Semester-long ASU interns for community partners

ASU University Service-Learning (USL) students, eager to serve the community, could be placed at your organization or school at no cost to you. Students enrolled in USL courses provide 70-100 hours of direct service in area schools, nonprofit or government agencies, and community outreach programs.

USL students come from all majors and levels and seek a wide-variety of service experiences. Even if you already have had ASU students placed with you, partnering with USL provides another rich source of motivated interns.
