College/School: College of Liberal Arts and Sciences
Department/School: Geographical Sciences and Urban Planning

Prefix: PUP
Number: 425
Title: Urban Housing Issues
Units: 3

Course description:

Is this a cross-listed course? Yes
If yes, please identify course(s): PUP 525 Urban Housing Issues

Is this a shared course? No
If so, list all academic units offering this course: N/A

Note: For courses that are crosslisted and/or shared, a letter of support from the chair/director of each department that offers the course is required for each designation requested. By submitting this letter of support, the chair/director agrees to ensure that all faculty teaching the course are aware of the General Studies designation(s) and will teach the course in a manner that meets the criteria for each approved designation.

Is this a permanent-numbered course with topics? Yes

If yes, each topic requires an individual submission, separate from other topics.

Requested designation: Social-Behavioral Sciences - SB
Mandatory Review: Yes

Note: a separate proposal is required for each designation.

Eligibility: Permanent numbered courses must have completed the university’s review and approval process. For the rules governing approval of omnibus courses, contact Phyllis.Lucie@asu.edu.

Submission deadlines dates are as follow:
For Fall 2021 Effective Date: October 2, 2020
For Spring 2022 Effective Date: March 5, 2021

Area proposed course will serve:
A single course may be proposed for more than one core or awareness area. A course may satisfy a core area requirement and more than one awareness area requirements concurrently, but may not satisfy requirements in two core areas simultaneously, even if approved for those areas. With departmental consent, an approved General Studies course may be counted toward both the General Studies requirement and the major program of study. It is the responsibility of the chair/director to ensure that all faculty teaching the course are aware of the General Studies designation(s) and adhere to the above guidelines.

Checklists for general studies designations:
Complete and attach the appropriate checklist
- Literacy and Critical Inquiry core courses (L)
- Mathematics core courses (MA)
- Computer/statistics/quantitative applications core courses (CS)
- Humanities, Arts and Design core courses (HU)
- Social-Behavioral Sciences core courses (SB)
- Natural Sciences core courses (SQ/SG)
- Cultural Diversity in the United States courses (C)
- Global Awareness courses (G)
- Historical Awareness courses (H)

A complete proposal should include:
- Signed course proposal cover form
- Criteria checklist for General Studies designation being requested
- Course catalog description
- Sample syllabus for the course
- Copy of table of contents from the textbook and list of required readings/books

Proposals must be submitted electronically with all files compiled into one PDF.

| Criteria 1                | The course addresses basic understanding and knowledge about human interaction in the housing market. The course begins by establishing housing as a setting for human social interaction and cultural reproduction. We also early on address how housing market outcomes are shaped by social relationships (e.g., with landlords, lenders, neighbors, etc.), a theme that we expound on in depth in addressing the causes and consequences of racial and ethnic discrimination in the housing market. We continue to revisit these themes in exploring two crises of housing -- low income rental housing affordability and foreclosures -- by identifying the dynamics among people contributing to these crises and how difficulty paying for and staying in housing shapes residential decision making and mobility. Finally, we end the course by discussing what | Course Overview [Syllabus p. 1]
Course Learning Outcomes [Syllabus p. 2]
Module 1: Learning Materials, particularly the lectures Use vs. Exchange Values of Housing, where we discuss the role of housing in social and cultural reproduction and Housing as a Relationship Driver and Opportunity Shaper, where we discuss the different actors involved in the housing market and how relationships among these actors shape housing market outcomes.
Module 1: Reflection: This assignment has students reflect on how their behaviors are shaped by where they live.
Module 2: Learning Materials, particularly the Spivak reading, which explores human interaction in multigenerational households, and the Interactive Media, which encourage students to explore current popular media relating to human interaction in housing markets.
Module 2: Reflection: This assignment has students reflect on human interaction in multigenerational households.
Module 3: Learning Materials, particularly the lectures Housing Markets and Submarkets and Supply and Demand Dynamics, which establish housing markets as dynamic aggregations of individuals’ choices and behaviors.
Module 4: Learning Materials, particularly the lectures Causes of Segregation in the Housing Market and Outcomes of Segregation, which establish that relationships among people lead to disparities in access to housing and that these disparities can shape socioeconomic outcomes. |

