Communications

- This is the first time, our indirect measures of both graduating seniors and alumni have pushed us over the 75 percentile
- A review of ENG 302 will be conducted in conjunction with the UGC this year in an effort to increase the writing ability of our students.
- Some improvements that are currently recommended are:
 - Sharing results with faculty to encourage more writing
 - New capstone course
 - Encourage faculty to include more writing
 - Create a writing rubric commonly used across the business school.

REY

Critical Thinking

- Results historically have been very strong for both our BA and BS programs.
- Both Alumni and Graduate results are strong. We suspect that this is an area where it would be difficult to get people to admit they were deficient in critical thinking.
- Currently no programs are recommending changes. It seems like this is an area where we could raise the bar. We probably need to challenge ourselves more.

Discipline Specific Knowledge

- Results historically have been very strong for both our BA and BS programs.
- BA survey data shows a few "needs improvement" results for exit survey questions on "acquiring job or work-related knowledge and skills"
- We have work to do to insure our alumni score WPC higher in DSK. We also need to be careful about reading too much into the results because of the low sample sizes for some programs.
- It is suggested that we increase engagement with corporate partners.

Ethics

- Students are consistently strong in understanding behavioral ethics and spotting ethical issues and theories presented in the text.
- Note: curricular improvements in 2013 (fall and spring) led to an increase in performance of solving ethical dilemmas, but we can still use additional emphasis in solving ethical dilemmas.

Global Awareness

- In 2013-2014, we expanded our International Elective course offerings to include (ECN 306, MGT 302, MKT 425, and SCM 463). All students are required to take one of these courses.
- To reflect the discipline specific nature, the learning objective was revised to "Students are knowledgeable of discipline specific global issues and perspectives".
- Students demonstrated proficiency in global awareness in each of the elective courses except management.
- We recommend that we move towards a more unified and detailed rubric, which would allow us to compare, contrast, and improve.

Closing the Loop

Process

Revise assessment instruments and rubrics as answers are becoming available

Conduct annual reviews of cases and rubrics

Deploy four weeks prior to end of the semester to avoid end of semester load for students and faculty

Creation of a departmental committee focused on streamlining assessment to make it as effective as possible.

Most departments have an undergraduate curriculum committee, and this committee could be used as the AOL committee.

Ensure students are aware of learning outcomes in lower division courses

Curriculum

Early identification of struggling students

Work on scaling up curriculum to work with larger class sizes Systematize and formalize the Rubrics for communication, critical thinking, ethics, and global leadership.

Action Items

- Please work with your program to ensure that your assessment will be launched in key courses this spring.
- Think about how your department can improve writing skills within your curriculum.
- Changing of major maps for Global Politics and Statistics.
- Curriculum Maps are needed for both BA / BS Programs
- Gathering rubric level data
