Commission on the Status of Women

About the Commission

The Commission on the Status of Women was created by the ASU President in 1991 to monitor the advancement of women in Arizona's university in three major areas: equity, career development and climate. Since its inception, the Commission has coordinated a number of important programs and opportunities that have helped to increase the status of women at ASU. A New CSW Website Coming Soon

A new CSW website is currently under construction and will be launched soon. The new website will feature lots of resources and updates on special programming!

CSW Outstanding Achievement & Contribution Awards Program: Nominations Due March 27th

The mission of the ASU CSW is to identify, advocate for, and increase awareness of needed change in the university in order to enhance opportunities for women and underrepresented groups. Each year the Commission honors those individuals, groups, or teams whose efforts most exemplify the mission of the CSW. Over the years, the CSW has honored a long list of individuals for contributions such as program development, volunteerism, activism, mentorship, and research among many others. The CSW is currently accepting nominations for the 2017 CSW Award. Nominations are due to the CSW office by March 27th. For complete nomination information, please download the CSW Award Nomination Form. Questions about the program, please contact Karen Engler-Weber, CSW Program Director.