Textbook: Most of the required readings address how human interaction, including uncoordinated, informal interactions among neighbors, more formalized relationships between housing providers and residents, and relationships among stakeholders in the policy making process, jointly shape our housing market outcomes. Example chapters from the textbook include the Introduction, Trends, Patterns, and Problems, Fair Housing & Community Reinvestment, and The Foreclosure Crisis and Policy Response [Syllabus pg. 2; also see Modules]
Housing planning and policymaking is an interdisciplinary social science field. The theoretical foundations have roots in geography, economics, political science, sociology, and history. Examples include attention to problems of spatial segregation and concentration (geography), supply and demand dynamics (economics), how policies reflect unique and dynamic political-economic contexts (political science), the role that neighborhoods play in socioeconomic mobility (sociology), and how historical events, such as wars, recessions, and social movements, shape housing opportunities and outcomes, which, given the durability of housing, can be "read" in urban landscapes today (history).

Geography:

Course Overview [Syllabus p. 1]
Module 1: Learning Materials; Interactive Media, which have students explore a series of interactive maps.
Module 1: Reflection, which has students explore how their geography affects their access to opportunities and how access differs geographically.
Module 2: Kneebone & Lou reading, which explores changing regional geographies of race and ethnicity.
Module 4: Learning Objectives and Learning Materials, particularly Measuring Racial Segregation in the Housing Market lecture, the Black-White Segregation… reading, National Segregation and Isolation Weighted Averages and Metro Area Segregation Trends 2010 handouts, and the Interactive Media (which expose students to interactive maps showing geographical trends).
Module 4: Reflection, which has students consider how geographical location affects life outcomes.
Module 5: Learning Materials, particularly the Interactive Media, which have students explore how housing affordability and stability vary geographically. The New America reading also has visually communicates geographic differences in eviction rates.
Module 6: Learning Materials, particularly the Extent of the Foreclosure Crisis lecture, which addresses geographic disparities in housing instability.
Module 7: Learning Materials, particularly the Interactive Media, which have maps that allow students to explore geographical differences in policy tools

Economics:

Course Overview [Syllabus p. 1]
Course Learning Outcomes [Syllabus p. 2]
Module 1: Learning Materials; Use vs. Exchange Values lecture.
Module 2: Dougherty and Koeze readings, which address supply and demand dynamics and macroeconomic trends
Module 3: Learning Objectives & Learning Materials, including Badger & Bui and Haag and Rubinstein readings, Housing as a Unique Commodity, Housing Markets and Submarkets, Supply and Demand Dynamics, and Housing Filtering lectures, which introduce students to basic micro and macro economic concepts and dynamics that relate to the housing market.
Module 3: Discussion, which has students debate the ethics of applying economics models in practice.
Module 5: Learning Materials, particularly the Reagor reading, which addresses supply and demand dynamics, and the Joint Center for Housing Studies' Interactive Media, which addresses how the pandemic changed economic indicators. The Garland and National Low-Income Housing Coalition readings also convey dynamics between incomes, rents, and affordability.
Module 6: Learning Materials, particularly the Schwartz readings, which address the interaction between government subsidies and the strength of household, local, and regional economies.
Module 7: Learning Materials, particularly the Schwartz reading and the Rethinking Homeownership Finance and Shared or Limited Equity Homeownership lectures, which cover different financial models to further stability in homeownership.

Political Science:

Module 4: Learning Materials, particularly the Policy Responses lecture and ASU Expert: Affirmatively Furthering Fair Housing reading, which addresses political dynamics affecting interventions in the housing market.
Module 5: Learning Materials, particularly the 1937 and 1949 Housing Acts and Poverty Deconcentration lectures, which address the role of political dynamics in the evolution of low-income housing policies.
Week 6: Learning Materials, particularly the Schwartz readings, which address the impact of partisan politics on approaches to homeownership.

Sociology:

Course Overview [Syllabus p. 1]
Course Learning Outcomes [Syllabus p. 2]
Module 1: Learning Materials; Housing as a Relationship and Opportunity Driver lecture, which addresses the role of social relationships in housing market outcomes.
Module 2: Reflection, which has students reflect on how household formation affects socioeconomic outcomes.
Module 4 Learning Objectives & Learning Materials, particularly the Schwartz reading, Explaining Differences in Neighborhood Quality, and the Interactive Media, particularly the How Decades of Racist Housing Policy reading and map, which addresses disparities in housing access affect health and other life chances.
Module 4: Reflection, which has students reflect on how neighborhoods affect life chances.
Module 5: Learning Materials, particularly the Poverty Deconcentration lecture, which has students reflect on the benefits and drawbacks of investing in poor communities vs. helping poor people move to more affluent communities on poor people's life chances. Also the She Works Two Jobs video, which shows how housing stability shapes wellbeing.
Module 5: Reflection, which encourages students to critically assess how housing design and community structure affects residents' life chances.
Module 5: Discussion, which has students to take a stance on whether investing in poor communities or relocating poor people to more affluent communities is better for residents' life chances.
Module 5: Discussion, which encourages students to think about how housing tenure affects household and community wellbeing and social networks.

