

Home / INSPIRE

Inspire is a free, 7-day residential, college readiness program for American Indian students from tribal nations in Arizona.

The program runs June 18 – 24, 2017 at Arizona State University. It's open to students entering grades 10-12 in fall 2017.

Youth who participate in Inspire will:

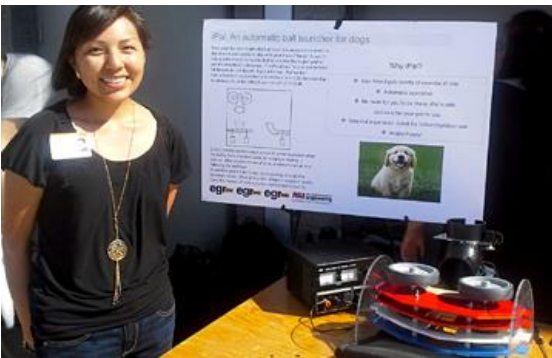

- experience campus life by staying in a residence hall
- integrate reading, writing, and science skills through culturally-relevant, project-based learning
- develop academic and personal success behaviors
- learn about majors and careers
- connect with ASU American Indian students, staff, and faculty
- get familiar with student support services at ASU
- share their work with peers and families at the Closing Showcase; and
- meet new friends and have fun!

The application deadline for the 2017 Inspire summer program is April 1, 2017.

APPLY HERE!

Questions? Please email: jerome.clark@asu.edu or call (480) 965-2357.

Inspire is sponsored by a grant from the Tohono O'odham Nation to ASU's University College and Office of American Indian Initiatives with support from Access ASU.

ASU[®] University College

Arizona State University

University College

Contact Us

Contribute

Academics

Connect

Impact

People

ASU is #1 in the U.S. for Innovation

Copyright & Trademark

Accessibility

Privacy

Jobs

Emergency

Contact ASU