

LGBT Certificate and LGBTQA Courses

Certificates and Courses

ASU offers academic studies that focus on the experiences, history, culture, and contemporary issues related to LGBTQIA people. The undergraduate and graduate LGBT certificate program examines theoretical concepts of diversity and participatory democracy as well as advance social knowledge about issues related to LGBTQA communities.

The certificate requires 15 credit hours; a minimum of 12 must be upper division. The two required courses include Introduction to Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual and Transgender Studies and the capstone experience. The remaining nine hours are electives from an approved list, located in the ASU Catalog.