History:

Course Overview [Syllabus p. 1]
Module 1: Learning Materials; Historical Role of U.S. Housing Policymaking and Planning lecture, which addresses roles that planners have played in the housing market over the 20th century.
Module 4: Learning Materials, particularly the Schwartz reading and the Causes of Segregation in the Housing Market and Outcomes of Segregation lectures, and the Interactive Media, particularly the Mapping Inequality and How Decases of Racist Housing Policy resources, which show the role of historical racial discrimination in current segregation trends.
Module 4: Reflection, which introduces students to how past racially discriminatory housing policies affect people's access to housing, even today.
Module 5: Learning Materials, particularly the Schwartz Public Housing reading and the 1937 and 1949 Housing Acts and Poverty Deconcentration lecture, which address the historical evolution of low-income housing policies.
Module 5: Reflection, which exposes students to a famous historical case of public housing and explores the role of changing social, political, and economic context in housing policymaking.
| Criteria 4 | Students are exposed to diverse forms of social and behavioral data and perspectives in the course. Students learn the stories of how people live in and navigate housing markets, and how planners, developers, and policymakers shape them, through news media, videos, podcasts, statistics, policy reports, scholarly literature, and interactive maps. Students gain bottom-up and top-down perspectives in the course (i.e., from residents and developers/policymakers). Students also are exposed to diverse racial and ethnic, economic, and disciplinary perspectives (i.e., Blacks and Whites, poor people and middle income households, geographers and economists). |

Course Information

Course Description: Nature, dimensions, and problems of urban housing, government policy environment, and underlying economics of the housing market.

Course Overview: Housing planning is at a turning point in the United States. We are in the throes of a global pandemic, which is threatening the housing stability of millions of households. We have also failed to make progress in providing affordable and accessible homes for renters, particularly people of color. This course will explore current housing trends and the workings of the free market, along with problems of racial discrimination and segregation in housing. We will also address the causes and effects of current crises of low-income rental housing affordability and unsustainable homeownership, with a focus on the planning and policy decisions that brought us to this point. Outcomes on social welfare, and possible responses. By the end of the class, you will have the theoretical and historical context, as well as the writing and policy analysis skills, to begin to tackle the most pressing housing issues of our time.

Credits: 3
Prerequisites:

- PUP 301
- Minimum 45 hours

Course Learning Outcomes

At the completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. Identify the primary functions of housing
2. Describe current trends in housing
3. Explain how the housing market works
4. Describe the causes and consequences of housing segregation
5. Analyze current housing crises
6. Propose feasible solutions to current housing crises

- Webcam, microphone, headset/earbuds, and speaker
- Microsoft Office (Microsoft 365 is free for all currently-enrolled ASU students)
- Reliable broadband internet connection (DSL or cable) to stream videos.

Note: A smartphone, iPad, Chromebook, etc. will not be sufficient for completing your work in ASU Online courses. While you will be able to access course content with mobile devices, you must use a computer for all assignments, quizzes, and virtual labs.

Help

For technical support, use the Help icon in the black global navigation menu in your Canvas course or call the ASU Help Desk at +1-(855) 278-5080. Representatives are available to assist you 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

Student Success

To be successful:

- check the course daily
- read announcements
- read and respond to course email messages as needed
- complete assignments by the due dates specified
- communicate regularly with your instructor and peers
- create a study and/or assignment schedule to stay on track
- access ASU Online Student Resources

Extra Credit

Undergraduate students have the opportunity to earn 30 points extra credit through the Discussion Board assignment and by joining and contributing to an Emerging Housing Issues group, starting in Week 2. Graduate students have the opportunity to earn 10 points extra credit by joining and contributing to an Emerging Housing Issues group, starting in Week 2. There are no other extra credit opportunities for the class.

