Rationale and Objectives

The humanities disciplines are concerned with questions of human existence and meaning, the nature of thinking and knowing, with moral and aesthetic experience. The humanities develop values of all kinds by making the human mind more supple, critical, and expansive. They are concerned with the study of the textual and artistic traditions of diverse cultures, including traditions in literature, philosophy, religion, ethics, history, and aesthetics. In sum, these disciplines explore the range of human thought and its application to the past and present human environment. They deepen awareness of the diversity of the human heritage and its traditions and histories and they may also promote the application of this knowledge to contemporary societies.

The study of the arts and design, like the humanities, deepens the student’s awareness of the diversity of human societies and cultures. The arts have as their primary purpose the creation and study of objects, installations, performances and other means of expressing or conveying aesthetic concepts and ideas. Design study concerns itself with material objects, images and spaces, their historical development, and their significance in society and culture. Disciplines in the arts and design employ modes of thought and communication that are often nonverbal, which means that courses in these areas tend to focus on objects, images, and structures and/or on the practical techniques and historical development of artistic and design traditions. The past and present accomplishments of artists and designers help form the student’s ability to perceive aesthetic qualities of art work and design.

The Humanities, Arts and Design are an important part of the General Studies Program, for they provide an opportunity for students to study intellectual and imaginative traditions and to observe and/or learn the production of art work and design. The knowledge acquired in courses fulfilling the Humanities, Arts and Design requirement may encourage students to investigate their own personal philosophies or beliefs and to understand better their own social experience. In sum, the Humanities, Arts and Design core area enables students to broaden and deepen their consideration of the variety of human experience.

A) Watch the FILM GANDHI BY RICHARD ATTENBOROUGH and answer the posted questions in the Discussion Board

AND

B) VISIT AN EASTERN CULTURAL, RELIGIOUS, or ARTS CENTER on-site visit report of Eastern religious/cultural center

The course activities are excellent opportunities for you to learn and understand Asian culture, religion and heritage. The best learning is always done outside the classroom from the community.

1. Choose to visit any a place of worship, or cultural or art center of Asia near where you live. It could be a Hindu Temple, or a Gurdawara (for Sikhism, an offshoot of Hinduism), or Iskon (Offshoot of Hindu Temple) or a Buddhist temple, or a Japanese shrine, or a Chinese temple, or a Mosque, or if you are in Phoenix, you can visit the Museum of Asian Art. Your visit must be to a non-western center. If you choose any other site than what is mentioned below, you must check with me, before you plan your visit. Without Instructor permission of your chosen site, you will not get the points for your extra-credit.

2. Visit any of the above institution and witness a ceremony of worship, and take a tour of the premises. You must take lots of pictures (with permission, if needed). Your pictures must demonstrate proof of your visit, that could include a picture of purchased ticket, or your profile in front of the entrance to the center or place of visit.

3. Write a detailed report of at least 1000 words, your reflection of the ceremony, the language used, the mode or method of worship used, the presence or absence of idols, explanation of idols or symbols used, the dress and manner of the worshippers, the ambiance of the temple or shrine, architecture, museum, images, partaking of food and so on. Lastly, what did you learn about the religion/culture/heritage of Asia from your visit?

4. You are also expected to take pictures of place you visited. Please make sure to request permission to take photographs of your visit, the ceremony or of the building, interiors and so on.

5. Please submit your assignment by the deadline to receive your points. The deadline is mentioned in the Course Schedule. You can get up to 40 points as extra-credit for this activity. But you must submit a written report and upload photographs of your visit that demonstrates that you visited the center to get points.

6. Please read the websites below for information on religious events that might be of interest to you. You can also try calling them up or visiting them directly. All institutions are open to the public. Take a camera with you, as pictures are required for this project.
