

Co-op

Get Involved

Community Solutions Co-op

United by our desire to develop public service solutions of, by and for our communities the Co-op (community outcomes and opportunity in public service) brings together academic and engagement activities college-wide. Membership in the Co-op exemplifies a shared commitment among faculty, staff, students and community partners to find collaborative solutions to challenges in our community.

Beginning in fall 2016, all new undergraduate students will have a solutions-based learning class requirement that immerses them in the community and challenges them to think critically about public service within the context of their chosen field.

Students create a community impact statement identifying a social issue that serves as a focus for future coursework. Through a variety of experiences—coursework, internships, service learning, undergraduate research, study abroad, community impact labs—students are not only workforce-ready when they graduate, they are affecting change in our community from day one of their college experience.

SERVECON

Activities

Impact labs

Transforming communities

Partner with us

Contact Us

Give now

Schools

Community Resources and Development

Criminology and Criminal Justice

Public Affairs

Social Work

Resources

Parents and family

Connect, the site for students

Alumni

Faculty and staff

Current students

Community engagement

Transforming communities

Internships and mentors

Action, Advocacy & Arts

University opportunities

Pastor Center

Spirit of Service Scholars

Public Service Academy

MCLEAPS internships

Changemaker @ ASU

Nina Scholars

ASU is #1 in the U.S. for Innovation