Submitting Assignments

All assignments, unless otherwise announced, MUST be submitted to the designated area of Canvas. Do not submit an assignment via email.

Assignment due dates follow Arizona Standard time. Click the following link to access the Time Converter (http://www.thetimezoneconverter.com/) to ensure you account for the difference in Time Zones. Note: Arizona does not observe daylight savings time.

Please see below for a detailed list of course assignments. Note that some assignments are completed only by undergraduate ("Undergrad Only") or graduate ("Grad Only") students.
Grading Procedure

Grades reflect your performance on assignments and adherence to deadlines. Grades on assignments will typically be available within one week of the due date in the Gradebook.

Late or Missed Assignments

Assignment due dates are suggested; assignments will be accepted without penalty up until Sunday 4/25 at 11:59p MST. Students who plan to submit assignments late must email Prof. Pfeiffer an estimated alternate date for submission. However, it is highly recommended to submit assignments by their suggested due dates to ensure that you make sufficient progress and do not become overwhelmed at the end of the class. Keep in mind that no assignments will be accepted after Sunday 4/25 at 11:59p MST. Students who foresee difficulty meeting this final deadline should consult with Prof. Pfeiffer well in advance to discuss options.

Follow the appropriate University policies to request an accommodation for religious practices (http://www.asu.edu/aad/manuals/acd/acd304-04.html) or to accommodate a missed assignment due to University-sanctioned activities (http://www.asu.edu/aad/manuals/acd/acd304-02.html).

Communicating With the Instructor and TA

TA

The TA for this course is Teresa Garcia (Teresa.R.Garcia@asu.edu).

Teresa is a second year Masters of Urban and Environmental Planning student in the School of Geographical Sciences and Urban Planning. You can learn more about Teresa here (https://sgsup.asu.edu/teresa-garcia). Teresa will assist with grading undergraduate students’ 1) Discussion Board Original Entry and Reactions and 2) Reflections. Questions about completing these assignments should first be addressed to Teresa.

Community Forum

This course uses a discussion topic called "Community Forum" for general questions and comments about the course. Prior to posting a question or comment, check the syllabus, announcements, and existing posts to ensure it's not redundant. You are encouraged to respond to the questions of your classmates.

Email questions of a personal nature to your instructor or TA. You can expect a response within 24 hours on weekdays (Monday through Friday). Note that the instructor does not typically respond to emails over the weekend. Emails sent after 5p on Friday will usually be answered by 5p the following Monday.

Chat

The Chat tool in Canvas allows students and teachers to interact in real time. Use Chat only for informal course-related conversations unless your instructor informs you otherwise. Chat is not ideal for questions about assignments; instructors are not required to monitor it and conversations may be buried or lost.

Email

ASU email is an official means of communication among students, faculty, and staff. Students are expected to read and act upon email in a timely fashion. Students bear the responsibility of missed messages and should check their ASU-assigned email regularly.

All instructor correspondence will be sent to your ASU email account.

Reporting Title IX Violations

Title IX is a federal law that provides that no person be excluded on the basis of sex from participation in, be denied benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any education program or activity. Both Title IX and university policy make clear that sexual violence and harassment based on sex is prohibited. An individual who believes they have been subjected to sexual violence or harassed on the basis of sex can seek support, including counseling and academic support, from the university. If you or someone you know has been harassed on the basis of sex or sexually assaulted, you can find information and resources at https://sexualviolenceprevention.asu.edu/faqs.
As a mandated reporter, I am obligated to report any information I become aware of regarding alleged acts of sexual discrimination, including sexual violence and dating violence. ASU Counseling Services, https://eoss.asu.edu/counseling is available if you wish to discuss any concerns confidentially and privately. ASU online students may access 360 Life Services, https://goto.asuonline.asu.edu/success/online-resources.html.

Academic Integrity

Academic honesty is expected of all students in all examinations, papers, and laboratory work, academic transactions and records. The possible sanctions include, but are not limited to, appropriate grade penalties, course failure (indicated on the transcript as a grade of E), course failure due to academic dishonesty (indicated on the transcript as a grade of XE), loss of registration privileges, disqualification and dismissal. For more information, see http://provost.asu.edu/academic-integrity.

