HUMANITIES, ARTS AND DESIGN [HU]

Rationale and Objectives

The humanities disciplines are concerned with questions of human existence and meaning, the nature of thinking and knowing, with moral and aesthetic experience. The humanities develop values of all kinds by making the human mind more supple, critical, and expansive. They are concerned with the study of the textual and artistic traditions of diverse cultures, including traditions in literature, philosophy, religion, ethics, history, and aesthetics. In sum, these disciplines explore the range of human thought and its application to the past and present human environment. They deepen awareness of the diversity of the human heritage and its traditions and histories and they may also promote the application of this knowledge to contemporary societies.

The study of the arts and design, like the humanities, deepens the student’s awareness of the diversity of human societies and cultures. The arts have as their primary purpose the creation and study of objects, installations, performances and other means of expressing or conveying aesthetic concepts and ideas. Design study concerns itself with material objects, images and spaces, their historical development, and their significance in society and culture. Disciplines in the arts and design employ modes of thought and communication that are often nonverbal, which means that courses in these areas tend to focus on objects, images, and structures and/or on the practical techniques and historical development of artistic and design traditions. The past and present accomplishments of artists and designers help form the student’s ability to perceive aesthetic qualities of art work and design.

The Humanities, Arts and Design are an important part of the General Studies Program, for they provide an opportunity for students to study intellectual and imaginative traditions and to observe and/or learn the production of art work and design. The knowledge acquired in courses fulfilling the Humanities, Arts and Design requirement may encourage students to investigate their own personal philosophies or beliefs and to understand better their own social experience. In sum, the Humanities, Arts and Design core area enables students to broaden and deepen their consideration of the variety of human experience.

Instructional Materials and References:

(Text required)

Attendance:

Students are expected to attend all scheduled classes and to participate actively in discussing the assigned material. Attendance is essential because the lectures and discussions will be from resource materials and not a rehash of the text. Attendance will affect how well you do in class, it is expected that you attend class. If you miss a class, it is your responsibility to make sure you receive any missing assignments or handouts. My attendance policy is simple. If you miss four classes for any reason during the semester you cannot pass and will be withdraw from the class.

Withdrawal Policy:

Important: If you do not complete the check-in assignments within the first week of the course, you will be withdrawn. Students who do participate for two (2) weeks consecutively cannot pass the course and will need to withdraw for non-attendance.

Participation is defined as follows:

1. Submitting assignments on or before due dates.
2. Participating in discussions over the course of a due date.
3. Completing Journals on or before due dates.
4. Attending class

Please Read: If you start the class and then decide to withdraw you must do one of the following:

1. Go to campus and drop the course if it is still in the drop/add period.
2. Drop the course online if it is still in the drop/add period.
3. Email me and request a withdrawal during the period when only your professor can initiate a withdraw. If your point total is above 60% you will be issued a "WP" (withdraw passing). If your point total is below 60% you will be issued a "Y" (withdraw failing). I do not assign the letter grade "F". If you fail the class a "Y" will be assigned (withdraw failing).
4. Withdraws will not be accepted during the week of final exams.

Classroom Policy:

It is very important for you to attend class and take notes. It is expected all students will maintain a professional attitude in class. These two rules will be strictly enforced.

Do the work correctly the first time, there will be NO “extra credit”. Should you have a concern in taking an essay exam or any assignment please make an appointment. Should you have a concern about the grade you received on any assignment, I will be happy to show you how to improve your work, however, don’t come to me wanting your grade changed. You are expected to develop strong communication skills (writing, listening, discussion, etc.). All skills that help forward professional and career objectives.

The following will be enforced during the semester:

Do Not Disrupt the class by leaving during the class; doing so could withdraw you from the class. If you need to leave early must be approved before the start of class. If you are feeling sick before class don’t attend.

Technology like laptops, smartphones and tablets cannot be used during class (Disability form exception). This policy has been added due to the number of complaints from students of previous classes.

Smartphones, cell phones out of sight and turned off. Putting your smartphone on your lap is not an accepted means of “out of sight.” Students who are caught using phones during class will lose 10 points for each occurrence. Third occurrence will result with a letter to the Dean of Students.

How students engage with the material/Course:

Unit Discussion: every week the class is required to research a set of questions pertaining to the period. The 1st post students are required to research the questions using the textbook, Internet, JSTOR and any other references.

Unit Discussion: 2nd post the students are required to read their classmates posts and the professor’s and to engage in the material by

   a) Describe three common themes in the discussion.
   b) Describe two new ideas learned in the discussion.
   c) After researching and reading the period how do they now perceive the period.

Student Teachback assignment: Students are required to research a specific period. They are required to do extensive research using academic sources, minimum of four.

