegations of violent or threatening conduct by an ASU student (whether on- or off-campus) will be reported to the ASU Police Department (ASU PD) and the Office of the Dean of Students, who will determine the appropriate disciplinary action.
Accommodation for a Disability
In compliance with the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, Section 504, and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, professional disability specialists and support staff at the Disability Resource Center (DRC) facilitate a comprehensive range of academic support services and accommodations for qualified students with disabilities.

Qualified participants with disabilities may be eligible to receive academic support services and accommodations. Eligibility is based on qualifying disability documentation and assessment of individual need. Participants who believe they have a current and essential need for disability accommodations are responsible for requesting accommodations and providing qualifying documentation to the DRC. Every effort is made to provide reasonable accommodations for qualified participants with disabilities.

Qualified participants who wish to request an accommodation for a disability should contact http://www.asu.edu/studentaffairs/ed/drc/480-965-1234 (Voice)
480-965-9000 (TTY)

Please turn off or silence cell phones, pagers, and PDAs prior to coming to the face-to-face class sessions. If you have an emergency and need to keep in communication with someone, please inform your instructor ahead of time. Also, laptops are not required for this course. You may use your laptop to take notes. Please do not use class time for emails, chats, web browsing, or other non-class related activities.
