| Prefix: HST | Number: 306 | Title: Studies in US History (Outlaws, Indians & Ladies of the West) | Units: 3 |

Course description:

Is this a cross-listed course? No

If yes, please identify course(s):

Is this a shared course? No

If so, list all academic units offering this course:

Note- For courses that are crosslisted and/or shared, a letter of support from the chair/director of each department that offers the course is required for each designation requested. By submitting this letter of support, the chair/director agrees to ensure that all faculty teaching the course are aware of the General Studies designation(s) and will teach the course in a manner that meets the criteria for each approved designation.

Is this a permanent-numbered course with topics? Yes

If yes, each topic requires an individual submission, separate from other topics.

Requested designation: Cultural Diversity in the United States - C

Mandatory Review: Yes

Note: a separate proposal is required for each designation.

Eligibility: Permanent numbered courses must have completed the university’s review and approval process. For the rules governing approval of omnibus courses, contact Phyllis.Lucie@asu.edu.

Submission deadlines dates are as follow:

- For Fall 2020 Effective Date: October 10, 2019
- For Spring 2021 Effective Date: March 5, 2020

Area proposed course will serve:

A single course may be proposed for more than one core or awareness area. A course may satisfy a core area requirement and more than one awareness area requirements concurrently, but may not satisfy requirements in two core areas simultaneously, even if approved for those areas. With departmental consent, an approved General Studies course may be counted toward both the General Studies requirement and the major program of study. It is the responsibility of the chair/director to ensure that all faculty teaching the course are aware of the General Studies designation(s) and adhere to the above guidelines.

Checklists for general studies designations:

Complete and attach the appropriate checklist

- Literacy and Critical Inquiry core courses (L)
- Mathematics core courses (MA)
- Computer/statistics/quantitative applications core courses (CS)
- Humanities, Arts and Design core courses (HU)
- Social-Behavioral Sciences core courses (SB)
- Natural Sciences core courses (SQ/SG)
- Cultural Diversity in the United States courses (C)
- Global Awareness courses (G)

Rationale and Objectives

The contemporary "culture" of the United States involves the complex interplay of many different cultures that exist side by side in various states of harmony and conflict. The history of the United States involves the experiences not only of different groups of European immigrants and their descendants but also of diverse groups, including, but not limited to, American Indians, Latinos, African Americans, and Asian Americans—all of whom played significant roles in the development of contemporary culture and together shape the future of the United States. At the same time, the recognition that gender, class, and religious differences cut across all distinctions of race and ethnicity offers an even richer variety of perspectives from which to view ourselves. Awareness of our cultural diversity and its multiple sources can illuminate our collective past, present, and future and can help us to achieve greater mutual understanding and respect.

The objective of the Cultural Diversity requirement is to promote awareness and appreciation of cultural diversity within the contemporary United States through the study of the cultural, social, or scientific contributions of women and minority groups, examination of their experiences in the U.S., or exploration of successful or unsuccessful interactions between and among cultural groups.

*Gender groups would encompass categories such as the following: women, men, lesbians, gays, bisexuals, transgender individuals, etc.

Cultural, racial, ethnic, and/or linguistic minority groups in the U.S. would include categories such as the following: Latinos, African Americans, Native Americans/First Peoples, Asian Americans, Jewish Americans, Muslim Americans, members of the deaf community, etc.
The course explores Mexicans, Mexican-Americans, African Americans, and Native Americans in the historical and contemporary American West. It also gives significant attention to the experiences of women.

The reading, The American West explores multicultural contributions to the American West, and see many weeks, including Week 2, which explores the Comanches' interactions with Anglo settlers, Week 4, which explores Mexican American settlement in Texas as well as the contested transition to Anglo/United States control; Week 12, which investigates the Battle of Little Bighorn and the Native American leader Crazy Horse, and week 11, which explores female sex workers in Montana as part of a larger discussion of the possibilities and constraints on women in the West. These conflicts are all necessary to understanding the way cultural memories function in the contemporary West (and larger US) as well as to understanding contemporary conflicts over land and water rights.

Each of the essays requires students to explore the contributions of individuals, events/objects, and films that emerge from the mingling of cultures in the West. Week Six explores the political consequences of crime, including interethnic crime, in the West, as well as the creation of the "queen of the outlaws" paradigm, which holds cultural resonance in contemporary America. Each week requires students to discuss the interactions between Native Americans and settlers, with attention to legal and extralegal frameworks -- those in turn shed light on politics and psychology. The concluding weeks of the course (14-16) attend to the psychological consequences of the "closing" of the West, the end of Chief Joseph's campaign, and the movement to reservations.
HST 306 - Topic: Outlaws, Indians & Ladies of the West

Course Description

The course addresses the myth and reality of the Wild West involving outlaws, Indians and women. In a series of case studies involving Americans, Indians, Mexicans, and African Americans, various topics address the conflicts and cultural exchanges of philosophies, religions, ethics, and worldviews. The course examines how early newspapers, dime novels and early literature depicted western heroes as well as what they wore and their tools had to be redesigned to meet the demand western environment. Ethnographic and historical analysis are tools of inquiry to demonstrate how individuals living in the West perceived things, used their logic and their distinct personalities in making decisions that made western history dynamic are objectives of the course.

Specialized topics in United States history. Explores regions, cultures, and issues in history, and their interpretation in historical scholarship.

TEXTBOOKS:

GRADING SYSTEM: Three grades will be averaged equally for the final grade, based on three exams. Approximately one week before each exam, or earlier, a study guide of 50 important terms, themes, and a dozen sample essay questions will be handed out.

Each exam will consist of two parts: The first part will be 20 fill in the blank answers from the 50 terms that I will select from the Study Guide. Each answer is worth three points for 60% of the exam. The second part of the exam is responding to 1 of 2 essay questions worth 40 points (40% of the exam) [write at least 2 or more pages using facts, themes and analysis]

There is an extra credit opportunity for up to ten points before each exam. It is writing a 3-4 page double space essay on the assigned topic.

The First Essay, “Three Individuals Who Made the Wild West,” is due Sep 17.
The Second Essay, “Three Things that Changed the West,” is due October 22.
The Third Essay, “These Three Films Defined the Old West,” is due November 19.

Submit a hard copy of 3-4 pages on the date when it is due. In each essay, compare and contrast your choices to make an argument based on facts, themes and analysis. The correct optional short essay needs to be turned on the due date, and there is no credit if you turn in the wrong essay, or if you turn it in late.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY: Plagiarism “means using another’s words, ideas, materials or work without properly acknowledging and documenting the source. Students are responsible for knowing the rules governing the use of another’s work or materials and for acknowledging and documenting the source appropriately.” (From the Provost website http://provost.asu.edu/academicintegrity)
Class Attendance is expected in this course for understanding themes and concepts, thus affecting your grade as well as participation in class discussions. The Make-Up Exam Policy is that there will be no make-up exams, (only with the exception of a doctor’s written excuse). 90-100 = A; 80-89 = B; 70-79 = C; 60-69 = D; Below 60 = E. There are no pluses and minuses for the final course grades.