Student Teachback post: All students are required to review the research submitted. The students engage in the material:

   a) What insight was gained, minimum of three examples.
   b) How did the topic contribute to the period discussed.

Journals: Articles are posted in the course for student’s analysis. Students engage with the material by

   a) Discuss key arguments from the reading.
   b) Students required to use critical thinking (histography) to look differently at the period (subject).

Conclusion: Assignments require the students to engage with one another, rather than throwing assignments into cyberspace.

Guidelines for first Unit discussion post:
1. Minimum 350 word response.

2. Important you will not see your classmates first post until you submit your first post.

3. When researching the first Unit discussion use your text, files in the Modules and of course any outside material. When using outside material cite the references at the bottom of the post. When a topic discussion thread includes the required textbook you are required to include two short quotes from the text with page number cited.

4. When using the Internet DO NOT use wikipedia for any of your references. However it can be used as a starting point. Look toward the bottom of the page there usually are some good link sources.

5. When using your favorite search engine try the following (ex. Henry VIII.edu) by using the .edu extension it will bring up educational web sites.

6. Use the MCC library database. Two sites in particular, JStor and the History Reference Center.

7. I participate in the Unit discussions. Be sure you are looking for my post because I usually will give a different perspective on the topic.

8. I am interested in critical thinking and not a copy and paste of textbook facts. Critical thinking, the ability to look differently and with an open mind about a subject.

9. Academic responses with detail and specifics to support your argument, not personal comments!

   Guidelines for second Unit discussion Pos
Since you are required to read your classmates ideas (posts) you cannot make the second post until I have submitted my second post. If you make your second post before I post my second it will be factored in as your first post.

I mentioned in my welcome letters that we are a learning community. This means we learn from each other. Your earlier history was taught nationalistically and here we look at the history from different perspectives. The second post is your concluding remarks about the topic.

1. Read your classmates first post along with my first and second posts.

2. Minimum 200 word response

3. Was there a constant theme in the discussion?

4. What different ideas were brought out in the discussion?

5. How do you now perceive this period after reading the posts submitted and from your research?

6. When submitting your second post reply to your first (original) post. DO NOT create a new message!

7. You cannot make a second Unit discussion post until you have submitted your first post.

8. The thirty (30) points for the Unit discussions are the combination of both posts. Important DO NOT put these questions in your post. Use these questions to help prepare when writing your second post.

Unitdiscussion:GreatBritainandWorldWar I

Discuss the Britain’s road to World War I. Research Britain’s mobilization of resources and population at the start of the war. Discuss the “home front” especially the role of women. Discuss two British poets of World War I, provide examples and symbolism of the poetry.

Guidelines for Student Teachback assignment:
During the semester, each student is required to submit one Student Teachback project. Student Teachback is a college research assignment on a specific topic (topics below, only one student per topic). To remain registered in the class you must submit topic by Thursday Aug. 22 (11:59 pm). You are only required to submit the topic not the assignment.

1. This is a college research project where you are required to use your text, files in Canvas, MCC library database and outside materials (google books). Two links in the MCC database that should be considered JSTOR and History Reference Center. Make sure you use both primary and secondary material.

2. I will send the class an example PowerPoint during the first week of the semester.

3. Do not copy and paste text.

4. Graphics are strongly suggested since we are all visual learners. Graphics must be related to the time period researched. PowerPoint should be between nine (9) and twelve (12) slides, excluding cover and reference slides.

5. Assignment must be completed in Microsoft PowerPoint and have an extension of either .ppt or .pptx

6. The last slide is your reference cited slide and is a must for grade! Minimum of five (5) references, not all Internet sites. The MCC library database is not an Internet source but a database.

7. When the PowerPoint assignment is completed the assignment use the attachment in this link. I will view the PowerPoint for accuracy and publish the PowerPoint in the topic teachback post link in the Modules.

Topic:

| Oliver Cromwell & Glorious Revolution | What changes (political, social and religious) did Oliver Cromwell make in England were the key events that lead to the Glorious Revolution in England. What was the e |

---
Guidelines for submitting Student Teachback post:

1. Everyone is required to view all Student Teachback PowerPoints submitted by your classmates. Announcement will be posted when first PowerPoint has been submitted.

2. When submitting your post you are not critiquing the PowerPoint but responding to the research submitted by your classmate.

3. Points will only be given on the academic response of the post.

4. The author of the PowerPoint is also required to make one post. The post shares in detail your favorite part of the research. You do not need to wait for any classmates to post before making your post.

5. The PowerPoint will be an attachment located in the Teachback/Microteach post link. Look for the topic in the Module.

6. Complete this assignment only if your classmate submitted the assignment. If the Teachback/Microteach assignment was not submitted I will remove the link.