Be careful to fully reference material that you draw from other sources in all assignments. Quoting or drawing from the ideas or images of a source without referencing it is plagiarism. In turn, double counting assignments already submitted for credit in this class or other classes or working collaboratively on an assignment that should be completed alone also constitute academic dishonesty.

Policy Against Threatening Behavior

All incidents and allegations of violent or threatening conduct by an ASU student (whether on- or off campus) must be reported to the ASU Police Department (ASU PD) and the Office of the Dean of Students. If either office determines that the behavior poses or has posed a serious threat to personal safety or to the welfare of the campus, the student will not be permitted to return to campus or reside in any ASU residence hall until an appropriate threat assessment has been completed and, if necessary, conditions for return are imposed. ASU PD, the Office of the Dean of Students, and other appropriate offices will coordinate the assessment in light of the relevant circumstances.

Policy on Discrimination

Arizona State University is committed to providing an environment free of discrimination, harassment, or retaliation for the entire university community, including all students, faculty members, staff employees, and guests. ASU expressly prohibits discrimination, harassment, and retaliation by employees, students, contractors, or agents of the university based on any protected status: race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity, and genetic information.

Copyrighted Materials

A warning to students that they must refrain from uploading to any course shell, discussion board, or website used by the course instructor or other course forum material that is not the student’s original work, unless the students first comply with all applicable copyright laws; faculty members reserve the right to delete materials on the grounds of suspected copyright infringement.

Syllabus Disclaimer

The syllabus is a statement of intent and serves as an implicit agreement between the instructor and the student. Every effort will be made to avoid changing the course schedule but the possibility exists that unforeseen events will make syllabus changes necessary. Remember to check your ASU email and the course site often.

Grad Students

- Review the requirements of the Applied Project (https://canvas.asu.edu/courses/81821/assignments/2049744) and explore the American Planning Association’s Housing Needs Assessment Knowledgebase Collection (https://www.planning.org/knowledgebase/housingneeds/) after becoming a free student member of the American Planning Association (https://www.planning.org/join/students/).
Instructions

Based on your exploration of the Interactive Media in the Module 1 Learning Materials, write a one-page reflection paper on the following question: How is your access to resources and amenities affected by where you live? Do the resources and amenities that you have access to differ from people living in other kinds of neighborhoods in your region? If so, how?

Submit your reflection paper as a Microsoft Word attachment

Grading criteria

Write one paragraph or more (up to one page) responding to all of the questions. Full points will be awarded to reflections that meet these criteria. Partial or no points will be awarded to reflections that do not meet these criteria (less than one paragraph and/or fails to answer all of the questions).

- Become an expert on an Emerging Housing Issue by exploring 3-5 articles related to this issue in the associated Resource page. Note: Grads should choose the Emerging Housing Issue that they plan to write about in their Emerging Housing Issue Report.

- Consider joining the Discussion Group for your Emerging Housing Issue (linked at the top of the Resource page). Earn extra credit for your contributions to the Group up until Sunday 4/25 at 11:59pm (1 point for each contribution (e.g., post or reply), up to 10 points (the equivalent of one quiz)). Note: You are welcome to join additional groups of interest, but you will only receive extra credit points for your contributions to one group.
Module 2: Reflection - Boomerang Kids (Undergrads Only)

Instructions

Watch "Boomerang Kids", parts 1, 2, and 3:
Read "Getting to Know You, Again".

Based on evidence from the video, the Kurutz and Spivak readings, and your own experience, write a one-page reflection paper on the following:

- Why are people moving in with their parents?
- What are the pros and cons of multigenerational households?
- Is the pandemic affecting the drivers or dynamics of multigenerational households? If so, how?

Module 2: Discussion (Undergrads Only)

Which of the trends explored in the readings is most surprising to you and why? Speculate on what a long-term effect of this trend might be.

This discussion requires Group 1 students to write two posts, an original post and a reaction post. Students who are not in Group 1 will only write one post, a reaction post.

The original post should be between 300 and 500 words, have an informative, catchy title, cite at least one of the week’s readings, make an argument, and provide evidence to back up claims. The reaction post should be between 100 and 300 words and identify a strength or weakness in an original post’s argument, also providing evidence to back up claims.

Both should be written in a publicly accessible, grammatically correct way—like an editorial and a letter to the editor in the Arizona Republic (http://www.azcentral.com/arizonarepublic/opinions/). See the discussion grading criteria and the Netiquette guidelines posted in the Discussion Board in Module 0.

Original posts are worth 60 points, and reaction posts are worth 20 points. Students who receive 4 or more reactions to their original post will receive 20 points extra credit.

Due: Original posts are due by Friday at 11:59p. Reaction posts are due by Sunday at 11:59p.

UNIT 3: THE HOUSING MARKET

Learning Objectives

By the end of this module, students will be able to:

1. Identify the five aspects of housing that make it a unique commodity
2. Define what a housing market is
3. Explain basic housing supply and demand dynamics
4. Describe what housing filtering is
Module 3: Learning Materials

Look for how concepts in the Supply and Demand Dynamics lecture are reflected in media on current housing dynamics:

In The Economics of Cities and Suburbs, William Bogart argues, “The filtering model of housing suggests that the poor benefit from construction of housing for the rich. Therefore, we should subsidize the construction of housing for the rich.” Do you agree or disagree? Why or why not?

This discussion requires Group 2 students to write two posts, an original post and a reaction post. Students who are not in Group 2 will only write one post, a reaction post.

The original post should be between 300 and 500 words, have an informative, catchy title, cite at least one of the week’s readings, make an argument, and provide evidence to back up claims. The reaction post should be between 100 and 300 words and identify a strength or weakness in an original post’s argument, also providing evidence to back up claims.

Module 4: Overview

Learning Objectives

By the end of this module, students will be able to:

1. Explain methods to measure housing segregation
2. Describe current trends in housing segregation
3. Identify the causes of housing segregation
4. Summarize the positive and negative consequences of segregation
5. Consider the appropriate role that urban planners should play in remedying segregation

Module 5: Discussion (Undergrads Only)

Discussion Prompt

Housing planning has increasingly focused on dispersing poor people into higher income neighborhoods rather than investing in the communities where they currently live. Do you agree with this strategy? Why or why not?

This discussion requires Group 4 students to write two posts, an original post and a reaction post. Students who are not in Group 4 will only write one post, a reaction post.

The original post should be between 300 and 500 words, have an informative, catchy title, cite at least one of the week’s readings, make an argument, and provide evidence to back up claims. The reaction post should be between 100 and 300 words and identify a strength or weakness in an original post’s argument, also providing evidence to back up claims.

Both should be written in a publicly accessible, grammatically correct way—like an editorial and a letter to the editor in the Arizona Republic (http://www.azcentral.com/arizonarepublic/opinions/). See the discussion grading criteria and the Netiquette guidelines posted in the Discussion Board in Module 0.

Original posts are worth 60 points, and reaction posts are worth 20 points. Students who receive 4 or more reactions to their original post will receive 20 points extra credit.

Is the federal government’s deep support for homeownership justified in light of the benefits that are produced? Why or why not?

This discussion requires Group 5 students to write two posts, an original post and a reaction post. Students who are not in Group 5 will only write one post, a reaction post.

The original post should be between 300 and 500 words, have an informative, catchy title, cite at least one of the week’s readings, make an argument, and provide evidence to back up claims. The reaction post should be between 100 and 300 words and identify a strength or weakness in an original post’s argument, also providing evidence to back up claims.

Both should be written in a publicly accessible, grammatically correct way—like an editorial and a letter to the editor in the Arizona Republic (http://www.azcentral.com/arizonarepublic/opinions/). See the discussion grading criteria and the Netiquette guidelines posted in the Discussion Board in Module 0.

Original posts are worth 60 points, and reaction posts are worth 20 points. Students who receive 4 or more reactions to their original post will receive 20 points extra credit.

Due: Original posts are due by Friday at 11:59p. Reaction posts are due by Sunday at 11:59p.

Homes and Hands - The Success Story of CLTs throughout ...

Write a one-page reflection paper on the following questions:

- What is a community land trust?
- How does this strategy make homeownership more sustainable?
- What are the challenges to scaling up this strategy?
- Would you live in a community land trust? Why or why not?
Submit your reflection paper as a Microsoft Word attachment

Check out Newtown CDC's Community Land Trust program [(https://newtowncdc.org/what-we-do/community-land-trust.html)] if you have interest in land trusts in Arizona.

Grading criteria

Write one paragraph or more (up to one page) responding to all of the questions. Full points will be awarded to reflections that meet these criteria. Partial or no points will be awarded to reflections that do not meet these criteria (less than one paragraph and fails to answer all of the questions).
